[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Prosperity is growing in the land, according to the latest report issued today of that usually conservative agency, the federal reserve board.

Fears of the populace inspired by the downward antics of the stock market, which through many past years has been generally regarded as an index of economic well being in the nation, may be quieted by the report. President Roosevelt has sought to put aside as outworn and unreliable the idea that the stock market's plunges should chill men's spines, and the federal reserve board, in today's report, ignored the stock market.

But it did find employment on the increase, taking a big jump in June. It found industrial pay rolls in a marked rise, although still quite low. It found production zooming to within 10 per cent of the good old normal days of '23 to '25.

Reports Steady Move Upward.

The important thing, in reviewing the report, is that it reflected a continued steady movement toward more prosperous days, thus giving the boot to the stock market scare, and seeming to give proof that the dip in security prices was, as President Roosevelt indicated, an elimination of "speculative froth."

Some direct signs of encouragement in the financial situation were also noted in the report, which revealed that 90 million dollars in currency had been returned from hoarding in five weeks ending July 19. The new banking act, which prohibits the payment of interest on demand deposits, resulted, in four weeks, in withdrawal of 300 million dollars in bankers' balances from banks in New York City. It was reasoned that most of this money, returned now to the banks over the country, will be made available for purposes of expanding commercial credit.

The report disclosed that industrial production has increased to a point where in June it had reached 89 per cent of that of 1923-'25, the period used by the board's statisticians as a basis of reckoning. This 89 per cent figure compares with 77 per cent in May and 59 per cent in June, 1932.

Construction Contracts Gain.

Construction contracts show a perceptible gain, being in June 19 per cent of the 1923-'25 average, as compared with 16 per cent in May and 27 per cent a year ago.

Factory employment in June had reached the optimistic rate of 64.8, as compared with 60.6 in the preceding month and 60 per cent in June, 1932.

Pay rolls in industry took a fairly sharp rise, the report showed; it reached 45.9 per cent in June, as against 42 per cent in May, and 42.6 a year ago.

Freight car loadings, one of the most reliable indices of good or bad times, were up to 60 per cent of the 1923-'25 level, a four point rise over May and an eight point rise over June, 1932.

Because production is rising so much faster than employment and

SEVEN ARMY FLYERS KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Hundreds See Craft Plunge to Earth.

Oceanside, Cal., July 25.—(AP)—Seven men were killed today in the wreck of a giant twin motor army bomber, which lost a wing in mid-air and careened downward from 1,000 feet into a hollow at the Oceanside city limits.

Those killed were:

Lieut. Carl A. Murray, attached to the 17th group headquarters, March field, Riverside, who was at the controls.

Sergt. Archie W. Snodgrass, San Antonio, Tex.

Sergt. Bonnell L. Herrick, Warsaw, Ind.

Private Walter T. Taylor, Los Angeles.

Private Stanley Book, Detroit.

Private Albert Overend, Coronado, Cal.

Private Vincent Galdin, Grand Rapids, Mich.

The plane, an amphibian, was bound from March field to Rockwell field, San Diego, on a service mission, and appeared over Oceanside at noon. It flew smoothly until it reached the southeastern city limits.

Eyewitness' Story.

Mrs. N. W. Glasco, near whose house the crash occurred, said her attention was attracted to the plane by a loud report when it was overhead.

"I thought they were starting bombing practice and was frightened because they were so close," she said. "I went outside and looked up. I saw what appeared to be small particles and smoke coming from the rear of the plane. I could see they were in difficulty. They seemed to be coming down, looking for a place to land.

"I heard a rasping noise and the right wing tore away and went soaring off by itself. The main body of the plane floated for an instant and then fell."

Hundreds of other Oceanside residents saw the accident.

Army officers, who came from March field to investigate the crash, said they believed the wing broke in such a way as to block the hatch and imprison the victims in the falling wreckage. None was able to get free to use the parachutes.

Military Inquiry.

The wing landed half a mile from the body of the plane and a pontoon came to earth about half way between.

The motors were shut off, Mrs. Glasco said, about the time the wing broke off. There was no fire in the wreckage, although it and the bodies were drenched with gasoline.

The bodies were extracted from the wreckage at the direction of Deputy Coroner Si Hebert and were taken to San Diego, where a military inquiry will be conducted.

Forced Down with 17 Aboard.

Edgewood Arsenal, Md., July 25.—(AP)—An eastern air transport plane, carrying 17 passengers, including Amelia Earhart Putnam, made a forced landing early tonight in a farmer's field five miles from here.

With one of the two motors dying at 1,200 feet, Pilot E. W. Chandler made a perfect landing. None was hurt.

The passengers were brought here in a bus. A half hour later another air liner arrived and carried them to their destinations in Washington and Richmond.

Mrs. Putnam, only woman to fly the Atlantic alone, was on her way to Washington.

TRIO SANDPAPER FINGERS TO FOIL IDENTIFICATION

Police came upon a new difficulty in their war on crime yesterday when they learned that the three men—one of whom was slain—who robbed a bank in Kendall county on Saturday, had sandpapered their fingertips in an obvious attempt to foil identification in case of arrest or death.

As a result of this new criminal defense, only one of the men, the dead one, has been positively identified. He was identified last night as Guy Ellis, 30 years old, 7929 Escanaba avenue, a reformatory graduate, by his wife, Ethel, from whom he separated eight months ago.

Ellis was shot to death Sunday by a sheriff's posse. His two companions, in custody of Kendall county authorities, identify themselves as John Jed and Halbert Sonenschein, but police doubt these are their right names. Although their finger tips are smooth, Chicago experts took prints in the hope that they might be able to bring out some identification marks.

Widow Guilty of Murder: 14 Years in Prison

Mrs. Vera Carl, the woman in the so-called fortune teller murder case, was found guilty by a jury last night before Judge Rudolph F. Desort of taking part in the plot which resulted in the slaying of her husband, George Carl, a year ago.

The jury deliberated three hours and fixed her punishment at fourteen years in prison—the minimum for murder. Her brother, Ivan Grilec, and her sweetheart, John Milosic, also in the plot, were tried ten days ago and sentenced to life terms.

The 37 year old widow, who claimed to have received a prophecy of her husband's fate two weeks before he was shot to death, seemed also to have divined the jury's action. She was weeping when her lawyer, Samuel Hoffman, escorted her to the defense table to hear the verdict. When the penalty was announced she fainted.

Son, 9, Weeps at Verdict.

Her 9 year old son, Doran, whose chance remark to a police lieutenant first betrayed the possibility of his mother's guilt, cried in sympathy with her. Scores of women neighbors, who packed the court throughout the trial, heard the result in a silence that showed their disapproval of the verdict.

On the evening of July 16, 1932, Mrs. Carl and the boy had returned from a visit to her mother to find her husband lying dead in the kitchen behind his grocery at 2511 South Crawford avenue. The till was open and coins were scattered on the floor.

Mrs. Carl called first for a doctor, then for the police. Lieut. Herbert Burns was about ready to pronounce it murder by robbers when he noticed that Carl had been shot twice, once on each side of the head. Then young Doran recalled that a fortune teller had predicted his father's death.

Tells of Mother's Words.

"Where did you hear this, son?" Burns demanded.

"I heard my mother tell my father," said the boy. "She told him she would be a widow in a little while. That was two weeks ago."

Lieut. Burns decided to find out about Carl's insurance. He discovered that the widow's brother, a former insurance agent, had written a $5,000 policy on his brother-in-law's life, and that the widow had changed it to a $7,500 policy, paying double indemnity for death by violence or accident.

At the inquest there was whispering among the neighbors, some of which the police overheard. They arrested Milosic, who despite his 50 years seemed to have a romantic interest in the widow. The coroner's jury decided that Mrs. Carl, Grilec and Milosic should be held to the grand jury. The grand jury could find no incriminating evidence, however, and Mrs. Carl was allowed to go free and collect her $15,000 insurance.

Months passed and the case had faded out of the news when two supposed friends of the dead Carl, Edward Veselka and Joseph Fess, came back from California, where they had gone before the funeral. A friend asked Veselka why he had not attended the funeral. He muttered something about asking Fess.

The police seized both and gained an admission from Veselka that Grilec had offered him $500 to kill Carl. He refused and recommended Fess. Fess confessed that he did the killing for $800.

Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty, who prosecuted Mrs. Carl, Grilec and Milosic, announced last night that he would seek an immediate trial for Fess and Veselka.

Mrs. Armour Pays Million for Loop Land

BY AL CHASE.

Representatives of two of Chicago's oldest and best known families, the Armours and the Fields, figured yesterday in Chicago's most spectacular real estate deal of recent years. The northeast corner at State and Madison, long famous as "the world's busiest corner," was purchased by Mrs. Lolita Sheldon Armour of Lake Forest, widow of J. Ogden Armour, from the estate of Lady Ethel Field Beatty, daughter of Marshall Field, for a million dollars cash. Harry H. Harper of H. H. Harper & Co. was the only real estate broker taking part in the transaction.

This small but valuable parcel of real estate, fronting only 53.2 feet on State and 150.5 on Madison, about the size of an ordinary residence lot, was one of Marshall Field's early investments. The Chicago merchant prince bought it back in 1876 for $53,390. It is now part of the site of Mandel Brothers' department store.

Pays Income of $60,000 a Year.

Mrs. Armour, who won back a lost fortune through an investment in a gasoline cracking process, bought the State and Madison corner because she considered it a good investment, according to Mr. Harper. It pays $60,000 annually in rent on her outlay of $1,000,000 and 6 per cent on one of the world's outstanding pieces of real estate is a good return, it is pointed out. That $1,000,000 also was a bargain price is shown by the fact that the land is assessed at $2,029,193.

The property was sold by the Northern Trust company, trustee under the will of Marshall Field, which settled $5,000,000 in trust fund on his daughter, Ethel. She in turn left $1,000,000 each to her English husband, Admiral David Beatty, and to her three sons. Lady Beatty died last year.

Mandel Brothers acquired control of the corner in the early nineties by purchasing for $50,000 the lease of the Joseph Weil Clothing company, who had a clothing store on the property. In 1897 the Mandels entered into a 21 year lease with Marshall Field at an average yearly rental of $44,762.

New Lease Obtained.

This lease was canceled in 1903 preparatory to building a new store and a new lease was signed calling for $50,000 annual rental for 10 years and $60,000 for 89 years.

Seldom has a real estate deal of this importance been transacted with such secrecy. Few knew who the principals were. Not even the officers of Mandel Brothers, who occupy the property, knew last night who had bought the land.

MAYOR CALLS ON POLICE TO EXTERMINATE GUNMEN

FUND IS LAUNCHED FOR FAMILIES OF SLAIN POLICEMEN

Nine Chicago policemen have been killed by the bullets of criminals since Jan. 1. Most of them were men of family and, in view of missed paydays, were in reduced circumstances.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, believing that the hazards to which these men were subjected made them worthy of the full support of the public, and in order to provide for their families, announces today that it will accept contributions for the dependents of these heroes. To this fund THE TRIBUNE contributes $1,000. Contributors should address communications to Police Hero Fund, care of THE TRIBUNE.

John G. Sevick, shot in a courtroom on Monday, was the ninth police victim. The others who have fallen in 1933 were: Maurice Marcusson, Roscoe C. Johnston, Arthur Mutter, Stanley Lutke, Oscar Brosseau, Harry Redlich, John Skopek, and Elmer Ostling.

Judge Jarecki of the County court subscribed $50 to the Police Hero fund last night after learning in an early edition of THE TRIBUNE that it had been started. "By helping their stricken families we can express in some degree our appreciation of the sacrifices of these policemen in the performance of their duties," said Judge Jarecki. "I only wish that I were able to make a larger gift."

Citizens who realize the peril encountered by policemen on duty will be glad to contribute to this fund for the families of the nine dead men.

Order Swift Justice for Accomplices of Court Slayer.

To Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney yesterday the killing of Policeman John G. Sevick on Monday in the Criminal courts building, and the killing on Saturday of Policemen John Skopek and Elmer Ostling meant war.

Together with other officials and public leaders they mobilized for action.

Robbers and gunmen of all descriptions will find they are dealing with an aroused police force as well as an aroused public, the officials said. The coöperation of the courts in the crime cleanup was promised by Chief Justice John Prystalski of the Criminal court.

Punishment for Slayer's Aids.

First, the authorities said, comes the matter of punishment for those who helped John Scheck, the 20 year old slayer of Policeman Sevick, to escape from the detention cell adjoining the courtroom of Judge Charles P. Molthrop. Scheck fled from the cell into the courtroom, engaged in a gun battle with Sevick, and killed the policeman with a revolver that had been smuggled to him in the cell. The slayer, who was wounded twice and captured after a chase through the court building, was reported recovering yesterday in the Bridewell hospital.

Investigators believe that Scheck's sister, Mary, 22 years old, slipped the pistol to him. Contrary to orders, bailiffs permitted her and other relatives and friends of the slayer to visit him in the detention cell after he had been in court on charges of robbery and murder. Scheck is under indictment for the slaying of a bank cashier during a bank holdup in Niles Center last April.

The killing of Policemen Skopek and Ostling occurred in front of 2838 Washington boulevard when they tried to question some gunmen in an automobile.

Mayor Calls for Action.

Mayor Kelly called upon the police to win the war against criminals even if they have to work twenty-four hours a day to do it.

"The police department has been doing good work, but it must do better work and more of it," Mayor Kelly said. "A shooting like that of yesterday is an appalling thing for any city.

"I visited the home of Policeman Sevick today and talked to his widow. (A check for $500 from D. F. Kelly, president of The Fair, was presented to the widow by the mayor.) It is heart-breaking to see the effects of crime—the suffering of widows and orphans.

"But from the shooting we get this view: The rats are shooting from corners now. In other days, when prohibition had dulled the public's sense of responsibility and officials were not as stern as they should have been, the criminals had an easier time keeping out of prison.

"Crime Politics Is Through."

"Now they can no longer buy their way out nor can they use political influence to keep out. The men in public office now will not allow any pressure to be brought in behalf of a criminal. So when a crook like Scheck is thrown into jail and faces trial he knows the only way he can get out is to shoot his way out. But the police are going to shoot too, and we'll ask that every prisoner get as speedy a trial as possible."

State's Attorney Courtney, who has borrowed several hundred city and state policemen for a staff to combat the better known criminals, said he plans to carry the fight to the enemy. He wants action against the criminals before they commit crimes as well as afterward.

Courtney Declares War.

"I am stirred to the bottom of my heart by the killing of a brave policeman like Sevick, as well as by the killing of Policemen Ostling and Skopek," said Mr. Courtney. "All persons responsible for taking that gun into the court detention cell and thereby enabling Scheck to commit one more murder will pay the penalty, and I don't care who they are or how high up they may be.

"When a dangerous criminal can get a pistol in a courtroom and shoot his way out, no mercy should be shown to any one connected with the crime."

"Have you talked to Sheriff Meyering today?" the prosecutor was asked.

"I have not," he said.

"Have you talked to Chief Bailiff

POLICE WIDOW COLLAPSES ON MAYOR'S VISIT

She Sobs Demand for Justice to Killers.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

The widow of John Sevick, the policeman slain by a gunman in the Criminal Court building on Monday, collapsed yesterday afternoon after Mayor Kelly called at her home at 7023½ Sheridan road. The mayor had gone to offer Mrs. Sevick sympathy and to present her with a $500 check from D. F. Kelly, merchant and civic leader, for the needs of herself and her mother.

It was several minutes before the young widow was revived. Then in her grief she cried out an appeal to the mayor.

"Can't something be done to save other members of the force from being shot down?" she sobbed. "Can't any one get to the bottom of what happened and learn who is responsible for letting a killer get a gun in court?"

Mayor Makes Promise.

"Everything will be done to avoid a repetition of this crime," replied the mayor. "We will go into it thoroughly."

As the mayor handed her the $500 check he said: "Your husband was a hero. His friends want to help you."

Mrs. Sevick at his words straightened up and suppressed her sobs.

The body of Patrolman Sevick was brought home yesterday morning and placed in the small parlor. About 1:30 his aged mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sevick, and his brothers, Joe of 4359 George street, Michael Jr., and sister, Ann, arrived. They found the widow kneeling at the coffin, repeating over and over: "You've left me alone, John, all alone. You'll never come back."

Collapses Beside Body.

Once the widow was aided to the bedroom for a few minutes' rest. She had returned to her husband's body and was again kneeling there when the mayor and his party slipped silently into the room and knelt there. Grief overwhelmed the stricken young woman again when she realized the presence of the callers and she collapsed on the floor.

Aided by the mayor, several men standing in the room carried her to her bed. A few minutes later she recovered sufficiently to talk to the mayor.

Through relatives it was learned that Mrs. Sevick is to become a mother in the winter. It was also learned that she was expecting her first child last November when she was struck by a hit and run driver. She was desperately ill in Rogers Park hospi-

Gabriel?" he was asked and the answer was the same.

Gabriel is in charge of the Criminal court bailiffs and his superior is Sheriff Meyering.

Mr. Courtney said the investigation was not ready for the grand jury yesterday. He is taking no chances, he said, of letting any one get immunity by appearing before the grand jury until after he has a complete statement concerning every one involved.

Chief Justice Prystalski said that a meeting of the Criminal court judges would be called. The chief justice was angered over the laxity which resulted in turning a courtroom into a battle ground between Scheck and Policeman Sevick, with judge, jurymen, lawyers, witnesses, defendants, and spectators endangered.

"We will never rest until proper punishment is visited upon all guilty persons," the chief justice said.

Tighten Up Court Rules.

There was a tightening up of procedure in all the criminal courts. The privilege of visiting prisoners in the rooms off the courts was a thing of the past, not even lawyers being permitted to go into the rooms where prisoners are kept while awaiting their turn before the courts.

Two more bailiffs were discharged during the day. Their removal, with the ouster on Monday of the six bailiffs attached to Judge Molthrop's court, makes a total of eight employés of Sheriff Meyering who have lost their jobs as a result of the courtroom slaying.

The two bailiffs dismissed yesterday were Jack Reilihan, who admitted that, in violation of the rules, he had taken three visitors into an elevator reserved for the use of bailiffs and prisoners, and Frank Kouba, who, although assigned to Judge Molthrop's court, was absent when the shooting occurred.

Meyering Replies to Loesch.

Sheriff Meyering said he was making an investigation to determine if others than the eight employés already discharged had violated any rules. The sheriff replied to the demand made by Frank J. Loesch, president of the Chicago crime commission, that Meyering be removed from office, either by action of the governor or by trial.

"Mr. Loesch's statement that this tragedy proves the sheriff's incompetency in selecting his aids is absurd," Meyering said. "Four of the eight men discharged were appointed by the previous sheriff and were held over by me because of their experience and efficiency. Bailiff Kavanagh [who was first overpowered by Scheck and who later fired upon Scheck] has been with the sheriff's office for ten years without a blot on his record.

"The men charged with negligence in this case had no previous record of any kind to indicate inefficiency or lack of responsibility."

No Request to Governor.

Gov. Horner said that no request had yet been made to him for the removal of Sheriff Meyering from office. If such a request were to reach him through proper channels it would be given consideration, but he would act only after an investigation of his own, the governor indicated.

Mr. Loesch suggested either that the governor take the initiative or that State's Attorney Courtney seek Meyering's indictment for malfeasance in misfeasance, conviction on either charge being punishable by removal from office.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, said his men are still seeking Scheck's mother and his sweetheart, Jeannette Haddon, who visited him in the detention cell but disappeared during the excitement caused by the shooting.

In custody are Mary Scheck, the sister accused of smuggling in the gun; Joseph Scheck, a 16 year old brother; Frank Olson, a spectator whose actions were regarded as suspicious; and John Soder, a painter foreman at the Criminal Court building who arranged the visit of Scheck's relatives to the detention cell.

Find Gun Smuggling Evidence.

Further evidence that Mary Scheck gave the gun to her killer brother was gathered last night by Assistant State's Attorney Emmett Moynihan and Sergt. Andy Barry. Joseph Scheck, the younger brother, cut off the revolver barrel to snub nose size so the weapon would fit in Mary's purse, and Mary slipped the gun to John, Prosecutor Moynihan declared.

"A prearranged signal told Scheck he was to get the gun," said Moynihan. "As he stood in court, he looked at Mary. She put a handkerchief to her face. This was the signal she had the gun. We have witnesses who say they saw her give Scheck the gun."

The part of Joseph in cutting the barrel of the gun was told by John Scheck Sr., father of the family. Police went to the Scheck home at 5040 Wellington avenue, and found the sawed off part.

U. S. BATTLES CRIME

Washington, D. C., July 25.—(AP)—President Roosevelt is determined to throw the full force of government behind the war on armed crime.

Aroused by the persistent run of kidnapings, he wants a super-relief force of federal agents to assist local and state authorities. Already a staff is at work in the department of justice. Millions of dollars and more men are contemplated seriously by the administration to beat down the traffic in human life.

Attorney General Cummings is working out a legislative plan to give the federal government greater power. He is ready with some details, and an early conference with the chief executive is in prospect.

Mr. Roosevelt realizes that the constitution virtually restricts police powers to the states, but he has in mind a federal force which may be called into action at the request of state and local authorities.

Joseph B. Keenan, in charge of the hurriedly formed secret detail warring on kidnaping, has adopted the policy of going after all kidnapers first on the presumption that the newly enacted federal law involving kidnapings across the state lines has been violated.

Strict federal regulation of all arms is in prospect. The administration wants particularly to wipe out the use of machine guns, a favored weapon of kidnapers and racketeers.

Spokane, Wash., Beauty Arrives to Visit Fair

Maxine Anderson, 18 years old, of Spokane, Wash., arrived at the Fair yesterday for a week's stay, as a result of winning a state-wide beauty contest in connection with the Ellenburg, Wash., rodeo. She is the granddaughter of a pioneer settler in Washington. She and her chaperone, Mrs. F. J. Greene of Spokane were entertained at the Washington exhibit in the Court of States and elsewhere on the grounds.

ITALY'S ARMADA AT SHEDIAC ON VOYAGE HOME

Hops from N. Y.; 2 Ships Land on Way.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHEDIAC, N. B., July 25.—Bound for home after a spectacular flight across the North Atlantic and a visit at A Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago, 24 seaplanes of Gen. Italo Balbo's air armada arrived here today.

Two of the seaplanes comprising the fleet were forced to alight on the route from New York. One ship came down at Rockland, Me., and the other at Milledgeville, N. B. The first ship was halted by a broken oil line. The second had engine trouble.

Crews Make Speedy Repairs.

Repairs were quickly made by the crews and several hours later both had joined the squadron here.

Gen. Balbo brought his leading plane down to the waters of Shediac bay at 2:55 p. m. [Chicago daylight saving time]. Within half an hour the other 21 ships had circled the harbor and alighted near Balbo's ship.

The fleet flew the 650 miles from New York in less than six hours.

An Overnight Stop.

Gen. Balbo has ordered an overnight stop here. Tomorrow the armada will proceed to Shoal Harbor, Newfoundland. There Italy's minister of air will decide which route to take back to Italy—the northern route by way of Iceland and Ireland or the southern course with a stop at the Azores.

The return of the Italian airmen to this small town in Canadian territory was cheered by a crowd which came from the surrounding district. Motorists flocked to Shediac all day to welcome the flyers.

Gen. Balbo chatted briefly with the welcomers and then went to the home of Dr. J. Clarence Webster on Pleasant street to spend the night. Pleasant street was renamed Balbo avenue shortly after the armada's arrival. The bearded commander cut a ribbon extending across the street for the only formal ceremony of the armada's second visit to Shediac.

Sends Message to Roosevelt.

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Gen. Italo Balbo's armada is on its way back to Italy. The first triad of seaplanes splashed through the choppy waters of Jamaica bay and began to climb at 9 a. m. [Chicago daylight saving time].

Eighteen minutes later the last of the 24 Italian planes was in the air and buzzing in lazy circles to fall into the routine "V" formation for the 650 mile flight to Shediac, N. B.

Once on their way, slipping in and out of the clouds, Gen. Balbo dispatched from the air a radio message to President Roosevelt:

"At the moment in which the Italian Atlantic air squadron leaves the skies of the United States, crossing the border of the republic, the thoughts of my men are directed, full of emotion and devoted gratitude, to the President of this great and noble country, which desired to honor us with so many and such unmistakable signs of friendship and regard."

Message for Chicago.

A few minutes later another farewell message was being sent out from the Balbo plane, this one to Mayor Kelly of Chicago. The message said:

"Never will be erased from our eyes the vision, nor removed from our hearts the remembrance of the great and hospitable metropolis of Chicago and the heartfelt demonstration of friendship which reached us on the arrival of the Italian Atlantic air squadron in the skies over the great World's Fair, which was our objective. Will you accept our heartfelt thanks, which go to all the citizens of Chicago while we are about to leave the skies of the United States."

Nip "Plot" on Italian Ships.

LISBON, Portugal, July 25.—(AP)—Police stopped the distribution of communist pamphlets today among the crews of four Italian cruisers in these waters for duty if Gen. Italo Balbo's air armada takes the southern route across the Atlantic.

The pamphlets advocated revolution against the Mussolini Fascist régime. The authorities declared there was a large scale plot to incite the sailors to rebel.

Several arrests were made and the printing establishment from which the pamphlets came was closed.

MAYOR KELLY'S REPLY.

Mayor Kelly yesterday replied to Gen. Italo Balbo's message of appreciation of Chicago's hospitality. The mayor's message said:

"Your gracious cablegram received with deep appreciation for your thoughtfulness. Chicago was most happy for the privilege of entertaining you and your gallant flyers, and your going was a matter of sincere regret to all our citizens. Your charming personality will always be kept fresh in our fondest memories. Kindly convey our profound gratitude and official greetings to your chief and your people, as well as our assurances of our highest esteem and friendship. Godspeed and success for your safe return to your homeland."

JAIL DRIVER WITH MANHOLE COVERS.

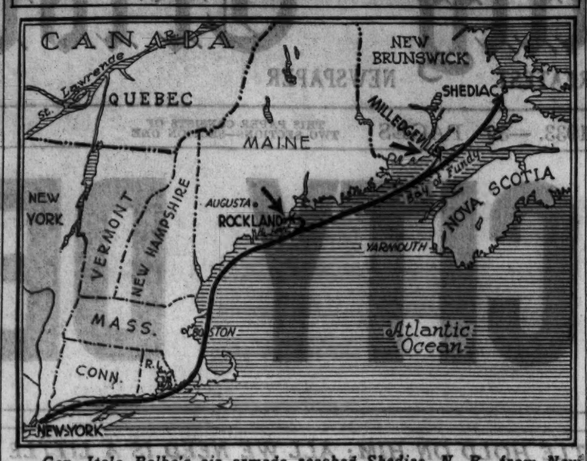

The east side police yesterday were holding Jessie Williams, 26 years old, colored, 3600 South Wabash avenue, who was arrested while driving a truck loaded with iron manhole covers. Williams refused to tell where he got the covers.

ITALIAN FLYERS ON WAY HOME

Gen. Italo Balbo's air armada reached Shediac, N. B., from New York on their flight home after a visit to the World's Fair in Chicago. Twenty-two seaplanes flew the 650 miles in less than six hours. Arrows on the map indicate the towns of Rockland, Me., and Milledgeville, N. B., where two of the 24 planes were forced to land because of a broken oil line and engine trouble. The ships joined the squadron at Shediac several hours later.

tal for three months. In addition to frustrated motherhood she suffered a spinal injury and two skull fractures. It was thought at first that she would never walk again. She regained her health only recently.

Friends called all afternoon to offer sympathy and to discuss the circumstances that would allow a policeman to be shot down in a court building with smuggled weapons. Relatives were bitter in their denunciation of the atrocity.

"You can put it as strong as you like," a sister-in-law said. "Something has to be done to protect policemen. Whoever is responsible should be punished. They've got to get to the bottom of this affair and find out who is responsible."

Funeral services for the slain policeman will be conducted this morning—on his wedding anniversary. The Sevicks would have been married five years today. They met at the Chicago Art institute where they were students when Mrs. Sevick was in her teens. In the home yesterday was noted an easel and an uncompleted painting of a young girl.

The funeral will be held at St. Jerome's church, Lunt avenue and Paulina street at 9:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Forest Home cemetery. Members of the police force are to be honorary pallbearers.

Expression of Sympathy.

A letter accompanying the $500 check, signed by D. F. Kelly, read in part: "All Chicago was horrified to read of the frightful occurrence in the Criminal Court building when Officer Sevick was killed in the performance of his duty. The best way we can express our sympathy to the widow is by contributing somewhat toward provision for herself and family."

Mrs. Sevick will receive approximately $10,000 from various sources, plus a monthly income of $125. The sum of $2,125 will come from the Policemen's Benevolent association within 60 days. The city council, according to custom, will appropriate $5,000 for herself and an additional $2,500 for the child upon its arrival. The $125 a month income from the police pension department provides also for $10 a month for a child.

SLAIN POLICEMAN PRAISED AS HERO IN FUNERAL RITES

Funeral services for Elmer Ostling, one of the two policemen killed on Saturday by gunmen whom they sought to question in front of 2838 Washington boulevard, were conducted yesterday in the chapel at 2410 North avenue. The chapel was filled with friends of the slain policeman.

The Rev. Harry Lambrecht, pastor of St. Peter's Evangelical church, who conducted the services, paid tribute to the heroism of Ostling.

"The average policeman is a heroic man willing and ready to sacrifice his life for the sake of the people it is his duty to protect," said the pastor. "Policeman Ostling was one who had to pay the price."

Burial was in Mount Olive cemetery. Ostling is survived by his widow, Mrs. Blanche Ostling, and a daughter, Corinne, 10 years old. They live at 2053 North Keeler avenue.

ONE ARRESTED IN STROOK SLAYING; TWO ARE SOUGHT

John Curtin, 27 years old, 6317 Ingleside avenue, assistant manager of a Woolworth store, was held by South Chicago police last night on his alleged admission that he was present on July 16 when Al Strook, former part owner of the Jeffery tavern, was shot and fatally wounded. Strook was shot outside the tavern at 83d street and Jeffery avenue, and died four days later.

According to Assistant State's Attorney Gordon Nash, who says Curtin confessed to him, the slaying appeared to have resulted from a brawl. Curtin, Nash said, denied any part in the killing except as an onlooker. The actual slayer, it is charged, is Charles Egan, part owner of the Lido café, 7009 Stony Island avenue. Egan and Jerry Forney, part owner of a beer garden at 6905 Stony Island avenue, are being sought.

Curtin's story, Prosecutor Nash said, is that Strook shot and slightly wounded Forney during a dispute in Egan's Lido café. Strook then fled. Egan was infuriated, Mr. Nash was told, over the shooting in his café and started out to find Strook. He took Curtin with him. The two met Strook near the Jeffery tavern and Egan, it is charged, shot him.

JOBS FOR 100,000 CREATED BY FAIR, OFFICIAL FINDS

Estimates a Spending of 75 Million in Chicago.

BY EARL MULLIN.

In the two months since its opening A Century of Progress Exposition has put approximately $100,000,000 in circulation and has created, directly or indirectly, jobs for 100,000 persons, according to estimates made yesterday by Maj. Lenox R. Lohr, general manager. Of this sum $75,000,000 has been spent in Chicago, and a great majority of the jobs created have been in the metropolitan area.

"On this estimate, which is as accurate as we can judge at present," Maj. Lohr said, "the Fair has done more to aid in the national recovery plan of President Roosevelt than any other single corporation or agency in the United States. In addition our impetus to a national pickup was started more than a year ago, antedating the national program by that length of time."

Expect 30 Million Total.

The total attendance at the Exposition is now well in excess of 6,000,000 persons, and on the strength of attendance a conservative estimate places the total attendance at 30,000,000 when the Fair closes at the end of its 5 months run on Nov. 1. If the financial ratio continue during the entire run as it did during the first two months this will mean a $500,000,000 expenditure as a result of the Fair alone. The employment figures will not increase much more, virtually all of the jobs created as a result of the Fair now being in existence and filled.

"The gross collections at the Fair, including gate receipts and mony spent at concessions," Maj. Lohr said, "now total $10,000,000. We estimate that we get only 10 per cent of the total moneys spent by all visitors, which means that $100,000,000 has been spent by the 6,000,000 visitors who have passed through our turnstiles.

"Of course, all of that money was not spent in Chicago. Some of it went for transportation, meals en route, gasoline, clothing, and other things. But, with our figures admittedly not 100 per cent accurate, we estimate that 75 per cent of that sum has been spent in Chicago hotels, shops, cafés, and other institutions. This means that for every man, woman, and child in Chicago $25 has been poured into the city."

Average $1.66 Apiece.

The average visitor to the Fair has spent $1.66 within the Fair grounds, including his admission fee, according to the figures of the controller's department. On the assumption that this is only 10 per cent of the amount spent by each visitor, it would mean that $11.66 has been spent by each person passing through the turnstiles.

An extreme instance of how the ratio varies is shown by the visit of a man from Pittsburgh, who brought his wife and daughter to Chicago for the Fair. After spending a week in Chicago the man reported to one of the high officials of the Fair, a personal friend of his, that he had spent $750 during his visit. Most of this money was spent in one morning, when his wife and daughter visited the State street stores, the visitor said. He estimated that not more than $20 was spent in the Fair.

"The average visitor doesn't spend anywhere near this amount of money," Maj. Lohr said, "but all of them spend some money, and a great many are combining the trip to the Fair with their shopping, so that it may be done in a large city."

At present the Fair directly employs 20,000 persons. An estimated 20,000 more are employed in hotels and shops in the city to care for business created by Fair visitors. The greatest increase in employment has been in hotels. One downtown hotel, which was closed a short time before the opening of the Exposition, created jobs for an entire staff to handle the guests when the hotel was reopened for the Fair. State street stores also report additions in their forces.

Rail Men Put to Work.

"This employment is a direct result of the Fair," Maj. Lohr said, "and it is impossible accurately to gauge the thousands of persons given work as an indirect result of the Fair. Railroads and other transportation agencies tell us that they have placed hundreds of men back on the pay roll to handle the Chicago traffic. The Baltimore and Ohio railroad was forced to take a large locomotive out of the Travel and Transport exhibit and substitute a smaller one, as the larger engine was needed on regular routes to handle increased traffic."

The admissions paid by the 30,000,000 people who are expected at the Fair, together with sums derived from concessions, will pay all expenses of the Fair. Any money collected over expenses will be given to public institutions, such as the Art institute, the Adler planetarium, the Shedd aquarium, Field museum and Rosenwald museum. In addition the south parks will be allocated a portion of such money as is collected above expenses.

The attendance at the Fair at 11:30 o'clock last night, when the final count was taken, was 134,240.

CENTURY OF PROGRESS NOTES

Commander Luigi Hanieri, general director of the Italian pavilion, announced yesterday that a party of leading engineers from Italy, members of the National Fascist Syndicate of Engineers, would arrive in Chicago Saturday for an inspection of the Fair. They are led by Giuseppe Atzora, president of the organization.

Names for the small outboard motor boats of the Magic Mountain fleet on Enchanted island will be selected by ballots to be sent in by children. The names may either be mailed to Miss Josephine Blackstock, Enchanted island, A Century of Progress, Chicago, or dropped in a ballot box in the children's theater. The contest will close on Aug. 11 and the winners will receive official World's Fair medals and will be given the freedom of Enchanted island the following day.

Swiss yodelers will be in the spotlight on Aug. 6, Swiss day at the Fair. Musical organizations which will participate in the program, to be held in the court of Hall of Science, include the Swiss male choir, the Swiss singing society directed by Joseph Moos, Fenner's orchestra, and a mixed choir.

The sky ride is entertaining a non-paying passenger on the average of four hours a day, it was discovered yesterday. The passenger, riding without the benefit of even a pass, is a large gray pigeon, which rides across on one car and flys around the tower to come back on the other.

The finishing touches are being put on the exhibit of the association of '93-ers" preparatory to their celebration on Aug. 11, Illinois day and Old Timers' day. A museum of 1893 household property has already been assembled in the exhibit in the general exhibits group where people who saw the Columbian Exposition may register and become members of the organization if they wish.

Witford Kane, one of the original members of the Ulster theater, will read "Green Branches" by James Stephens, as part of the Irish day program in the court of the Hall of Science next Wednesday. Robert Mahoney, former member of the Paulist choir, will sing sevral Gaelic songs.

M. S. Winder, executive secretary of the American Farm Bureau federation, announced yesterday that his organization would handle inquiries regarding hotels, transportation, and any other problems confronting farmers throughout the country who intend to visit the Fair during farmers' week, Aug. 13 to 19, inclusive. Mr. Winder gave assurance that all inquiries would be referred to reliable sources of information.

Since the lost and found bureau was opened in the General Exhibits building two months ago, 2,360 lost articles have been brought in and only 769 have been returned to their owners. Nearly 300 purses containing money have been picked up on the grounds and about 20 per cent have been claimed. More than 1,500 articles are still awaiting their owners in the bureau, according to Miss Lillian Murray, who is in charge.

Seventeen children from the Crippled Children's home in La Crosse, Wis., are seeing the Exposition in wheel chairs, under the guidance of Miss Louise Holt, physiotherapist at the institution. The townsfolk of La Crosse contributed $700, raised in a benefit ball game, in order to bring the children here for a stay of several days. They will depart tomorrow.

LINER STRIKES ROCK IN ALASKA; 100 ABOARD SAFE

Seattle, Wash., July 25.—(AP)—A wireless message received today from the steamer Northwestern of the Alaska Steamship company said the vessel had struck a rock off Sentinel island, near Juneau, Alaska, and was beached on a sandy bottom at Eagle river to await aid. The message said the 100 passengers were safe. The steamer was bound for Seattle. The liner Aleutian, which sailed from Juneau yesterday, was ordered to the scene. It is expected to bring the Northwestern's passengers to Seattle.

Fair Candy Seller Fined on Short Weight Charge

Clyde Jordan, proprietor of a candy stall at the Seminole Indian village at A Century of Progress, was fined $31.75 yesterday by Municipal Judge Cecil Smith on a short weight charge brought by Joe Grein, city sealer. Mr. Grein declared that Jordan was selling boxed candy labeled as weighing eight ounces when it weighed only two ounces.

SUPT. BOGAN WILL OUTLINE SCHOOL CHANGES TODAY

Board Is Standing Pat on Economy Plans.

The board of education continued its efforts yesterday to place the schools on a sound financial basis so that cash pay days may be resumed for 14,000 teachers and 4,000 other employés. Preliminary details of Chicago's reorganized public schools system will be furnished at the board meeting today by Supt. William J. Bogan and Don C. Rogers, director of building survey.

James B. McCahey, president of the board, announced last night that opponents of the program would be given an opportunity to speak. On the eve of the meeting the ten school trustees who voted for economy were standing pat on their decision. All developments during the day indicated that the board would put its original program into effect.

Begin Survey of Changes.

Employés in the offices of Mr. Rogers and John Christensen, school architect, were sent out yesterday to survey the elementary and junior high school for the changes outlined in the program.

In the elementary schools, where household arts and manual training were eliminated from the course of instruction, rooms formerly used for those purposes will be turned into regular classrooms to relieve congestion. The junior high schools, abolished under the board plan, will be converted into senior high schools, providing a seating capacity for thousands of students who would otherwise be housed in tin portables.

One mother, excited over the reports that the schools were to be "wrecked," came in to President McCahey's office yesterday to find out what would happen to her small son, who was ready to go to kindergarten. After talking with board employés, the woman, Mrs. Rhea Wyman of 6149 Greenwood avenue, departed a supporter of the economy program.

Abolish Assistants' Job.

Mrs. Wyman was told that not one of the kindergartens in the city would be closed, but that the job of assistant kindergarten instructor had been abolished. The regular kindergarten teachers will handle the classes, with an average pupil membership of forty, and the instruction will remain the same, it was explained.

In an investigation of the kindergartens, preliminary to the announcement of the economy program, the board found evidence to show that teachers in this branch, in order to keep up their pupil quota and retain their jobs, had reached out into various neighborhoods for children, 3 and 4 years old. Under the new plan no child under the age of 5 years can enter kindergarten and the period of instruction is limited to one year.

"Well," asserted Mrs. Wyman, "I had heard from certain people that the schools were being wrecked. I don't see why we should have to pay for two teachers in every room and I'm satisfied with the board's action."

The board of education of Chicago, it was pointed out, is not compelled by law to operate kindergartens.

Praise Board for Action.

Meanwhile, Charles B. McAtee, president of the South Town Federation of Improvement Associations, issued a statement praising the board for its courage in the stand for economy. His organization began distribution of pamphlets asking the public to get behind the board.

"Our Schools Have Been Saved," read the caption on the document.

"Do you know that James B. McCahey and his colleagues of the school board have saved you $5,000,000?

"These men were appointed by Mayor Edward J. Kelly, approved by the aldermen of Chicago without a dissenting vote, and serve in this honorary capacity without pay.

"Do you know, Mr. Taxpayer of Chicago, this school board is wisely spending your money—not squandering it; is preserving the facilities of education for your children? This is the new deal for the taxpayer and will give Chicago the best school system in the middle west."

The pamphlet set forth that delegates of taxpayers' associations in nineteen south side wards met jointly with the south town federation delegates and unanimously indorsed the economy program of the school board.

Criticizes Hutchins for Attacks.

Mr. McAtee, in his statement to the newspapers, criticized President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago, for his attacks on the school board.

"We believe that the mayor of Chicago," said Mr. McAtee, "who was chosen as such because of his record as president of the south park board, which he managed and directed, the only municipally governed body which met regularly its pay rolls and its expenses and paid all its obligations when due without outside interference, must be complimented in suggesting this school board to the city council of Chicago to carry out almost unanimously a new deal in education for Chicago."

Formation of Gold Coast Lions Club Is Announced

Formation of a new unit of Lions International on the near north side, to be known as the Gold Coast Lions club, was announced yesterday by M. King Gillette, international commissioner of the clubs. The club will meet every Wednesday noon at the Medinah Michigan Avenue club. Officers are G. Curtis Bird, president; Palmer Holmes, first vice president; Dr. George Perusse Jr., second vice president; Edward A. Pool, third vice president; Edward Leonard, secretary, and Ralph Hallowell, treasurer.

Filling Station Bandit Is Captured by Police

Ben Stone, 25 years old, charged with taking $20 in the holdup of a gasoline filling station at Paulina street and Warren boulevard, was held at the detective bureau yesterday. Stone was slightly wounded by Sergt. Frank Freemuth and his squad after a chase which ended at Milwaukee and Damen avenues, where he was captured.

Tries Trial Separation from Husband

"To Save Marriage"

Hollywood, Cal., July 25.—(AP)—Gloria Stuart, screen actress, and Blair Gordon Newell, her sculptor husband, disclosed today they are beginning a trial separation in an effort to save their marriage, which took place five years ago.

The couple said conflicting careers have created incompatibility. Miss Stuart, who has played 17 featured leads in the last 19 months, said she has been at the studio every day and frequently late at night.

"We haven't had much time together," said the actress. "It has created disputes, so I'm taking a smaller place to live alone. We'll continue to see each other, and, in the end, we hope to resume life together."

MURDER DEPUTY, PRISONER, TOO; WOUND GUARD

Gangsters Halt Trip to Prison.

Charleston, W. Va., July 25.—[Special.]—The sentence of twenty-five years in prison given to Homer Harper, 19, when he pleaded guilty to robbery here today was in reality a death penalty.

For as Harper, in custody of two deputy sheriffs, was being taken in an automobile to the state prison at Moundsville a car filled with gunmen overtook the trio on the Charleston-Ripley road. After killing one of the deputies and wounding the other the gang kidnaped the prisoner.

His body, with his hands cuffed together, was found two hours later in an alley near his father's home in Huntington, 75 miles from the scene of the sensational abduction.

Roy L. Shamblin was the deputy sheriff who lost his life in trying to fight the gunmen. G. L. Dudley was the one wounded.

Attacked Near City.

The prisoner and his guards had left the Charleston city limits only a mile behind when the attackers caught up with them. Dudley, at the wheel, was driving at a high rate of speed. The gunmen, apparently fearing he could not otherwise be forced to halt, opened fire from the rear. Dudley tried to escape by driving faster, but a bullet clipped his right forearm and his car crashed into a guard rail.

One man in the gun gang's auto remained at the wheel, but the other three ran over and fired several times into the rear seat of the deputies' car, where sat Deputies Shamblin and Harper. Shamblin had just drawn his own pistol and was attempting to shoot when he was struck in the head. Dudley was unable to get his weapon into action.

Forced out and disarmed, Dudley was roughly tossed down a steep bank beside the road. Then one of the assailants, reaching into the car, seized Harper, who was already wounded, and dragged him across the body of Shamblin.

Gangsters Kidnap Prisoner.

Another of the gang went to his assistance and together they carried the prisoner to their vehicle.

When they had sped away the wounded Dudley drove back to Charleston rapidly and sounded an alarm. All available deputy sheriffs and state policemen were called to duty and put on a search for the killers. Two of the four reached Huntington. They were seen by two policemen as they leaped out of the car in which the bullet riddled body of young Harper was found.

There was a possibility that the kidnapers had attempted to rescue Harper and shot him accidentally. The authorities are postive, however, that their object was to render more exact justice, from their viewpoint, or perhaps silence him to prevent disclosures.

CHACO FOES DROP LEAGUE'S BOARD AS PEACEMAKER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, July 25.—The Brazilian government was informed today that the governments of Bolivia and Paraguay have accepted the proposals to place back in the hands of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, and Peru negotiations looking toward a settlement of the Gran Chaco conflict. Bolivia and Paraguay have asked the league of nations to withdraw its commission, appointed to settle the conflict, in order that the new South American mediators may take up their work.

League Is Stunned.

GENEVA, July 25.—(AP)—Consternation was expressed in league of nations circles today that the entire dispute between Paraguay and Bolivia over the Gran Chaco territory has been turned over to Argentina, Brazil, Chile, and Peru for settlement. A league commission to handle the dispute has been appointed and two of the members are now en route to South America.

Enrique Finot and Costa Durels of the Bolivian delegation said the four nations had offered to act as mediators and that Bolivia had accepted in principle. They added that in view of a deadlock at Geneva and Paraguay's refusal to negotiate the territorial question before an armistice is declared, it seemed a waste of effort for the league to dispatch a commission to the Gran Chaco.

2,200 PROTEST SCHOOL CUT AT MASSMEETINGS

Ask Board to Rescind Action or Resign.

Two massmeetings protesting the board of education's school economy plan were held last night, one on the southwest side and the other on the northwest side. About 2,200 men and women attended the two meetings. Resolutions were adopted at both gatherings protesting the cut, and one, passed by acclamation at the southwest side meeting, demanded the school board rescind its retrenchment order or resign.

The southwest side meeting was held at Gage park fieldhouse, 55th street and Western avenue. Mrs. Herbert H. Siddall, 1119 West 103d place, district director of the Parent-Teacher association, presided. About 500 persons were present. Among the speakers were Dr. Nelson B. Henry of the University of Chicago, Mrs. T. B. Stephenson, state P. T. A. advisor on high schools; the Rev. Clinton C. Cox, pastor of the Drexel Park Presbyterian church; William Grimley, a student at Crane Junior college, and Mrs. Howard C. Johnson, state secretary of the Illinois P. T. A.

Urged to Attend Meeting.

Mrs. Siddall urged all present to attend this afternoon's meeting of the school board. She said 130 district presidents of the P. T. A. would meet between 9:30 and noon at 201 South State street to discuss the school situation.

At the northwest side meeting about 1,700 men and women gathered on the grounds of the Edwin G. Foreman Junior High school, Leclaire and Belmont avenues. Armand Fish presided. Speakers included Mrs. F. W. Fox, president of the Kelvyn Park Junior High school P. T. A.; Charles B. Stillman, a taxpayer; Robert Bremner, past president of the Foreman P. T. A.; Jack Leyden, John J. Butler, president of the Portage Park commissioners; Miss Ethel Eagle, and Charles B. Falkenberg, president of the Logan Square Kiwanis club.

230,000 Sign Petition.

The save our schools committee, which is protesting against the $5,000,000 economy program announced last evening that 230,000 citizens had signed petitions asking the board to rescind its action. The petitions were pouring in by the thousands at the headquarters of the committee, 185 North Wabash avenue, and leaders said they expected to have upwards of 300,000 signatures for presentation to the school board at its meeting today.

President James B. McCahey of the board of education was asked by the S. O. S. committee to permit five speakers to appear before the board and present their arguments against the slashes. The request was made in a telegram sent by Mrs. Holland Flagler, chairman of the committee and president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers.

At school board headquarters it was announced that foes of the economy program would be given a hearing at the close of the regular board meeting today. When the business session is over the trustees will resolve themselves into a general committee for an open session, it was said.

Speakers Are Chosen.

The speakers selected to present the arguments of the S. O. S. committee are Mrs. Flagler, Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde, Illinois League of Women Voters; John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; Prof. A. R. Hatton, economics department, Northwestern university, and William Holley, representing the City club of Chicago.

The petitions, asking the school board to "rescind immediately your hasty action of July 12, 1933, by which educational opportunities of our children were ordered eliminated or curtailed without public notice or a public hearing," were being circulated throughout the city by 200 parent teacher organizations and hundreds of school teachers.

The action of the school board in adopting the economy program without a public hearing was attacked by Miss Agnes Clohesy, president of the elementary teachers' union, who said it violated the Illinois statutes.

Several protests were received by the school board yesterday in anticipation of its meeting this afternoon. One was a resolution adopted by the Southeast council of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, with a membership of 5,500. It asked the board to rescind its action.

The executive board of the junior auxiliary of Beverly Hills women's clubs addressed a communication to the board "protesting most strenuously" against the closing of Crane Junior college, the junior high schools, and the abolition of 1,400 teachers' jobs.

Other protests came from the Central Officials' association, an organization formed to promote sports in the schools, which objected particularly to the curtailment of physical education activities, and from the bath attendants' committee of the Building Service Employés' international union, which objects to the elimination of bathroom service in the schools.

ENGINEERS FOR BREWERIES VOTE TO STRIKE TODAY

Members of Local 399 of the Operating Engineers' union, who are employed in Chicago breweries, voted yesterday to go on strike at noon today unless the brewers yield to the union demand for an increase in hourly wages and a five day week.

Union members now get $1.07½ an hour for a 48 hour, six day week. They are asking for $1.25 an hour and a 40 hour week. The five day week would increase the number of engineers employed by breweries from 150 to 200, Richard Wren, president of the union, said.

"A year ago," said Wren, "we took a reduction from $1.16½ to $1.07½ an hour, with the understanding that when beer came back we would get the same rate paid in other industries. When the brewers were out on a limb, we gave them a break. Now the situation is changed. They've come up, and they won't give us a break. A strike will cause a complete shutdown of the breweries."

Negotiations between the union and the wage scale committee of the Chicago Brewers Protective association have been going on for two months. The brewers, according to Wren, have asked that the new wage scale agreement be delayed until the brewing industry's trade code is approved.

Lightning Kills Workman Digging Grave in Cemetery

Philadelphia, Pa., July 25.—(AP)—Oscar Brown, 47, was killed by lightning today while digging a grave in an Ardmore cemetery.

HUNGARIAN PREMIER IN ROME; LAY PLANS FOR DANUBIAN PACT

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

ROME, July 25.—Premier Goemboes of Hungary arrived here today for a stay of three days, during which he will confer with Premier Mussolini and other leading Italian statesmen. He is accompanied by Foreign Minister Kanyu and four political and economic experts.

Goemboes' arrival follows soon after the visit to Rome of Chancellor Dollfuss of Austria. It is believed a meeting will be arranged soon between Mussolini and Foreign Minister Titulescu of Rumania, who is now in Venice. Titulescu will speak for the little entente.

All this diplomatic activity is considered to be preparatory to negotiations for the conclusion of an international political and economic agreement, which is variously referred to as the central European pact, Danubian pact and Adriatic pact. This pact, which, according to present intentions will be signed by Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, Hungary, Austria and Italy, is designed to lay the foundations for economic coöperation between central Europe and Italy, paving the way for recovery of the Danubian states. Though France is not directly a party to the proposed pact, she is understood to have given her consent.

BOMBER KING'S COUSIN HELD ON U. S. CHARGE

Rocco Belcastro, 24 years old, 2600 North Kedzie avenue, cousin of James (King of the Bombers) Belcastro, and three other men will be arraigned this morning before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on charges of robbing interstate truck shipments.

The others are Orlando Fuselolo, 24 years old, also of the Kedzie avenue address; Charles Pape, 36, of 709 North Crawford avenue, and Hyman Kadetsky, 40, 550 East 43d street. They were arrested recently by Lieut. James Kerr of the police cartage detail.

A witness this morning will be Mrs. Rose Atkin, owner of a restaurant at 1210 South Jefferson street, whose husband, Jacob, was slain last February by their 16 year old son, Harold.

HUGE AUTO SHOW IN GRANT PARK FESTIVAL WEEK

Tribune Sponsors 2 Day Open Air Event.

The Chicagoland Festival week, which will begin on Aug. 13 with impressive religious services at Soldiers' field, and will end on the night of Aug. 19 with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S annual musical festival, also at that field, will have a spectacular and unique event as a principal feature of its diversified program.

This will be the world's first major outdoor automobile show. It will be staged Friday and Saturday, Aug. 18 and 19, in Grant park, just off Michigan avenue, from the Art institute to Roosevelt road. It will be under the auspices of THE TRIBUNE.

Thus, for the first time in modern history, a show which, indoors, ordinarily has been open to scores of thousands at the most, will be available to hundreds of thousands, including the multitudes of World's Fair visitors. All of Chicago's automobile men are backing the show, and behind them are the national leaders and manufacturers in the automotive industry.

Show Committee Selected.

Plans for this outdoor automobile show are nearing completion in the hands of a committee which was appointed yesterday by Lafayette Markle, president of the Chicago Automobile Trade association. He selected as chairman of the committee H. A. Wehmeier, Pontiac dealer, and vice president of the Community Motors company, 235 West 33d street.

Other members of the committee are: H. A. Trevellyan, zone manager for Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac; L. F. Johnston, representative for Chrysler and Plymouth; Charles E. Gambill, Hupmobile and Chevrolet; W. E. Butler, Hudson and Essex; James Van Etta, Lincoln and Ford; M. J. Lanahan, Dodge; R. A. Tiffany, Cadillac and La Salle; G. H. Bird, Graham, and W. R. Bellows, Packard.

"Aug. 18 and 19 will be days to be remembered," said Chairman Wehmeier last night. "We expect to put on not only the first major outdoor automobile show ever held, but the best ever held. The displays will be up to date, lively, different, just as the entire setting will be different. The automobile world is back of this show 100 per cent, and is going to give a 100 per cent plus show."

Center at Van Buren Street.

The center of the outdoor exhibition will be the Y shaped entrance to Grant park at Van Buren street, from which a line of shiny, new automobiles of every type will extend north to the Art institute. Another line will stretch south to Roosevelt road.

Cars will be placed at regular intervals along this long stretch, just off the Michigan avenue sidewalk. They will be in plain view of pedestrians, motorists, office workers, and hotel residents.

Gay decorations will add color to the scene, the automobile committee having agreed that the whole panorama is to take on the gayety and color of a carnival, because it will be a carnival of cars. Adequate provision has been made for the night displays, for which there will be brilliant electrical illumination.

Chance for Comparison.

"It is fitting that an automobile show should be held outdoors," said Mr. Wehmeier. "After all, the natural place for an automobile is outdoors. Here, they'll be seen outdoors, in the daylight and at night. Here the new models may be compared at a glance with old styles which will be observed traveling in the avenue."

The various side displays and exhibitions usually seen at indoor shows will be put on at the outdoor exhibition, Mr. Wehmeier said. Present plans, he added, indicate that the festival week show will follow the pattern of the indoor displays but will be larger in scope and purpose, and will have the added attraction of the carnival background.

Discussing the outdoor show, automobile leaders said yesterday they were glad to participate, and for many reasons. One of these reasons is that the entire Chicagoland Festival week is a contribution by Chicago to A Century of Progress and in this way they can, they said, give added coöperation to the Fair.

Leadership of Auto Industry.

They pointed out also that the motor industry is America's leading business and now is leading the way out of the depression. One man out of ten now working is employed directly or indirectly by the automotive industry, they said. They cited figures to show that June this year had been the peak month for auto sales instead of April and May, which are usually the peak months, and that 35 per cent of local automobile purchases are for cash.

As an indication of how fully the automobile world will participate in the show, the following cars [and others] will be displayed: Auburn, Cord, Deusenburg, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Cadillac, La Salle, Buick, Chrysler, Dodge, Plymouth, De Soto, Packard, Hudson, Essex, Hupmobile, Reo, Nash, Studebaker, Pierce Arrow, Lincoln, Ford, Franklin, Stutz, Rockne, Continental, Graham, Marmon, Rolls Royce, and Willys.

This outdoor automobile show will be free. But that's not all. The whole week will be spectacular. It will open with Church day. Then there will be Women's day, and State Street day, sponsored by the State Street council. There will be a Fort Dearborn day, a Great Lakes day, a Community day, and a Music day, and this day will wind up, spectacularly, with THE TRIBUNE'S annual Chicagoland Music festival in Soldiers' field.

Indian Baby Is First Born at World's Fair

The first Century of Progress Exposition baby arrived at the Fair grounds last night. A baby girl was born to an Oglala Sioux couple who are at the Days of '49 concession. The parents of the baby are Good Land, the father, and Owns the Horse, mother, from the reservation of Porcupine, S. D. Dr. Frank Baylor of the Fair hospital was called, but arrived too late to do anything but give the mother and child his blessing.

CHICAGO TRADE LEADERS BACK RECOVERY DRIVE

Cut Hours, Raise Pay to Fit Roosevelt Plan.

Various business leaders in Chicago yesterday announced their intentions of coöperating fully with President Roosevelt in his plan for national industrial recovery through the establishment of minimum wage scales and maximum working hours. Several concerns have already formulated their individual codes.

Philip K. Wrigley, president of the Wrigley Chewing Gum company, announced last Monday the company put into effect a maximum of 35 working hours a week for factory employés and 40 hours a week for office employés.

"We raised all wages in February," Mr. Wrigley said, "so it was not necessary to make wholesale increases again. However, some office employés had been below the minimum of $15 a week, so we rectified this condition on Monday by raising their wages to that level."

Mr. Wrigley said that these changes were made in advance of whatever code might be established by the chewing gum manufacturers at their association meeting.

Coal Company Boosts Wages.

C. J. O'Laughlin, vice president of the Consumers company, announced a forthcoming increase in wages to conform to the minimum.

"The minimum in our plant has been 40 cents an hour," he said, "and we plan to increase that to about 47 cents an hour. We will also adopt the 40 hour working week. These changes will be made, of course, barring all union agreements. With these changes we anticipate a rise in the price of coal. We have already sent in our summary on wages to Washington."

I. S. Anoff, president of the Albert Pick company, Inc., stated that by Saturday the company will be operating under the blanket code proposed by President Roosevelt. He said that the company will institute a maximum of 40 working hours a week and establish the minimum wage at $15 a week.

$18.80 a Week Minimum.

Officials of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana announced that their code is being presented at Washington, and that they anticipate that the Petroleum institute code will be in effect before the blanket code. The minimum wage will be increased to 47 cents an hour, or $18.80 a week, officials said, and the 40 hour working week will apply.

The Jefferson Electric company announced that it will work under the code now being prepared in Washington by the National Electric Manufacturers' association. The company contemplates the maximum of 40 hours a week and a 15 per cent increase in wages. The present minimum wage of the company is 25 cents an hour for female help and 35 cents an hour for male help.

B. M. Hess, president of the Hess Warming and Ventilating company, said his concern would conform to the maximum working hours and a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour.

From Phone Company Chief.

F. O. Hale, president of the Illinois Bell Telephone company, said that the company would make no changes in hours and wages at present.

"Since the beginning of the depression the company has practiced the foundation of the national recovery act," he said, "by maintaining wages and spreading employment. The reduction in our load of business has been met by a reduction in hours, but we have maintained the wage scale of 1929. No employé works more than 40 hours a week."

Le Roi J. Williams, vice president and general manager of the Grigsby-Grunow Radio company, announced that the factory would go on a 35 hour a week schedule next Monday, and would have a minimum wage rate of 40 cents an hour.

Officials of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. yesterday telegraphed to President Roosevelt that they would coöperate in his plan.

"It is our earnest wish to be as helpful to you as possible," read the telegram to the President, "and to do our part in coöperating wholeheartedly in your war on unemployment."

The company did not announce any change in hours or wages at present. A similar telegram was sent by Reid Murdoch & Co., grocers.

Other Companies' Comments.

Comments on the President's program from other concerns were as follows:

W. F. McLaughlin Coffee company—"We will support the President's plan in toto," said Herbert McLaughlin, treasurer, "and have already subscribed to the code of the coffee industry. We have cut down hours in the past, but we have never cut employés below the minimum wage scale advocated by the President."

Walgreen company—"The drug institute code is ready for signature at Washington," an official of the company said, "so it will not be necessary for us to come under the blanket code. We are heartily in accord with the administration's ideas."

Liggett & Co.—"We are studying the Drug institute code now to see what can be done." said S. S. Kelly, the general manager of the Chicago branch, "and realize that it must apply to all. There is always the danger that somebody will slip out of line."

The Fair store—"The department stores are with the President to the finish," an official said, "and will shortly present their code in Washington. We are sure that every merchant will do the right thing."

Jewel Food Stores [formerly the Loblaw Grocerterias]—"We are working on a code for chain grocery stores," J. M. Sarther, vice president, stated, "and are going to hold a meeting in New York. Our plans will dovetail with the President's wishes."

Edward Hines Lumber company—"More attention must be paid to the code of the lumber industry than to the general code," stated Thomas D. Heed, chairman of the board of directars, "because of the divergencies in various parts of the country. We will coöperate 100 per cent, and establish shorter hours and more pay. The lumber code is now being formulated in Washington."

Brink's Express company—"We never cut wages, so it will not be necessary to raise them," declared Frank Allen, president, "and our employés are all satisfied and anxious to work 45 hours to make overtime pay. The men do not want to make any changes."

Guy A. Richardson, president of the Chicago Surface Lines, said that all the transit companies were formulating their code in Washington, although the industrial recovery act would not specifically apply to them, as they are under state regulation.

Thousands Wire Roosevelt Backing Re-employment Plan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Numerous American employers, vanguard of those expected by the administration to subscribe to the President's reëmployment agreement, telegraphed their acceptances today.

From every branch of commerce came pledges of support in response to Mr. Roosevelt's radio plea broadcast to the nation last night. There were bankers and merchants, steel masters and industrialists, publishers and watchmakers.

The number of responses was estimated by Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, at 6,000, and President Roosevelt, discussing the campaign with members of his executive council this afternoon, expressed gratification at the result.

Chicago District Support.

The Whiting corporation at Harvey, Ill., yesterday telegraphed hearty indorsement and promised "cheerfully" to carry out the program. Other companies in the Chicagoland area promising adherence to the plan were the National Steel company, National Silica company, Oregon, Ill.; Millinery Salesmen's association of Chicago; Evening Bulletin, Kankakee, Ill.; A. N. Marquis company, Vitrolite company, American Washing Machine Manufacturers, by E. N. Hurley, president; M. H. Detrick company; Peoria Foundry company, Peoria, Ill., and the Independent Retail Merchants' association, Muncie, Ind.

These Companies Agree.

Agreements to sign the master code put forth by the President came from Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., New York City; Carbona Products company, New York City; Nunn-Bush and Weldon Shoe Co., Milwaukee; Printers' Ink Publications, New York; Union Electric Steel Co., Pittsburgh; Hartmann Trunk Co., Racine, Wis.; J. A. Penney Grocery Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.; Wisconsin Piggly Wiggly corporation, Wausau, Wis.; Coca Cola Bottling Co., Alexander City, Ala.; Bulova Watch Co., New York; Dodge Manufacturing Co., Mishawaka, Ind.

The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine company, Lynn, Mass., wired:

"You may count on us to coöperate in every way."

Hundreds of employers who expressed desire to sign the master code telegraphed inquiries to Gen. Johnson's office on perplexing problems confronting them.

Hammond to Answer Questions.

As a result of a flood of questions, it was announced that Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, brought from Chicago to act as Gen. Johnson's executive assistant, would head a committee to answer them. It was requested that the questions be submitted by mail or telegraph and the answers will go forward by mail.

Reporters put several questions directly up to Gen. Johnson today. Asked if injustices appeared in certain cases he would grant exemptions to individual employers, he said he would not.

"I don't want anybody to get the idea we're granting exemptions around here," he added. He said that he didn't expect the master code would turn out to be perfect, and he added that when information came in proving an error had been made it would be corrected promptly.

A Detroit employer, according to a reporter, wanted permission to operate a 48 hour week.

"It isn't what you want, it's what you get," Johnson replied.

Penalty for Violations.

"What if an employer signs the agreement and violates it? Can he be punished for that, the same as provided in the regular codes?"

"We could move in with the licensing provision," Johnson replied, "but the President pointed out last night that in this present campaign we are appealing to the force of public opinion to keep men in line. But we will take his blue hawk away from him."

Gen. Johnson refers to the emblem of honor awarded to participating employers as "the blue hawk." Its central figure is a blue eagle.

GOVERNORS, IN PARLEY, PRAISE ROOSEVELT TALK

Assert Their States Will Back President.

San Francisco, Cal., July 25.—(AP)—Executives attending the annual conference of governors here were lavish today in their praise of the address of President Roosevelt to the people on the national recovery program. Here are comments of several governors:

George White, Ohio—We will follow our great leader, President Roosevelt, in his attack on unemployment and other depression evils. The sentiment of the governors gathered here is to go ahead without regard to party politics. I heartily favor the Roosevelt program and will advocate that my state coöperate to the fullest extent.

Paul V. McNutt, Indiana—Once again, taking the people into his confidence, President Roosevelt has demonstrated his ability as a leader. The salvation of any program lies in the coöperation of the people.

Expects Speedy Effect.

Gov. Theodore Green, Rhode Island—His talk to the people was splendid and characteristic of the man. He explained a complicated subject in a clear cut manner. I am certain the talk will result in speeding into action the great recovery program.

Ben C. Ross, Idaho—President Roosevelt struck the key to the situation when he advocated the employment of the eleven or twelve million idle persons at reasonable wages.

Leslie A. Miller, Wyoming—I am in complete accord with the purpose of President Roosevelt's plan. He is exactly right in demanding the coöperation of the people, because without it he cannot lead the way out of the dark clouds of chaos.

Guy B. Park, Missouri—This conference has already expressed itself on the recovery program, and the governors of these states will coöperate for its ultimate success.

James Rolph Jr., California—The talk was wonderful. We will coöperate 100 per cent.

Discuss Taxing Problem.

The problem of taxation was tackled by the governors at the conference today, with Gov. Wilbur L. Cross of Connecticut leading the discussion with a declaration that reform in tax exemptions "can be accomplished only through elimination and correction of abuses which have crept in during the last quarter century."

The Connecticut executive declared tax exemptions, taken as a whole throughout the country, present an "appalling picture." He said that as "a New Englander" he could not eliminate the traditional principle of exempting property of religious, educational and charitable institutions.

"There is doubtless, however," he said, "too much exemption in each of the three classes of property. It is evident that the tax structure of the states stands in need of thorough revision, especially the tax base should be broadened so as to relieve the local load on real estate in the interest of the farmer, the householder and the industrial corporation."

Gov. Cross deprecated instances of churches holding real estate, apparently, he said, to profit by growing increase of value. This property, he added, should be subject to taxation as well as that of "certain fraternal and social organizations whose aim is only incidentally charitable to escape taxation by crawling under a general policy."

He made no recommendations as to schools and colleges.

The governors tonight listened to a radio address tonight in which the President asked coöperation of the states and federal government in oil and water power control.

U. S. AGENTS RAID FARM STILL.

Prohibition agents yesterday raided a farm 15 miles southwest of Joliet, found a 500 gallon still and 17 five gallon tins of alcohol, and arrested four men.

HORNER ASKS STATE TO BACK ROOSEVELT IN RECOVERY PLANS

Springfield, Ill., July 25.—(AP)—Gov. Henry Horner tonight issued the following statement commenting on President Roosevelt's program for national recovery:

"Since the admission of Illinois into the Union there has never been a more important summons of our citizens to patriotic duty in time of peace than the call issued by President Roosevelt for concerted and unselfish and united action in the nation-wide effort to overcome the most economic disarrangement in the history of the world.

"We have had other national economic crises, but none so grave as the one we are fighting now. We must give a full impetus to business and industry and put the unemployed back to work immediately at fair and reasonable wages if we are to preserve our established institutions, our national welfare, and our national security.

"President Roosevelt has shown us the road to recovery and we have but to chart our course along it. With the united action and the whole-hearted coöperation of the states and their citizenry the nation under his leadership will move forward speedily to more prosperous times.

"Illinois will coöperate to the fullest extent of its strength and resources, its patriotism, and its devotion. It has always done so and will continue to do so. The people of Illinois will not shirk. Our state has never been willing to take second place in its response to national and local necessities. Illinois welcomes this opportunity, the first in many years, to follow a national leader in whom it has implicit faith and confidence and who has already demonstrated his power and will to do. Let us all keep in perfect step with the President."

WARNS INDUSTRY TO GO SLOW WITH RECOVERY PLANS

U. of C. Dean Cites Effect of Speculation.

Heavy market fluctuations of the last week are a warning that the economic system is "still very sick" and must be protected against wild speculation, Dean William H. Spencer of the University of Chicago school of business, told members of the Heating and Piping Contractors' National association. He spoke before the convention of the association yesterday at the Hotel Sherman on the business outlook under the national recovery act.

"Market conditions show that the patient must not get up too soon, and must beware of drinks of high speculative content," Dean Spencer said. "Although recovery is on the way, we have a long period of reconstruction ahead which will tax the patience of many business men.

Situation Loaded with Dynamite.

"The present situation is loaded with dynamite, but if the President avoids serious mistakes, and I have faith in Mr. Roosevelt, he can greatly aid recovery."

Dean Spencer pointed out one potential danger under the industrial control plan with its program of raising wages and shortening working hours. It may be, he said, that this program will force marginal producers out of competition, thus putting out of work enough employés to overbalance the economic gain of the higher wages paid the remainder.

Fifteen Chicago wash dress manufacturers yesterday announced their intention of putting into effect, beginning Monday, provisions of a trade practice code adopted two weeks ago by the National Association of Wash Dress Manufacturers.

Calls for 40 Hour Week.

The code calls for a $12 minimum wage for a 40 hour week, and will apply to between 10,000 and 15,000 workers, mostly women, in the Chicago area. The manufacturers said that it will mean an average increase of wages of about 33 per cent.

Wholesale wallpaper dealers met at the Bismarck hotel yesterday to consider a trade code. Among suggestions for the code were a minimum wage of $15 a week, and a maximum week of 44 or 40 hours.

Members of the Advertising Specialty association, representing 400 manufacturers, approved a code at the Palmer house which included a maximum week of 40 hours and a minimum wage of 30 cents an hour. The American Association of Refrigerated Warehouses has under consideration a 42 hour week and a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour.

Other industrial groups and associations which discussed codes at meetings yesterday were the butter, egg, and poultry interests, the International Association of Clothing Designers, the International Association of Beauty and Barber Supply Dealers, and the United States Independent Telephone association.

ROOSEVELT PRAISED BY BRITISH PRESS; HOPE FOR HIS SUCCESS

LONDON, July 25.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's speech to the American nation last night stirred widespread interest here and was much discussed in political and private circles and in the press.

The attitude of London papers was one of admiration for the President's action and of hearty godspeed for his success, with nevertheless a doubt interpolated here and there. Emphasis was laid on Mr. Roosevelt's qualities of leadership and personal popularity as furnishing one of the chief grounds for justifying hopes of success. The Times said:

"Much more is at stake than the immediate well-being of the American people in a world of nations which must live, if they are to live prosperously, by the law of interdependence. Failure of the American experiment would amount to a universal disaster. Its progress should be watched with deep and friendly interest and its success should be devoutly desired everywhere."

EMPLOYERS TOLD HOW TO ENLIST IN JOB PROGRAM

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator, in a speech tonight pictured an "irresistible march" toward the President's industrial recovery program and then issued simple instructions on how employers of the country may enlist in the movement. He predicted 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 men will be back at work by Labor day.

In discussing the methods by which business men may join the "N. R. A." and receive the "badge of honor," Gen. Johnson said it was not necessary to hire any "special fixer" to get anything from the administration.

He announced that they would receive in the mail about Thursday two agreements which they were to sign and fill out, then put into effect at once.

On Aug. 1 they would receive another paper which they were to sign saying they had carried out the agreement.

"If you want to use this symbol on your goods, or automobiles, or trucks, or anywhere else in connection with your business, you are authorized to do so," he announced.

The general pointed out that prices are rising faster than purchasing power and declared that "speculative price advances are the best way to kill the goose that lays the golden egg."

Most business men will agree, the general asserted, "that it is a pretty sickly looking goose right now."

He criticized employers who had used the industrial recovery act to organize their workers hastily into "company unions," and he also criticized union officials who had sought to enforce unionization of workers. Picturing the long hours of toil endured by all workers in the cause, he declared that "men have fallen over exhausted and more than one has died."

Reserve Board Report on Business

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Ratios in employment and in pay rolls of the several industries of the United States, as compared with 1923-'25, are shown in the following table included in the federal reserve board's report issued here today:

Tells Progress Toward Prosperity.

pay rolls, a situation which the administration has interpreted as threatening the continued progress against the depression, President Roosevelt has launched an ambitious plan to enlist all employers voluntarily in a campaign to raise wages and shorten working hours, thus creating a demand for several millions of additional employés.

"Activity in the steel industry" the federal reserve report stated, "continued to increase during June and, according to trade reports, during the first two weeks of July; in the third week of the month it showed little change.

"Demand for steel from the railroads and the construction industry continued at a low level. Output of automobiles, which usually declines at this season, increased in June and showed little change in July.

"Consumption of cotton by domestic mills was larger in June than in any previous month, and continued at a high rate during the first half of July. At woolen mills and shoe factories activity increased further in June to unusually high levels."

Wholesale prices of commodities advanced from 64 per cent of the 1926 average in June to 69 per cent in the middle of July, the report stated.

F. W. SARGENT ASKS FAIR TEST ROOSEVELT PLAN

Milwaukee, Wis., July 25.—[Special.]—The legislative actions of the last congress rank as one of the three important events of American history, Fred W. Sargent, president of the North Western railroad, told 1,500 agents of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company at their banquet here tonight. He declared the Washington program rates in importance with the war for independence and the abolition of slavery. He urged that the Democratic new deal be given a fair and honest trial.

The new deal, he said, may mean a greater era of prosperity than has ever been experienced by the United States, to the ultimate advantage of all mankind. Thn he declared that the greatest present obstacle to a return of prosperity is the gigantic tax burden placed on the American people; taxes consume 40 per cent of the national income, he pointed out.

OIL INTERESTS STRUGGLE OVER CODE FEATURES

Agency Sales Contracts Are Under Attack.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—The independents of the oil industry used the national recovery hearing on their industry's code today to launch a concerted attack on what they termed the monopolistic practices of the major oil companies.

It was the major companies' purpose, the independents charged, to write such practices into the code and so gain for them the approval of the recovery administration.

Johnson Seeks Quick Action.

Outside the hearing, special committees met and with the vigorous persuasion of Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator to spur them on, agreed to compromise hours and wages. As originally written, the codes submitted by the American Petroleum Institute, by the independents, and by the labor unions differed radically on the labor provisions.

As tentatively decided upon tonight, maximum work week and hourly wage scales for the three branches of the oil industry were as follows:

Production—36 hours, 45 cents to 52 cents; refining—36 hours, 40 cents to 47 cents; marketing—40 hours, 40 cents to 47 cents.

Talks for Independents.

With Newton D. Baker, former secretary of war, as persuasive leadoff man, the independents argued during most of the day against the so-called lease and agency and lease and license agreements, whereby the big companies pay filling stations a premium to become exclusive agents for the big companies' products.

The practice, the independents declared, already has seriously curtailed the sales, revenues, and employment of the smaller oil refineries. To continue it, they said, eventually would force the independents to sell to the larger concerns.

The spokesmen for the larger concerns argued for their agreements as within their constitutional right of free contract.

Mr. Baker described what he said were common practices by which the major oil companies forced retailers to become exclusive agents.

"That's Mild," Baker Says.

Donald R. Richberg, counsel for the recovery administration, wondered whether some of Mr. Baker's statements could be substantiated.

"That is mild compared to what actually takes place," Mr. Baker replied. He appeared on behalf of the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil association, producing, he said, a fifth of the country's high grade lubricants.

"If this practice prevails," Mr. Baker added, "Pennsylvania crude will disappear from the market."

William R. Boyd Jr., executive vice president of the American Petroleum institute, that sponsors the pending code, cited electrical manufacturing companies that sell light bulbs only on consignment, and insist on exclusive privileges somewhat similar to that of the big oil companies. Mr. Boyd said Mr. Baker, for the electrical companies, had won a Supreme court decision in favor of that.

Tells of Lost Business.

J. M. Koch, head of the Quaker State Refining company, said his company had lost 21,000 retail outlets and the sale of 11 million gallons of oil since Jan. 1, 1930, through the lining up of retailers as exclusive agents by the big companies. Otto Cook, president of the Kendall Refining company, told a similar story.

B. L. Majowski of the Illinois Petroleum Marketers' association said: "If lease and agency agreements are confirmed by the code, the labor provisions will be useless. The Chicago division of the United States Garage association is urging its members to refuse to be browbeaten and coerced."

E. W. Kruse of the Chicago Service Station Operators' association said that, refusing to renew his agreement, he had been forced for the last twenty days to pay the full retail price for gasoline, making no profit whatever on sales.

"The practice is within the law," Mr. Boyd said, on behalf of the major companies. "It is a practice that has been known to business for many years. I think the administration should take that fact into consideration."

Price fixing found the independents at odds among themselves. Majowski contended "we must have price regulation in order to keep the independent refiner, wholesaler and retailer in existence." The major companies set such a low margin of profit, he maintained, that the independents were squeezed out.

SOUTHERNERS BUSY PLOWING UNDER EXCESS COTTON AS U. S. URGED

Atlanta, Ga., July 25.—(AP)—Plows turned under thousands of acres of growing cotton today as Dixie began in earnest to fulfill its pledge to President Roosevelt to remove approximately 3,500,000 bales from production.

Farmers from Virginia to the far western fields of Texas, receiving their permits, destroyed portions of their chief cash crop to make way for another crop of food for the farm table and feed for live stock. Cotton destruction was expected to be in full swing by tomorrow.

Farmers who have agreed to the reduction will be paid for their acreage eliminated by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace as soon as he has received certification from a recognized authority that the work has been done. The government has added a year beyond May 1, 1934, to the option period in which farmers may obtain a share of more than 2,000,000 bales of government owned cotton.

Forestry Army Chiefs Praise Enthusiasm of Rural Recruits

Recruits drawn from rural areas for the civilian conservation corps displayed, on the average, a somewhat greater aptitude and enthusiasm for their work than did their city fellows, army officers who trained the forest army companies at Fort Sheridan said yesterday."

The aptitude was explained by the fact that the men from the rural areas were more expert at outdoor work. A possible explanation of the enthusiasm which was advanced was that the farm boys are getting from the government from 67 to 150 per cent more money than they can hope to receive working as farm hands.

Reports of the federal department of agriculture show that on April 1, about the time that recruiting for the forest army was started, the average of prevailing wage for farm hands in Illinois was $17.50 a month, with room and board. On July 1, the government report showed it to be $18 a month, plus room and board.

Work for Room and Board.

The planting season had started on farms in April, however, and higher summer wages were in effect. During the winter, it was reported that many farm hands were working in Illinois for room, board and tobacco. While the C. C. C. recruits were in training they got $30 a month, of which they were required to send $25 to their families. Now that they are in camps, 5 per cent of the men in each company, called leaders, get $45 a month, and an additional 8 per cent, the assistant leaders, get $36 a month. They are allowed to keep all over $25.

Maj. David B. Falk, post executive, and Lieut. J. J. Holst supplied statistics yesterday on the recruits trained at Fort Sheridan. Of the 17,634 men who went through training camp there, approximately 20 per cent came from rural areas, the remainder from cities.

The first 4,000 men received at the camp were from cities, and generally speaking their morale was slightly lower than that of succeeding groups, Maj. Falk said. He attributed this, however, to the fact that it rained almost constantly during the training period and that many of the men contracted colds. In spite of this, Maj. John Dibble, medical examiner, found upon examining 180 men picked at random on May 29 that in the three or four weeks they had been living in camp they had gained an average of 3.29 pounds in weight.

Many Sons of Farmers.

Many of the rural recruits, Maj. Falk said, were the owners of farms or the sons of farmers, who had obtained authority to enter the reforestation corps to supplement the family income back on the farm. Both he and Brig. Gen. Frank C. Bolles, commandant at Fort Sheridan, pronounced the morale of all the recruits to be high and praised their spirit.

"I was particularly struck by their obedience to orders," said Gen. Bolles, "especially since we did not have the disciplinary powers over them which prevail in the regular army. The only penalty which was visited upon unruly recruits was dismissal from the corps. There were a few of these shortly after the camp opened. Then I called all the men together, explained what we were trying to do, and urged them to support President Roosevelt in his plans for them. We had no trouble after that."

Maj. C. A. Chapman, commanding the 1,100 forest army men who are working on the forest preserve project in the Skokie marsh, and James D. Brown, field engineer for the forest preserve district, also praised the spirit of the men.

COTTON GARMENT CODE REMOVES CHILDREN'S TOIL

Hearing Set for Aug. 2; Rayon Is Puzzle.

Washington, D. C., July 25.—(AP)—The cotton garment and shirt industries today submitted new codes of fair competition to the national recovery administration and a joint hearing was called for Aug. 2.

The International Association of Garment Manufacturers proposed a 40 hour work week with wages of 30 cents an hour in the south, and 32½ cents in the north, with exceptions to the minimum wage for no more than 8 per cent of the total labor, such as learners, cleaners and outside employés.

The 40 hour week would be averaged over a 12 months period with special provision for peak seasonal employment.

The Shirt Institute, Inc., called for minimum wages of $11 in the south and $12 in the north for a 40 hour week. Child labor, prison and institutional labor were banned from the shirt trade and prohibition also was put into the code against persons being hired to work at home.

Rayon Code Is Delayed.

The proper place of the rayon weaving industry in the textile field became an issue at hearings today on the rayon hour shortening, wage raising code. That inquiry, however, was adjourned subject to call.

The silk manufacturers contended the rayon industry belongs with their division. The labor group, headed by Thomas McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, agreed to that.

McMahon asked a 30 hour maximum work week and minimum weekly wage of $18 instead of the 40 hours and $12 and $13 for the south and north, respectively, called for in the code of fair competition.

The rayon mills are operating under provisions virtually identical with the cotton textile code, pending approval of their own agreement.

James A. Goldsmith, president of the Silk Association of America, said the rayon weavers should file their labor, production, and other data under the code through his organization and not separately.

Percival S. Howe Jr., president of the National Rayon Weavers' association, through which the code was submitted, said: "The rayon code contains no provisions in conflict with the cotton code," their competition is in merchandising and distribution.

The rayon code provides that employés shall not receive less pay for the 40 hour week than they have for 48; that wage differentials between classes receiving now above the minimum rate not be decreased; that a wage-hour scale be worked out by next Jan. 1 for outside crews and cleaners who are excepted with apprentices and learners, and that child labor be banned. Employés may not work for more than one employer to a total in excess of 40 hours a week.

The wool textile industry awaited tonight presidential approval of its code of fair competition. The code includes a 40 hour week, with minimum wages of $13 weekly in the south and $14 in the north, abolition of child labor, a guarantee against reduction of wages under the shorter week.

Leaders of Auto Industry Draft Code for Roosevelt

Detroit, Mich., July 25.—(AP)—The nation's automobile industry, whose vast enterprise last year brought employment to nearly 4,000,000 persons, tonight was engaged in preparing a code for submission to President Roosevelt.

The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce directors gathered here today and hoped to be ready, probably by tomorrow, to present the code.

Although the Ford Motor company is not a member of the N. A. C. C., its representatives have attended all meetings at which the code has been discussed and the other large makers are members.

Alvan Macauley is president of the association. Others in attendance included Alfred P. Sloan, president of the General Motors corporation; Walter P. Chrysler, president of the Chrysler corporation, and Roy D. Chapin, president of the Hudson Motor Car company.

Sundries Makers Act.

Already the automotive parts and equipment industry, employing approximately 500,000 workers, has aligned itself with the President's recovery code, in an agreement calling for a 40 hour maximum average week and a 40 cents an hour minimum wage for processing workers.

Motor factories gave employment directly to 229,841 workmen who received in salaries and wages $282,929,203 last year. The industry provided work directly and indirectly to 3,900,000 wage earners.

Smaller industries throughout Michigan began pouring in their pledges to the President, adopting the blanket agreement immediately, or pledging a code adopted by their special industry for employing more persons and increasing wages.

Job Printers Plan Code.

Commercial printers in Detroit decided on a 35 hour week, with wages for unskilled workers increased from 35 to 40 cents an hour and skilled workmen receiving 80 to 90 cents, as at present. The agreement becomes effective Aug. 1.

In Flint, the Genesee County Retail Grocers and Meat Dealers association pledged a reduction in hours and a wage increase affecting several thousand employés.

The Grand Rapids Association of Commerce wired the President that its members had adopted the general code under the N. R. A. 100 per cent.

In Detroit, plans for a rapid fire campaign to assist in developing adoption of the industrial program already were under way, with officials of the chamber of commerce and the retail merchants association offering their full support to the drive.

ILLNESS RENEWS REPORT WOODIN IS TO RESIGN

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—There were renewed reports today that Secretary of the Treasury W. H. Woodin would resign on Sept. 1. These reports were not confirmed and it was said that if Mr. Woodin left the cabinet it would be because of his poor health and not because the President desires to lose him. Late in the spring Mr. Woodin developed a streptococcus sore throat and it didn't clear up but developed into "quinsy." The secretary is now on vacation. Mr. Roosevelt recently talked with him on the telephone and told him to take a good rest and come back when he had regained his strength.

Note that a Bayer Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate within two seconds after touching moisture—in your stomach just as it does in the glass above.

Hence, a Bayer Aspirin Tablet starts to "take hold" of even a severe headache or neuritis a few minutes after taking.

Keep this in mind when in pain. BAYER brings the quick relief you want. And the SAFE relief, too. For Genuine Bayer Aspirin does not harm the heart.

So—always say "Bayer Aspirin" when you buy. Then you'll be sure to get the Quick relief and Safety of the real Bayer article.

2 YOUNG AUTO THIEVES GET YR. IN WORKHOUSE

Sentenced for Stealing Fair Visitor's Car.

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Stolen, 77; recovered, 76; stripped, 16 [from police records for the last twenty-four hours ending at midnight Monday].

Two youthful automobile thieves who were seized by police while stripping an automobile they had stolen from a World's Fair visitor to Chicago were sentenced to one year in the bridewell by Municipal Judge John Gutknecht yesterday in the Boys' court. The sentences were the first severe punishment meted out to auto thieves in the renewed war on auto theft and stripping racketeers who take a toll of 100 cars a day in the city.

The defendants were Ralph McCauley, 18 years old, 324 Throop street, and Walter Nickon, 20 years old, 949 West Madison street. They were arrested by policemen on July 15 while stripping a car in an alley near Washington boulevard and Ada street. The car belonged to H. C. Wiggs Jr. of Elberton, Ga. It had been stolen from in front of 4531 North Paulina street a few hours earlier.

Mr. Wiggs prolonged his stay in Chicago for ten days in order to appear in court yesterday. The police had informed him that most of the thieves captured after stealing automobiles belonging to out of town visitors to the Fair had escaped punishment because the visitors had refused to remain in the city for the trial. When he was thanked by Judge Gutknecht yesterday Mr. Wiggs said that he had felt it his duty to stay and testify against the prisoners.

Plan Action Against Thieves.

At the same time the court was in session Mayor Kelly, Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, director of the Chicago crime commission, representatives of the National Automobile Underwriters' association and of the municipal courts were meeting to plan further activity against auto thieves.

Col. Chamberlin informed the gathering that his records showed that there has been only a slight improvement in automobile stealing during the first six months of 1933 as compared with the same period of last year.

"In general, judges dealing with auto thieves are big hearted. They operate on the theory that every one can steal at least one car without being punished. Sometimes our records show that a thief is caught and confesses to "ten or twelve thefts. He is given probation as if he were a first offender because he has been caught only once.

"What the city needs to cut down automobile thefts and, through reduced thefts, obtain reduced insurance rates, is swift and certain punishment through coöperation between police and the courts."

To Cut Towing Charges.

J. W. Burden, chairman of a joint committee of insurance underwriters who control the newly established central salvage bureau by which it is hoped the present market for stolen automobile parts can be abolished, announced that towing and storage charges for recovered automobiles are to be reduced by the agreement of the committee.

Present charges range from $5 to $7.50 for towing and $1 a day for storage. These prices are fixed by private garages which do this work. The new charges of the salvage bureau will be $4 for towing and fifty cents a day for storage.

Mayor Kelly asked Mr. Burden if the underwriters would agree to make no cash settlements for missing parts or repairs for recovered cars which have been stripped or wrecked by thieves. He asked that the companies arrange for the repair work to be done by legitimate repair men and thus prevent owners from turning business to crooked garage men who purchase stolen parts from thieves or fences.

"We will see that such cars are repaired with authorized parts and the work done by authorized dealers," Mr. Burden promised.

The mayor said that insurance companies, adjusters and police all were mixed "in a lot of shenanigans." He added that there had been intimations that adjusters were working with the thieves. Mr. Burden denied this.

IDENTIFY BODY OF GIRL VISITOR KILLED BY AUTO

The body of a woman who was fatally injured when she was struck by an automobile at Michigan avenue and 11th street Monday was identified yesterday as that of Miss Ella Clausen, 20 years old, a school teacher from Roundup, Mont., who had been visiting the Fair with her sister. The body was identified by the sister, Miss Frieda Clausen, also a school teacher, at the county morgue. The sisters had been staying at the Y. W. C. A. at 830 South Michigan avenue.

The driver, Vincent S. Schorsch, 6155 Byron street, was not held. He told the police that Miss Clausen had crossed the street against the traffic light.

Three deaths yesterday raised the Cook county traffic toll to 558 for 1933. The victims:

Peter Mata, 9 years old, 3329 West 38th place. Fatally injured yesterday when he fell from the side of a garbage truck under the wheels. The accident took place at 34th street and California avenue. The truck was driven by Walter Budek, 3558 South Kedzie avenue.

William Lehner, 89 years old, 1758 West 71st street. Killed when he was struck at 71st street and Ashland avenue by a car driven by Edward Geeber of Austin, Ill.

John Trunec, 43 years old, 2247 South St. Louis avenue. Died at the county hospital of injuries incurred Sunday in an automobile collision at 23d street and Spaulding avenue.

SEARS, ROEBUCK OFFICIAL KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Milwaukee, Wis., July 25.—[Special.]—Alex M. McFadyen, 49 years old, district manager of the Sears, Roebuck & Co. stores in Milwaukee, was killed early today when an automobile in which he was riding ran off highway 16 near Waukesha, Wis.

With Mr. McFadyen in the car were his sons, Newton, 19 years old; Robert, 17 years old, and Richard, 16 years old. The injuries of the youngest boy were not regarded as serious, but the condition of the others, it was reported tonight at the Milwaukee General hospital, was critical.

The McFadyens were on the way from Chicago, where the father had attended a business meeting, to their summer home in Oconomowoc when the accident took place.

New Yorker Leaves Fund for Free Eye Glasses

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—A $25,000 fund to supply free eyeglasses and spectacles to persons too poor to pay for them is bequeathed to the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat hospital, in the will of John de Witt Sterry, filed today. The hospital receives an additional $25,000, to be called the "Catharine Van Vliet De Witt Sterry purse," the income to be used for the benefit of the nurses of the institution.

BROACHES LUMP PAYMENT OF IRISH DEBT TO BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 25.—The question of Irish land annuities due Great Britain was brought up again in the house of commons today when Sir Nicholas Grattan Doyle asked whether the British government would be willing to take a lump sum payment in settlement of the claim against the Free State.

"I have frequently stated, and now repeat, that the British government is always prepared to consider any suggestions which might lead to a comprehensive and satisfactory settlement of questions outstanding," replied J. H. Thomas, secretary of state for dominion affairs.

"I do not think it would be conducive to the end desired for me to make any statement in advance in regard to any political method of settlement. The financial matter is not the only outstanding question with the Irish Free State. Important political issues are also involved."

SWIMMER BREAKS NECK; DIES.

Oakland, Ill., July 25.—[Special.]—Willis Rowe, 17, died today as a result of a broken neck received in a plunge into the Ambraw river while swimming Sunday.

LONDON PARLEY TO BE KEPT ALIVE OVER SUMMER

Small Body to Watch for Improved Conditions.

BY JOHN STEELE.

LONDON, July 25.—The world economic conference is to be continued in suspended animation. The steering committee today decided to recommend to the plenary session of the parley Thursday that a small committee be appointed to keep in touch with conditions and decide if and when the conference is to reconvene.

The committees may also advise the steering committee to call any commissions or committees into session if the conditions seem right for success in dealing with the subjects assigned to them.

Turn Down U. S. Proposal.

A proposal by Secretary of State Hull that the steering committee meet again before Nov. 1 was defeated, as was a suggestion that some time limit be set on the functioning of the committee. The steering committee took the view that to set a minimum time might operate as setting a maximum period and that it would be better to leave the committee entirely free to act at the earliest moment which seemed propitious.

The steering committee set the final plenary session of the conference for 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The present intentions are to confine the meeting to six speeches.

Hull to Speak for U. S.

Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain will wind up the speechmaking as president of the conference. Mr. Hull will speak as the head of the American delegation and former Gov. James Cox as head of the monetary commission. Dr. Hendryk Colijn of Holland will be heard as head of the economic commission. The fifth and sixth speakers have not yet been decided upon, but it is almost certain one will be Georges Bonnet, French finance minister. The other may be Sig. Asquini of Italy.

In his valedictory Mr. Cox will propose an international blue sky law for the protection of investors in foreign securities.

On this subject, Mr. Cox will speak from the depth of experience of American investors, who have lost many billions of dollars on purchases of foreign government bonds, and stocks and bonds of foreign corporations in the last few years.

Wants Publicity on Issues.

What Mr. Cox has in mind is the creation of international machinery for affording adequate publicity of details on foreign security issues along the lines of the recently enacted law for the regulation of security issues in the United States. He is prepared to suggest that the Bank for International Settlements be empowered by international agreement to pass on the soundness of security issues offered for investment abroad.

Mr. Cox also purposes to broach proposals for "unfreezing" the vast volume of frozen international investments that constitutes an important factor in the world economic depression.

The wheat committee, which is functioning outside of the conference, still has not reached an agreement on restricting production. It will meet again tomorrow.

WEST VIRGINIA, 16TH STATE, FORMALLY VOTES FOR REPEAL

Charleston, W. Va., July 25.—(AP)—West Virginia today formally cast its ballot for repeal of the 18th amendment.

Acting on the mandate of the voters in the election of June 27, twenty delegates unanimously ratified the 21st amendment to repeal prohibition.

The roll was called, the votes were cast without any special ceremony, and West Virginia became the 16th state formally to enter the repeal column.

ENJOY THIS WELCH WAY TO REDUCE

Noted food authorities have now worked out the ideal way to reduce—and the beautiful thing about their plan is that all the time you are losing weight you are actually gaining new-found health and energy.

This delightful new method takes advantage of the amazing health-properties in Welch's Certified Pure, Pasteurized Grape Juice, a product long recommended by physicians the world over. They insist that Welch's belongs on every weight-control and reducing diet, because it satisfies that craving for sweets and rich, fattening foods.

Welch's has many other advantages, too. It contains minerals vital to one's health. It helps make red blood. It contains more Vitamin B than orange juice. It cleanses the entire system. Reports come from people everywhere that after following the Welch way to weight reduction they feel more vigorous and alert than they had felt in years.

Start right in today. Get a bottle of Welch's from your dealer, drink a glass before breakfast, once or twice during the day, and before retiring. Because of its purity, Welch's may be diluted with one-third water and many prefer it so. Continue—and in a few days you will experience the wonderful difference.

Then in the meantime send for booklet, "Keeping Your Weight Down," which you may obtain ABSOLUTELY FREE, simply by writing to The Welch Grape Juice Co., Dept. 293, Westfield, N. Y. It contains full directions for easy and delightful weight reducing the Welch way.

IMPORTANT: Be sure to insist on Welch's, because it is the Welch Process that retains in the bottled juice the healthful properties of ripe grapes so essential to the system. Only Welch's is Certified Pure and Pasteurized. It contains no adulterants, no synthetic flavors, no artificial coloring, no preservatives, no water, and above all, no tartaric acid. It is selling at the lowest price in 35 years, and is even cheaper by the case. Send for the free booklet TODAY.

I'm strong for sunshine — so I'm strong for "Toasting"

I've always found that really good reasons are the simplest reasons. For instance, I know that sunshine mellows and heat purifies. "Toasting" is therefore very easy for me to understand. And very easy for me to appreciate—because—my sense of the fastidious is so very exacting. You see, I'm always aware of the fact that my cigarette comes in such intimate contact with my lips. Quite naturally, it's the purity of "Toasting" that I single out for special praise. It's just my own personal feminine reason for saying "Luckies Please!"

"TOO FAT TO LOVE"

They Laughed

POOR Mary! She didn't mean to eavesdrop but she couldn't help hearing her friends. They were talking about her. "Too fat to love," one of the boys snickered.

Are you handicapped by a figure that is robbed of its natural grace by excess fat? Why put up with a condition like this? Unlovely abnormal, excess fat is traced so often to just one condition—a body deficiency, which doctors call "low metabolism." Too much food turns to fat instead of energy. And, ever since 1907, there has been a famous prescription, turned to by multitudes, to counteract this deficiency. Its formula includes among its 19 constituents, important vegetable, organic and mineral ingredients which doctors the world over regularly prescribe. No starvation diet—simply avoid fattening foods. Over 20 million boxes of this formula have been bought by people tired of ineffective methods. Ask for Marmola at any good drug store. Only $1.00.

REVEAL PLOT TO THROW SPAIN INTO REIGN OF TERROR

Hundreds Jailed; Troops Guard Cities.

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, July 25.—Although arrests are going on at a merry rate all over Spain, the police do not seem to have reached the core of the conspiracy which was carefully prepared by an alliance of enemies of the republic, ranging from Carlists to communists.

The police have arrested more than 500 civilians—the exact number is not known because the ministry of interior resolutely refuses to announce it—suspected of having participated in laying elaborate plans for an uprising.

Plans Are Revealed.

It now appears that there was to have been first an uprising of civilian elements early today. This was to have been followed later in the week by a military blowup. As yet not a single army officer of the many who were understood to have promised their support, have been jailed.

One of the chief plotters, Gonzalo de la Torri, a journalist on La Nacion, the late Dictator Primo de Rivera's newspaper, talked to his fellow newspapermen today from behind the bars of the isolated prison of Ocana, where he was taken with scores of others early yesterday.

"We seem to have failed this time," he said, "but the next time we will succeed."

Fear Trouble Is Not Over.

The authorities, however, are not at all convinced that the movement has collapsed and are standing ready lest the military carry out their part of the program. Troops are still confined in barracks in Madrid and Barcelona and postoffices, railway stations and power plants are under heavy guard.

From the sparse documents the police were able to get hold of, it is evident that the conspirators had really prepared something for Spain this time. Instead of relying upon the army to rebel at a given hour on a given date, their plan was to let loose a flood of violence on the republic.

Planned to Kill Ministers.

Attempts on the lives of members of the republican government, bombings of ministries, sabotage of communication lines and general strikes were on the program.

Today was the feast of Santiago or St. James, patron saint of Spain, and any rebellion in this country, to be successful, must have a name. This was to have been Santiago day.

About Friday the military elements, of course purely for patriotic reasons, were to rise "to save the republic" and establish a dictatorship. What was to come after this dictatorship would, of course, depend upon the results of the free-for-all between the Carlists, Fascists, syndicalists, communists and the what nots who were going to set it up.

A new departure in this conspiracy consisted of its leaders not counting on the troops, who, as experience has shown, like to wait and see which way the wind blows.

CAB COMPANIES GIVE RATE DATA TO COMMISSION

Statements of ownership, financial condition, and methods of operation were submitted yesterday to the new city public vehicle license commission by representatives of the taxicab companies operating in Chicago. The data were asked by the commission as a basis for determining what cab rates should be fixed by city ordinance.

The commission, which consists of Police Commissioner Allman, Corporation Counsel Sexton, and City Controller Upham, delved into the taxicab situation, with Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman acting as its attorney. It questioned Thomas Hogan, president of the Yellow Cab company; Michael Sokol, president of the Checker Cab company; Lee Daniels, attorney for the Public Taxi Service company, and the representatives of other smaller companies.

In questioning the cab operators Mr. Grossman sought information as to the earnings of the companies, the amounts set up by them for paying personal injury and property damage claims, and what relationships there might be with other transportation companies. The commission will continue its investigation tomorrow.

LOCAL BANKER'S DAUGHTER HURT ON A DUDE RANCH

Barbara Reed, 14 years old, daughter of Guy E. Reed, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, is in a hospital at Great Falls, Mont., suffering from a broken leg and shock, news dispatches reported last night.

The girl's leg was broken while she was playing on the Allen dude ranch, 90 miles from Great Falls. Getting her to the hospital proved a task. Ranch hands carried her on a stretcher in relays for more than a mile over a narrow pass. Then they moved her eight miles by boat to an ambulance, which took her to Great Falls.

Barbara and her parents had been on a vacation in the Montana mountains. Their home is a 445 Grove street, Glencoe.

M. A. AURELIUS, BANKER, SEIZED ON FRAUD CHARGE

Marcus A. Aurelius, former vice president of the closed Calumet National bank, was arrested yesterday in his home at 7030 Euclid avenue on a warrant charging larceny by bailee obtained by Mrs. Margaret Jones, 2608 East 76th street, widow of David R. Jones, former chief deputy coroner. Mrs. Jones charges that she gave Aurelius $26,000 worth of bonds in 1926 to sell for her and that she has not been able to obtain an accounting from him. She filed civil suit for the recovery of the bonds a year ago against Aurelius and Fred C. Bristol, a broker.

100 EASTERNERS ARE STRANDED IN WEST ON BUS TOUR

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25.—(AP)—The district attorney's office is investigating the plight of about 100 easterners stranded here on a summer motor bus tour to the west coast.

Most of them are school teachers and students from New York, New Jersey, and vicinity, buyers of a passage on a trip sponsored by the Coast to Coast Collegiate Camp Tours, Inc., of Bloomfield, N. J., headed by the Rev. Enos Jansen.

Manager P. Sprott of the automobile camp near here where the party is staying at present is holding its five motor buses to insure payment of his bill for a week's stay.

Miss Ethel M. Hughes, East Orange, N. J., school teacher, said she joined the tour at the Bloomfield headquarters and paid $295 for all expenses of a tour across the continent and back.

"We were to be out from July 1 to Aug. 30," she said.

"The Rev. E. O. Schwetters was head of the company and his wife started with the party as its leader. She left because he became ill at home and died. His nephew, the Rev. Enos Jansen, succeeded him as head of the company and assumed charge of the party."

HITLER DECREES STERILIZATION OF UNFIT GERMANS

Dictator Says He Intends to "Purify" Race.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

BERLIN, July 25.—A law aimed at purifying the German race by sterilization of the unfit was decreed by Chancellor Hitler's government today. The law provides for sterilization of persons afflicted with hereditary diseases, hereditary deficiencies such as idiocy, insanity, epilepsy, St. Vitus dance, blindness, deafness, or alcoholism, and serious bodily deformities.

Victims of these afflictions may apply for sterilization themselves, or their keepers or doctors in hospitals in which they are being treated may do so. A special court of physicians, to be known as the "hereditary health court," will decide whether or not an operation must be performed. Once the court approves an operation, it must be carried out, if necessary with force against the will of the victim.

Search Travelers' Luggage.

The secret police today conducted the biggest raid ever staged in Germany. All luggage carried by travelers in all states except Bavaria was searched for subversive literature. The secret police were reinforced by regular police, Nazi storm troopers, and Hitler guards.

The raids were directed, the police said, against "communistic couriers whose activities are noticeable in the reich."

Traffic in Berlin was jammed while police searched automobiles. After a careful search, auto owners who were found innocent were given regular passes to proceed.

Hundreds Are Arrested.

Arrests were reported in all centers, but no figures were revealed. Stuttgart reported that 200 persons were arrested in a single raid. The prisoners were charged with attempting to interfere with the national turnfest.

Authorities tonight said they were elated at the success of the raids, which, they said, showed the new secret police to be a particularly well trained body.

Two communists being transferred by storm troopers today from Setting to a concentration camp were shot on the way "while trying to escape."

Dispatches from Weimar tonight said that the wife and daughter of Herr Worch, former mayor of the town of Langeweise, had been arrested. Worch recently fled to Czechoslovakia, declaring he would continue to fight against the Hitlerites from Prague.

Place Censor Over Mail.

Authorities ruled today that mail must be watched more closely than ever to make sure that refugees from Germany are not receiving funds. Heretofore, Germans living abroad were entitled to receive $48 a month of their money on deposit in Germany. This will be no longer possible if the authorities classify them as refugees.

The town of Arnswalde today passed an ordinance sponsored by the Nazis providing that free thinkers and others who have abandoned the Christian faith shall not be allowed to be buried in the town's cemetery. The ordinance says such persons must remain outcasts in death as in life.

DISCHARGES BANDIT SUSPECT.

George Kennedy, 26 years old, 2154 North Lawler avenue, was discharged by Municipal Judge John Gutknecht yesterday when William McGregor, tobacconist of 3027 East 92d street, said he could not positively identify him as one of three men who robbed him of $100 on July 8.

BOY OF 5 GIVES BLOOD TO SAVE A 6 YEAR OLD

50 Volunteers Respond to Radio Plea.

Kenneth Stahl, 6 years old, has been a patient for four months in the Municipal Contagious Disease hospital, where he has suffered successive attacks of mumps, chicken pox, and scarlet fever. The long siege of sickness has left his vitality so low that yesterday the doctors said he must have a blood transfusion if he is to recover.

His father, Frank J. Stahl, 2249 Grand avenue, volunteered at once to give his son his blood. Tests, however, disclosed that the boy's blood was of type No. 3, while his father's blood was type No. 1, and consequently could not be used. The doctors explained to Stahl that they would have to find someone with blood of either type No. 3 or of type No. 4.

Professional blood givers charge from $25 to $50 for a transfusion, the doctors explained. Stahl shook his head sadly. He has been jobless for two years since his burglar alarm business failed. He has two other children, Virginia, 11 years old, and William, 9 years old, to care for since their mother died three years ago.

The doctors say that Kenneth, a blue eyed, fair haired boy, must have new blood within the next 48 hours if he is to have a chance to live.

In desperation the father appealed to THE TRIBUNE and to W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE radio station, for aid. At 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon a call for volunteers was broadcast from the radio station's rooms in the Drake hotel. Within half an hour the hospital had nearly fifty calls from men and women who announced their willingness to supply the boy with blood.

All these volunteers were directed to go to the hospital so that tests of their blood could be made. Half a dozen of them arrived at 3 o'clock. Meanwhile the word of Kenneth's need was spread through the hospital rooms. Dr. H. J. Thompkins, one of the staff physicians, said he believed that Harold Frost, 5 years old, 10857 Hermosa avenue, who was a patient in the hospital and who has just recovered from a severe attack of scarlet fever, might have the proper type of blood.

Dr. Thompkins first tested the blood of the volunteers and found that blood from none of the first half dozen could be given to Kenneth. Then he tested the blood of Harold and found that his was type No. 4, a "universal donor type." The fact that Harold had just recovered from scarlet fever was also a favorable circumstance, it was said.

At 4 o'clock the transfusion was completed, Harold giving Kenneth a little more than half a pint of blood. Dr. Thompkins said there was an immediate improvement in Kenneth's condition.

He said that Kenneth could be given only a little blood yesterday but that within the next three days he will need other transfusions. The blood for these will be taken from among another score of volunteers who have promised to go to the hospital today for tests.

TOUHY OBTAINS TEN DAY DELAY IN KIDNAP CASE

Bonds of $50,000 Each Are Set for Four.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 25.—[Special.]—Roger Touhy, head of a tough gang that has operated for several years in the northwest end of Cook county, Ill., and three of his associates, charged with the kidnaping of William Hamm Jr., in St. Paul, were arraigned here today before United States Commissioner Floyd E. Jenkins.

The hearing, which is to determine whether they will be removed to St. Paul, was continued for ten days and bond for each of the gangsters was fixed at $50,000. Lacking the surety, for the time being at least, all were held in the county jail, which is being closely guarded to prevent their escape.

Meanwhile, in St. Paul, both the police and federal authorities, who have taken charge of the prosecution, asserted that there was a mass of unimpeachable testimony against Touhy and his companions, Willie Sharkey, Edward [Father Tom] McFadden, and Gustave [Gloomy Gus] Schafer.

Claim Six Witnesses.

"We will have from four to six witnesses to identify the Illinois gangsters as those who engineered the Hamm plot," said Chief of Police Thomas E. Dahill.

"We have a very good case against these men," added L. L. Drill, United States district attorney.

It already had been disclosed that Hamm, a wealthy St. Paul brewer, had viewed the men in the office of Melvin H. Purvis, department of justice investigation chief, in Chicago and identified them as his abductors.

At the hearing Attorney William Scott Stewart of Chicago appeared for Touhy and his associates. Standing with his clients, who were handcuffed and surrounded by police and federal agents, Stewart asked that bonds be set at $10,000 each. This was vigorously opposed by E. J. Koeler, assistant United States district attorney, who suggested $100,000 surety for each.

Equality of Bonds Set.

Commissioner Jenkins at first suggested $50,000 for Touhy and $25,000 each for the others. To this Attorney Stewart objected, saying that all were charged with the same crime and there should be no discrimination.

"O, very well," said the commissioner, "just make it $50,000 apiece."

Attorney Stewart, who had branded the charges as preposterous, said the men would find it impossible to raise the required $200,000.

The government agents said there was legal proof against Touhy and his aids. Before appearing in the courtroom the alleged kidnapers were photographed at the Milwaukee detective bureau. Touhy appeared nervous.

Federal officials, confident that the order for removal to Minneapolis would be granted, said there was a possibility the usual fall grand jury session, ordinarily held in September or October, might be pushed ahead to allow quicker action on the case.

Auto Has Special Tank.

It is the belief of the investigators that the automobile in which Touhy and his aids were riding last Wednesday when it crashed and they were arrested was the one used to take Hamm from a hideout near Lake Geneva to Wyoming, Minn., where he was released after payment of a $100,000 ransom. The car was equipped with a special gasoline tank which would have enabled the abductors to make a ten hour trip, as Hamm's captors did, without a stop at a filling station.

MORMONS PLAN TO RECALL DAYS AT NAUVOO, ILL.

Nauvoo, Ill., July 25.—[Special.]—In this little village on the banks of the Mississippi river there is to be held tomorrow a ceremonial marking the settling of that place by the Mormons, whose official title was the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. A memorial will be erected.

Next week a pilgrimage of about 300 Mormons will come all the way from Salt Lake City and place another memorial in stone to recall the women's auxiliary of the Mormon church at Nauvoo.

N. Y. Parole Commission Peace Officer Kills Himself

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Everts P. Beck, for the last seventeen years a peace officer of the New York parole commission, shot and killed himself at the Central Y. M. C. A., Brooklyn, today. He left five notes, one of which was addressed to the police and asked them to pay for his funeral expenses from money which he had paid to a pension fund.

WIFE OF OIL MAN ISSUES AN APPEAL TO KIDNAP GANGSTERS

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Berenice Urschel today issued an appeal to the kidnapers who seized her husband, Charles F. Urschel, millionaire oil operator, last Saturday.

If they will get in touch with the intermediaries she names, Mrs. Urschel said, she will pledge herself not to seek the aid of the authorities nor to prosecute. So firm was she in her stand that policemen and federal agents withdrew from the vicinity of the oil man's home.

"I want my word believed," the wife said. "All I want to do now is to get Charles back unharmed."

An automobile containing Arthur Seeligson, in charge of the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping case at the family home; Lamar Seeligson, his brother, and Cliff Frates, brother of Mrs. Urschel, left the residence this afternoon for an unannounced destination.

MONGOVEN FREED AFTER U. S. QUIZ ON KIDNAPINGS

Leo Mongoven, public enemy allied with the Lake county gang of George [Bugs] Moran, was released from custody last night after having been held at the detective bureau since Monday night as a kidnaping suspect.

He was questioned by Melvin H. Purvis, head of the Chicago office of the federal bureau of investigation, concerning the kidnapings of William Hamm Jr., St. Paul brewer, and John [Jake the Barber] Factor, Chicago speculator. He was freed when Mr. Purvis decided he was not connected with the abductions.

Mongoven was arrested at Harrison street and Sacramento avenue on Monday night. He said he was operating the Bluff hotel at Antioch and had come to Chicago to shop for slot machines.

Four other prisoners, reputed to be minor members of the Touhy gang of kidnapers and booze operators, were held at the detective bureau last night. They are Martin Lesmer Sr., his son, Martin Jr.; Walter Kozak, and John Selman. They were arrested after they invaded the Idle Hour inn, a Morton Grove roadhouse, and tried to drive out the proprietor.

HUEY LONG SEES PRESIDENT ABOUT HOME PATRONAGE

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—Senator Huey P. Long appeared to be a changed man after seeing President Roosevelt today on patronage and flood control matters. There was no cocksureness about him as he emerged from a half hour's talk with the President, in which Postmaster General Farley participated.

The young political leader of Louisiana blustered into the Capital last night, declaring he was going to have his "rights" in the distribution of patronage in his home state. He was thoroughly aroused and condemning the administration's system of making appointments. He had not been recognized in two appointments recently in Louisiana. That of controller of customs was given to a follower of Senator Harrison of Mississippi, and an avowed enemy of the Long organization; Paul B. Habans was selected to direct the affairs of the Home Loan bank there.

LANDLORD SLAIN BY TENANT AS WIFE LOOKS ON

In the presence of his wife and baby, Frank Iaffaldano, 35 years old, owner of a grocery and a four story building at 1321 West Grand avenue, was shot four times and killed yesterday in a quarrel with a tenant, Raniero Ruggerio, 35 years old.

The wife, Anna, was standing on the threshold of the grocery with her son, Richard, 3 months old, in her arms, as her husband and the tenant disputed about the rent. Suddenly, she said, the tenant whipped out a pistol, fired four shots into Iaffaldano's body, and fled. The grocer was dead when neighbors lifted the wife from beside his body, where she had fallen in a faint. Ten police squads were ordered to search for the killer.

BROKER MISSING; POLICE ASKED TO HUNT HIM

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Police today were asked to search for C. Percy Latting Jr., a broker, who, according to his wife, vanished on July 16 from his home and has not been seen since.

He was "in poor physical and mental condition" when he left home, police said that Mrs. Latting told them.

Latting is the son of Charles P. Latting, who died in 1931 after practicing law here for 48 years. He is listed in the social register.

KIDNAP LEADER IS POINTED OUT BY GIRL VICTIM

Death Penalty Is Asked for Extortionist.

Kansas City, Mo., July 25.—[Special.]—Miss Mary McElroy, daughter of City Manager H. F. McElroy, took the stand in Circuit court here today and pointed out Walter H. McGee, former Oregon convict, as the leader of a band of kidnapers who seized her last May and held her a prisoner until a $30,000 ransom was paid.

In his opening statement of the case, Assistant County Prosecutor Michael W. O'Hern announced that the state of Missouri would demand a death penalty for McGee. Assisting Mr. O'Hern is Joseph B. Keenan, assistant United States attorney general assigned to kidnaping cases. He sat at the counsel table.

Positive in Her Answers.

Miss McElroy, trimly dressed, was direct and positive in her answers to questions. She told how the kidnapers went to the McElroy home, ordered her out of a bath, gave her time to dress and then carried her away in an automobile.

She recalled threats made by her captors and pictured for the jury the surroundings in which she spent twenty-nine hours in their custody; how she was chained to the wall of a basement that had been used as a chicken roost and heavily guarded.

H. F. McElroy, father of Miss McElroy, followed her to the witness stand. He pointed a finger at McGee and positively identified him as the man to whom he paid $30,000 for the release of his daughter.

Maid Also a Witness.

Another witness called was Heda Christensen, maid at the McElroy home. It was she who opened the door when the abductors arrived. Her testimony showed that one of the men pointed a pistol at her and said: "Either open that door for us or I'll shoot through it."

Prosecutor O'Hern said he would prove that the man who made the threats was McGee. He added that Clarence Stevens, still a fugitive, was the second man of the pair who appeared at the city manager's residence.

Throughout the statements of Mr. O'Hern and the testimony of Miss McElroy and her father the accused kidnaper maintained a stolid attitude.

"FIRE MOUNTAIN" OF SALVADOR POURS OUT LAVA

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

SAN SALVADOR, July 25.—The Volcano Izalco, Salvador's burning mountain, which is called the "lighthouse of Central America" by navigators in the Pacific, is showing alarming signs of increasing activity.

Great quantities of smoke and lava are pouring from an enormous crevice on the south side of the peak and terrific rumblings are heard continually. Fear is expressed lest the lava stream reach the village of Izalco, at the foot of the mountain.

Izalco was last violent in March, 1932, when ashes from the volcano, which is 25 miles inland, fell on steamers off the coast. Its activity then preceded eruptions along the Cordilleras and the Andes in mid-April, overwhelming towns in Chile.

Boston Brewer Guarded After Extortion Demand

Boston, Mass., July 25.—(AP)—An attempt to extort $15,000 under threat of death from Theodore C. Haffenreffer, head of one of the largest breweries in New England, was disclosed by police tonight. Police said the brewer, who is in seclusion at a summer home in South Hampton, N. H., was under police guard.

FARMER ADMITS LUER KIDNAPING; NAMES OTHERS

Three of Five in Gang Under Arrest.

St. Louis, Mo., July 25.—[Special.]—Michael Musiala, farmer living near Madison, Ill., today made a complete confession of his own and his confederates' part in the kidnaping of August Luer, wealthy banker and retired packer of Alton, Ill., according to Chief of Police Joseph Gerk.

It was on the farm of Musiala that Luer was held prisoner in a cave from July 11 to July 16. He was finally released without payment of ransom, the abductors having failed to get in touch with relatives of the 78 year old banker.

Musiala declared that Randall Eugene Norvell of Nameoki, Ill., a professional bondsman, was the leader of the kidnaping band and the brains of the plot. Norvell is now under arrest at Benton, Ill., and has been charged by federal authorities with use of the mails to extort in connection with the kidnaping.

The Madison farmer also asserted that the release of Luer was opposed by Norvell.

In general the confession Musiala corroborated that of Percy Michael Fitzgerald, who is also under arrest. Both men said that besides themselves and Norvell, the participants in the kidnaping were "Irish" O'Malley and Mrs. Vivian Chase. The last named pair are being sought by police all over the country.

A telegram from authorities at Seward, Neb., yesterday stated that a woman suspected of being Mrs. Chase had been taken into custody there. Today, however, a comparison of finger prints at Lincoln, Neb., was said to have demonstrated that the prisoner was not Mrs. Chase.

Bing Crosby Arms Against Kidnapers of Infant Son

Los Angeles, Cal., July 25.—[Special.]—Bing Crosby, crooner, today obtained a sheriff's office permit to arm his newly hired bodyguard with a gun and decorate him with a special officers' badge. Crosby fears possible kidnaping attempts against his infant son, just born to Dixie Lee.

ARREST MILWAUKEE MAN; ACCUSE HIM OF KIDNAP PLOT IN IOWA

Primghar, Ia., July 25.—(AP)—Sheriff's officers today arrested Charles Vierck, 53, of Milwaukee, Wis., in connection with the alleged extortion attempt against A. J. Sieh, well to do retired farmer of Sutherland.

Vierck was bound over to the October grand jury on charges of attempted blackmail and kidnaping at a preliminary hearing before Mrs. D. C. Peck, justice of the peace, today. Bond was fixed at $20,000, which he was unable to furnish, and he was returned to the county jail.

Officers declared they had found paper in Vierck's suitcase similar to that on which the threatening notes had been written, his fountain pen containing similar ink, and binder twine among his belongings.

NOBODY WANTS WEATHER KIOSK, U. S. DISCOVERS

Officials at the United States courthouse were in a quandary yesterday as to how to dispose of the old kiosk, displaying weather maps and thermometers at the northeast corner of the building. The kiosk was to be auctioned yesterday afternoon, but after 50 prospective buyers had been notified, only the auctioneer, C. A. Donnel, chief meteorologist of the weather bureau, and five reporters appeared, and the sale had to be abandoned.

The kiosk, which was erected in 1909, is 9 feet tall and 4 feet square, and weighs 2,640 pounds. Orders came from Washington that in accordance with federal economy plans the kiosk, which costs $25 a year to maintain, must go. The joker, Mr. Donnel discovered, is that nobody seems to want a kiosk, particularly as the buyer would not only have to remove it immediately but repair the pavement when it is torn out.

AIMEE HUTTON RETURNS TO U. S.; STILL LOVES HIM

Shocked by Husband's Divorce Plans.

Norfolk, Va., July 25.—(AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, expressing herself as "shocked" at her husband's action in seeking a divorce but still "tremendously" in love with him, returned to American soil today after seven months abroad.

Reclining on a bunk on the liner City of Havre she received interviewers, told them of her love for David Hutton, the choir singer she married two years ago, declined to make any statement that might be interpreted as "unkind" to him and then apparently collapsed.

Later she posed for photographers and news cameramen and then took a 25 mile automobile drive to Virginia Beach, a resort where she remained until time to return to Norfolk to board the City of Havre to continue her journey to Baltimore.

Interviewed in Captain's Suite.

The interview was conducted in the suite of Capt. Harold T. McCaw, commanding officer of the City of Havre. With her in the impromptu reception room was her daughter, Mrs. Roberta Smythe, and her nurse, Miss Bernadette Middleton.

She told how "tremendously shocked" she was to get the wireless message after she set sail from France that her husband had started divorce proceedings.

"It is all so hasty that I don't know what to say," she said. "His last word to me was that he was counting the hours until I returned."

Asked if she would fight the divorce she said she "felt incompetent to make a statement."

"I can't believe it," she continued.

She was asked if she still loved Hutton, who asserted in his divorce suit that he had been treated like a "pet poodle," with plenty of affection but "no privileges."

"Of course I still love him," she replied, "more than anything in the world."

No Criticism of Hutton.

The conversation veered to a statement attributed to Hutton that he might "blow the lid off the Angelus temple" if officials of the temple did not refrain from criticising him.

"I don't think he said it," she responded, and a moment later was denying that Hutton had ever "run" the temple she built.

"I am the pastor," she told the reporters.

"I wouldn't want to say anything unkind," she replied a moment later when asked about Hutton's abandonment of the temple to sing in vaudeville.

It was at this juncture that her lips quivered and Miss Middleton rushed to her side, asking that everybody leave. Word was sent to Aimee later asking her to give her version of the message from Paris, announcing the birth of a child. Though no direct reply was received, her companions reiterated that it had been done to discover where there was a "leak" in messages she sent to the temple.

Her costume today was described by women on board the ship as "smart." She had on a wool crêpe beige dress and around her head was tightly wrapped what Miss Middleton said was a tie-around—a scarf of net to keep her hair in place.

Miss Middleton said Mrs. Hutton underwent an operation in Paris for an acute abdominal obstruction. It was while she was in the hospital that the "baby hoax telegram" was sent.

Wife Charges Husband Won't Feed Her

Gets Support Money

Master in Chancery Max Korshak recommended yesterday to Circuit Judge Walter J. LaBuy that he allow Mrs. Florence Liebling, 2616 West 60th street, $12 a week for support of herself and her daughter, Lois, 17 months old, pending trial of her bill for divorce against Herman Liebling. The bill, filed by Attorney Victor Frohlich, charges that although Liebling owns a restaurant, he refuses to provide his wife with sufficient food.

CUBAN AMNESTY LAW IS PASSED; UP TO MACHADO

U. S. Plan to Bring Peace to Island Takes Shape.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, July 25.—Rumbling over rough road, the mediation by the United States between President Machado's government and his political foes, better known as oppositionists, continues its slow but apparently certain progress.

The political amnesty law sponsored by the administration was passed by the house of representatives tonight with only three negative votes. The senate passed the bill by a vote of 20 to 4. President Machado is expected to sign the measure soon.

Dissension has arisen in the ranks of the opposition over the wide range included in the amnesty law, which covers all political crimes committed since Jan. 1, 1927, as well as over the proposed round table conference between oppositionists and government delegates, presided over by United States Ambassador Sumner Welles in his capacity as mediator.

Opposition Balks at Terms.

Powerful figures in the opposition have expressed their nonconformity with the amnesty program as it has been drawn up by administration officials, claiming that it would grant liberty to convicted prisoners who cannot be described as "political prisoners," but who have committed offenses for which they would have been imprisoned in normal times.

It is further contended that the government is attempting to make the restoration of constitutional rights conditional on the success of the amnesty bill in congress, thus de facto making it conditional on the success of the mediation.

Ambassador Welles, however, is reported to have replied to these protests that the privilege of granting amnesty is within the province of the government; that the mediation proceedings were not dependent on the fate of the proposed amnesty.

Probes Slaying of American.

Ambassador Welles has paused long enough from his mediation efforts to look into the case of the only American known to have been killed in Cuba's political warfare.

This American was Arthur P. Tagle of Key West, an innocent bystander, who was shot down in a Havana street by Policeman Dominguez Perez on Nov. 13, 1930, during a student riot.

The policeman was arraigned when investigation disclosed indiscriminate use of firearms, but was released on bail pending further inquiry to establish a murder charge. Since then he has disappeared, although he is still on the police pay roll.

It is understood that the American authorities have made representations demanding that the policeman be brought to trial.

OHIO UNIVERSITY CUTS PAY ROLL $652,057; 255 LOSE THEIR JOBS

Columbus, O., July 25.—[Special.]—By dismissing 255 members of the teaching staff, cutting the salaries of all university employés receiving more than $1,000, and retiring seven professors with the rank of emeritus, the Ohio State university board of trustees reduced the total pay roll $652,057.

The budget is retroactive to July 1 and provides for a cut of from 3 to 10 per cent on all salaries of more than $1,000 and the placing of 73 teachers and nonacademic employés on part time service.

The seven faculty members retired include a number of the best known members of the teaching staff.

With their departments they are Professors Joseph Nelson Bradford, architecture; Joseph Villiers Denney, English; Berthold A. Eisenlohr, German; Arthur W. Hodgman, classical languages; William T. Magruder, mechanical engineering, and Herbert Osborn, zoölogy and entomology, and Associate Professor Edwin P. Durant, psychology.

WIFE WINS WRIT TO GUARD MATE FROM A DIVORCEE

Judge Charles A. Williams yesterday granted Mrs. Agatha Benepe Overbagh, 505 Sheridan road, Evanston, an injunction in the Superior court restraining Mrs. Luella S. Tyler, a divorcée, from molesting Mrs. Overbagh's husband, Donald Cameron Overbagh, a promoter.

Both Mrs. Tyler and Mrs. Overbagh were in court, but did not testify. Attorney Benjamin B. Davis read Mrs. Overbagh's bill of complaint, said to be the first of its kind filed in Cook county, to Judge Williams. The bill charged that Mrs. Tyler broke up the Overbagh home, and that after Overbagh returned to his wife, Mrs. Tyler twice came to Chicago from California to try to induce him to return to her.

Attorney Harry S. Stark, representing Mrs. Tyler, charged that Overbagh "was hiding behind a woman's skirts," and that the real purpose of the action was to prevent Mrs. Tyler from collecting notes for $2,000 which Overbagh had given her. Judge Williams, in granting the injunction, instructed the attorneys not to include anything pertaining to money in the order.

Georgia Neighbors Dispute Ford's Right to Close Roads

Savannah, Ga., July 25.—[Special.]—Henry Ford and his country neighbors in Bryan county, a short distance from Savannah, went to federal court here today to determine whether or not Mr. Ford has the authority to close public roads in the county which run through his large estate. So far the question is undetermined. Judge W. H. Harrett of the federal court continued the hearing until October.

Canada Lifts Ban Against 'Amos 'n' Andy' Over Insult

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., July 25.—Following a promise of apology by the sponsors of "Amos 'n' Andy" broadcast programs over an alleged slur cast upon Great Britain in regard to the war debts, the Canadian governmental radio commission tonight lifted a ban on the pair. The alleged slur consisted of comparing Britain and other European nations to a man assisted from an accident refusing to pay bills.

15% REDUCTION IN 1932 TAXES SEEN BY JACOBS

Work Is to Start Soon on Assessment Rolls.

TAX COLLECTIONS.

Real estate tax collections yesterday totaled $258,917. A total of $29,053,114 has been collected since enforcement of the Kerner-Skarda act began last April 28. The day's real estate tax collections and the uncollected taxes for four years are shown in the following table:

	1928.	1929.
July 25 .....$	14,480 $	47,365
Uncollected ...	16,569,853	49,024,551
	1930.	1931.
July 25 .....$	76,210 $	120,853
Uncollected ...	79,247,744	107,892,194

The day's collection of 1931 personal property taxes totaled $7,587.

Real estate tax bills for 1932 will be substantially below those of 1931. This was indicated yesterday by County Assessor J. L. Jacobs, who called upon eight taxing and civic bodies to offer his office coöperation and information toward decreasing real estate valuations.

Assessor Jacobs said that his office already has secured considerable information on the declines in real estate valuations, price levels, and general economic indices for 1932, as compared to 1931. From this information the county assessor's office has estimated that assessment and tax bills will average about 15 per cent under those of 1931.

Begin Work in Two Weeks.

The eight agencies were asked to forward all information within two weeks, when work will begin on the 1932 assessment rolls. Requests for coöperation were sent to the state tax commission, the board of tax appeals, the Chicago Real Estate board, the real estate advisory committee, the Joint Committee on Real Estate Valuations, the bureau of land economics of Northwestern university, the city controller, and the Committee on Public Expenditures.

In the 1931 quadrenniel assessment Assessor Jacobs reduced real estate valuations in the county 26 per cent from $3,460,000,000 to $2,575,000,000. A 15 per cent reduction for 1932 would bring the total assessed valuation of county real estate to $2,188,750,000.

Jarecki Collects $80,000.

County Judge Jarecki yesterday collected $80,000 in his court from property owners seeking to avoid tax receivership under the Kerner-Skarda act. The day's total, which set a record, was hailed by the judge as conclusive evidence that the tax strike is broken.

Of almost a hundred cases called before the judge, receivers were appointed in only six cases. Other property owners made payments. Several cases were continued on the promise of property owners to make payments within a few days.

"This court is achieving its object to collect back taxes," said Judge Jarecki. "The consistent and prominent publicity given to the work of this court by THE TRIBUNE has assisted immeasureably in bringing delinquent taxes to the local governments."

File 200 Petitions.

Receivers were yesterday ordered for the Bennington apartments, 24th street and Indiana avenue, which owes $10,867 property at 1038 Balmoral avenue and 5400 Kenmore avenue, owned by Emil Kraut, owing $20,717, and three pieces of property owned by Orville P. Curran. Curran owes $6,834 on 1039 Balmoral avenue, $3,754 on 312 Lee street, Evanston, and $7,790 on 5800 Kenmore avenue.

County Treasurer McDonough filed 200 petitions to place tax delinquent properties in receivership. The properties owe $808,765 in back taxes.

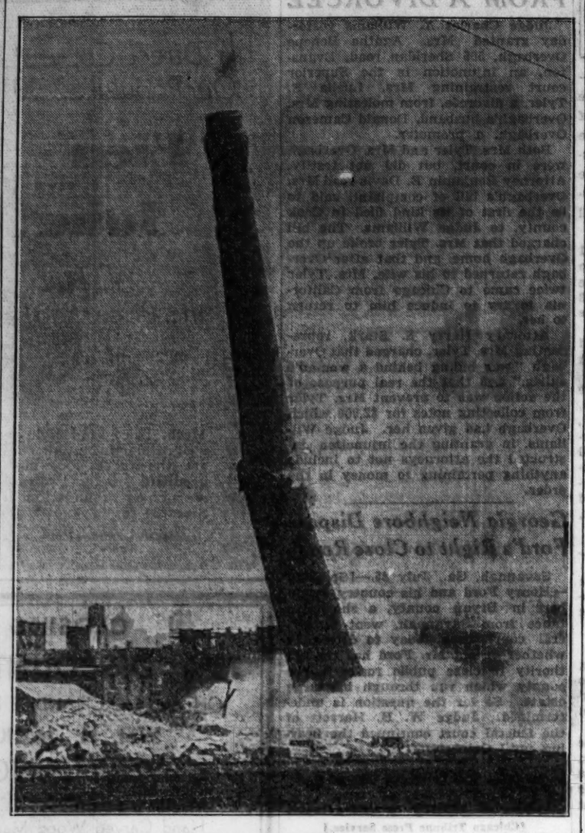

City Pays Its Employes for First Half of April

Payment of city employés, including those of the municipal tuberculosis sanitarium, for the first half of April was started yesterday by City Controller Upham and City Treasurer Kearns following a conference with Mayor Kelly. Miscellaneous license fee collections supplied the $1,800,000 required to meet the pay roll. When it is completed, city employés will be three months in arrears on their pay.

CAMERA THIEF SET FREE.

Walter Wolf, 19 years old, 3412 West Jackson boulevard, was released after spending 5 months in the Bridewell yesterday when Municipal Judge John Gutknecht sustained a motion to vacate a six months' sentence imposed on him for stealing a movie camera from a World's Fair exhibit.

N. Y. DENTIST IS STRANGLED AND ROBBED; HUNT 2

Victim Once Resident of Elgin, Ill.

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—With his hands and feet tied together behind his back and his mouth gagged by a strip of bed sheeting that had caused his death by strangulation, the body of Dr. E. Warren Sylla, 65, a well to do dentist, was found this morning on his bedroom floor in his apartment at 21 East 90th street. His place had been looted.

Dr. Sylla, who came here several years ago from Elgin, Ill., was well known in New York, having maintained offices for eighteen years in the Scribner building, a few blocks below St. Patrick's cathedral. His practice numbered many wealthy and prominent persons, including Cardinal Hayes, Bishop John J. Dunn, Irvin S. Cobb, Fanny Ward, the late Marc Klaw, and others well known in society, music, and the theater.

Hunt Two Young Men.

Police headquarters sent out a general alarm for two young men described as being American in appearance, about 30 years old, and fairly well dressed. Two such men were known to have been in Dr. Sylla's apartment on Monday night, and were seen leaving the house, carrying handbags, early today. One of the men sought had been living in Dr. Sylla's apartment for eight days before the murder, according to Laura Hughes, the dentist's maid, who said that she had never seen the man before and did not know his name.

Robbery was the motive for the crime. The police said the apartment had been looted of a large amount of currency which Dr. Sylla had obtained on Monday by cashing a check to supply funds for a month's vacation trip to Virginia, on which he was to have left Thursday.

Also missing was a star sapphire ring valued at $1,000 which the dentist habitually wore on his right hand. Several empty jewel boxes were found in the dentist's bedroom, but the police said they had not learned what they had contained.

Shared Apartment with Architect.

Dr. Sylla shared his apartment with Frank S. Nute, an architect, who had been ill and had left New York on Memorial day to spend the summer in Virginia. Dr. Sylla's intended vacation in Virginia was to visit Mr. Nute, according to the maid.

Friends of Dr. Sylla told the police that the dentist's six room residence was a coöperative apartment, which he had purchased five years ago.

He was a bachelor and was born in Elgin, Ill. He attended the University of Michigan and was graduated from the New York College of Dentistry in 1892.

Police recalled the famous Joseph Bowne Elwell murder 13 years ago. Dr. Sylla's patients included Elwell, bridge whist expert, whose murder remains unsolved. Dr. Gardner said tonight that although Elwell was in Dr. Sylla's clientele, he was not an intimate friend of the dentist.

ACCUSED OF FATAL STABBING.

Bruno Barsanti, 45 years old, 1344 Larrabee street, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday by a coroner's jury which investigated the fatal stabbing Sunday of Eugene Cottini, 38 years old, 1440 Larrabee street.

GANDHI EMBARKS ON "FRESH AND SACRED MISSION IN HIS LIFE"

AHMADABAD, India, July 25.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi announced today his decision to disband his "Ash-ram," or College of Devotees, at Sabarmati and to embark on a "fresh and sacred mission in life." The Indian leader explained that he must discontinue his seminary because it was to him the most precious thing on earth.

Hundreds and thousands of people, he said, had lost everything in the struggle for Indian independence and he felt that it was up to him and the members of the "Ashram" to make a sacrifice on the eve of embarking on a new "sacred mission."

The nature of the mission was not disclosed, but it was believed to be connected with Gandhi's plan for individual civil disobedience in place of the former mass campaign.

11 CITY DRIVERS DISMISSED FOR OUTLAW STRIKE

The city civil service commission yesterday dismissed from city service eleven truck drivers who took part in the strike called by outlaw teamster unions May 23.

The employés, John F. McMahon, James Whelahan, David McAleer, Frank Haggerty, William McPhillips, Timothy Dwyer, Earl Dwyer, John Dwyer, Thomas Cunningham, Arthur Absom, and Ben Fogilo, were found guilty of being absent from duty without leave, neglect of duty, insubordination and conspiracy to thwart the city administration. Nine more teamsters are to be tried today, among them Charles O'Kelly, business agent of one of the outlaw unions.

In their drive against labor racketeering and the gangster controlled Trucking and Transport, Inc., with which the outlaw unions were allied, Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney demanded that the striking teamsters give up their affiliation with those unions and join the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, an American Federation of Labor affiliate. All but 20 of the 275 strikers did so.

MEALS ON DINING CARS TAXABLE IF EATEN IN STATE

Springfield, Ill., July 25.—[Special.]—Meals served on dining cars in interstate commerce are taxable only when the meals are served and consumed in Illinois, according to an interpretation of the retailers' occupation tax issued here today by J. M. Braude, assistant to Director Joseph J. Rice of the department of finance.

"The tax does not apply," Mr. Braude continued, "when meals ordered in Illinois are not received and consumed by patrons until the dining cars have crossed from Illinois into another state. However, the tax does apply to meals ordered and partially delivered to and consumed by customers while dining cars are still within the borders of Illinois. It also applies to meals that may be ordered in the borders of Illinois."

Resinol

Now fill out that skinny, unattractive figure so quick you'll be amazed!

Everybody knows that doctors for years have prescribed yeast to build up health for rundown men and women. But now with this new discovery you can get far greater tonic results than with ordinary yeast—regain health, and in addition put on pounds of good solid flesh—and in a far shorter time.

Not only are thousands quickly gaining beauty-bringing pounds, but also clear radiant skin, freedom from indigestion and constipation, new pep.

Concentrated 7 times

This amazing new product, Ironized Yeast, is made from specially cultured, imported beer yeast, the richest yeast known, which by a new process is concentrated 7 times —made 7 times more powerful.

But that is not all! This marvelous, health-building yeast is then ironized with 3 special kinds of iron which strengthen the blood, add abounding pep.

Day after day, as you take Ironized Yeast, watch gawky angles fill out, flat chest develop and skinny limbs round out attractively. And with this will come a radiantly clear skin, new health—you're an entirely new person.

Danger in skinny body

Authorities warn that skinny, anemic, nervous people are far more liable to serious infections and fatal wasting diseases than the strong well-built person. So begin at once to get back the rich blood and healthy flesh you need. Do it before it is too late.

Results guaranteed

No matter how skinny and weak you may be, this marvelous new Ironized Yeast should build you up in a few short weeks as it has thousands. If not delighted with the results of the very first package, your money instantly refunded.

Only be sure you get genuine Ironized Yeast, not some imitation that cannot give the same results. Insist on the genuine with "IY" stamped on each tablet.

1 A. M. surprises in the suburbs. Mr. and Mrs. D. worried all evening about the fire going out. Now Mr. D. will change his clothes and build a fire and Mrs. D. will rush upstairs to put extra blankets over the children. And some day soon the D.'s will have gas heat—and an end to this nuisance.

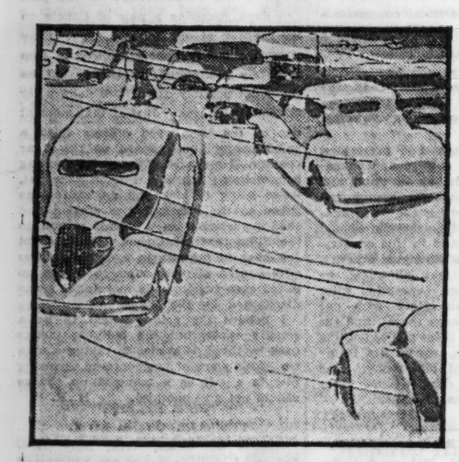

GAS HEAT
the luxury
now priced
for the majority

Installed at our expense . . . removed at our expense if you don't like it!

No other fuel ever made such an offer!

Poor Jones! He still thinks he's saving money spending his spare time shoveling fuel and cleaning out ashes. Too bad he doesn't know he could have gas heat for a few cents a day more and be rid of shoveling and the nuisance of ashes forever.

The H's fuel tank would be empty just during a blizzard like this, and it looks as if the H's will have to freeze for a while or move to a friend's home. And when the snow is gone, and Mr. H. finds another big rut across his lawn where a fuel delivery truck ran over his grass—there'll be another gas-heated home.

This is a picture of a woman taking care of the furnace in a gas-heated home. She used to shovel—shake the furnace—clean out ashes—on occasion split kindling and build a fire. Now she sets the thermostat—gas heat does all the rest.

The fire went out at 10 below and doctor says that Mary T. will have to stay in bed for a week. And Mrs. T. will be down cellar every half hour watching and shoveling. "Figure up the cost Mr. T.—and you'll put in gas heat—that never goes out."

Mrs. B. used to worry every minute she was out of the house about the fire going out or getting too hot. Since they put in gas heat—she stays out all day if she wants to and never gives it a thought. Gas heat automatically regulates itself—day and night.

This is a picture of what used to be the coal bin in the C. home since they put in clean automatic gas heat. The youngsters play here on rainy days and the grown-ups on Saturday nights. And Mrs. C's. house is now always spic and span as a result.

YOU INVEST NOTHING!

Without ONE CENT of investment by you, we install the most modern burner in your furnace or boiler. If you are satisfied it stays. If it does not prove every claim—and you are the sole judge—out it comes and your former heating system is re-installed — AT OUR EXPENSE. No other fuel for house heating dares make such an offer. Why? Because none except gas has the confidence of perfection.

DON'T order your winter's fuel until you know all the facts about the new plan and the new low rates for heating your home with gas.

The price of gas for home heating now is only one-half the rate of 1930-31. Gas—the luxury heat—is now priced for the majority. Thrown into the bargain is an invisible servant who does your dirty work.

Gas does all the work

When you use gas for home-heating, a single match represents your kindling pile for the entire winter. One match lights your furnace in the Fall. A turn of your finger extinguishes it in the Spring. Throughout the winter, whenever you want the house warmer or cooler—just set the thermostat. THAT'S ALL.

Home-heating with gas eliminates days and nights of back-breaking coal shoveling . . . dirty hours of hauling ashes . . . weeks of seasonal house cleaning . . . replacing grime smudged curtains . . . slaving to clean soot streaked walls. You save the wear and tear and expense of reconditioning your home and its furnishings. Gas-heating is real clean housekeeping heat.

A servant that never sleeps

Gas is the clean, healthful, only truly automatic fuel. Everyone—even its competition, must concede that. No longer need you trudge the cellar stairs . . soiling your clothes cutting kindling . . . starting fires . . . stoking the furnace . . . hauling the ashes . . . scrubbing smudge spots from the cellar and the rest of the house . . . inhaling dust and soot.

The small gas pipe we install in your furnace or boiler eliminates all this—It is a phantom servant working twenty-four hours a day. A safe, dependable, clean servant that never sleeps.

Gas is the only fuel that is not delivered on your premises by grimy or black, dusty methods. When gas is piped into your furnace or boiler room you are freed of all care, worry, grime and dust. Your gas-making plant is where it should be—far away from your home.

Let gas sell itself

Tell us you want to try gas-heating. Using your present heating apparatus, we will install the necessary equipment within four or five hours—ENTIRELY AT OUR EXPENSE. If at any time during the first year you are not content, we will remove the equipment—WITHOUT FURTHER EXPENSE TO YOU—and replace your former heating equipment in as good or better condition than it was the day we removed it. And anytime during the first year means during the first, second, twelfth or any other month.

During the nine heating months of the first year you pay only $3 a month rental on the equipment we install in the average home—you pay nothing during the three summer months, when the heating system is idle. This rental charge will be sent along with your bill for the gas you use. But if, anytime during the first year, you are not satisfied with gas-heating, all you do is order it out. Out it goes. And rental stops immediately.

It is a daring offer. No form of fuel used through the centuries has ever dared match it. Only gas has the confidence of perfection. Even those who in the past paid twice as much as you will pay for gas-heating today—at the low rates—found it the perfect fuel.

Consider this "new deal" in home-heating. You owe it to yourself and your family to know the facts . . . the new low cost at the new low rate . . . the comforts . . . the conveniences . . . the advantages in health, comfort and happiness.

Let the small gas pipe—running into your cellar—help keep your home, your back yard and your entire neighborhood wholesome and healthful.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE PRESIDENT'S APPEAL.

In one of those ingratiating and impressive addresses to the nation which he has the happy gift of making, the President has set forth the general ideas and intentions underlying his program of recovery and appealed to business men throughout the country and to labor to cooperate with government for their realization. The President reviewed with justifiable gratification the steps taken to deal with the banking crisis and to strengthen the national credit through retrenchment in the regular expenditures of the federal government, and, reiterating his views of the necessity for restoring the purchasing power of the farming population through the reduction of agricultural production, entered upon his main theme, the working out of the plans for industrial recovery.

For this solution the President puts his reliance upon a democratic self-discipline in industry which will, in his opinion, make possible general increases in wages and shortening of hours. Pointing out that without united action a few selfish men will defeat the purpose of the movement to increase employment and the purchasing power of labor, and asserting that such united action is better for the employer as well as the employé than unemployment and low wages, because it makes more buyers for his product, the President announces his nation-wide effort, confident that it will succeed if our people understand it. "The essence of the plan is a universal limitation of hours of work per week for the individual by common consent and a universal payment of wages above a minimum, also by common consent." For this accomplishment the President appeals to the employers of the nation and to the workers to go along with him in a spirit of understanding and helpfulness.

There is no question that the President's appeal will have a sincere and whole hearted response from the main body of American business men and of the nation. There is throughout the country, we think, irrespective of party, section or condition, the will to coöperate with him as far as is humanly possible and the hope that his generous expectations will be fulfilled. Doubts there are and must be of measures and methods proposed, but in spite of the fact that many of these are radical departures from American theory and practice and most serious in their implications, no government in our history, even in war time, has been more assured of the public's will to give coöperation, to make sacrifices when needed, to cope to the best of its ability with the difficulties inherent in the practical application of highly generalized plans to the complexities of our economic fabric.

The President has, therefore, the good fortune to be assured of the spirit essential to any substantial degree of accomplishment in his program, the spirit which through his appeal he would invoke. What will defeat the national effort will not be lack of that spirit but a disposition on the part of the agencies of government to force upon the complex relations and diverse conditions with which private enterprise must deal, even to survive, rules valid enough in general theory, but crippling or destructive if frozen into bureaucratic formulas. The President is impressed with the simplicity of the principle of coöperation, but the problem of adjusting to general rules and formulas the competitive enterprise of a nation is not simple and calls for fully as much self-discipline, good will and regard for the rights and interests of the individual or individual enterprise in the agencies of administration and control as in the managers of business.

CONNELLY NOT WANTED.

The refusal of the soviet government to permit the American playwright, Marc Connelly, to enter Russia is mysterious, but characteristic. Mr. Connelly is in no sense a propagandist or politician, but a creative artist, whose interest in a trip to Russia, as he asserts with obvious sincerity, is defined by his own professional concerns—namely, to see the Russian theater. But the communist masters of Russia, themselves lacking in any comprehension of art, unscrupulous propagandists and bigots, cannot credit Connelly with good faith or understand his interests. They are supersensitive to observation of any sort not controlled and directed in their own interests and know that their system cannot stand any other. Only trained seals are allowed to visit the soviet Utopia or remain any time within its borders.

A WELCOME VISITOR.

Congressman Rainey, speaker of the house, has been in Chicago a good deal of recent months. His visits here may well serve to advance the welfare of the nation as a whole. As speaker, Mr. Rainey holds a position second in importance only to that of the President in shaping the policies of government. It is well that so influential a man should have frequent and intimate contact with Chicago, the nation's industrial capital. He can see here, better perhaps than anywhere else, the profound injury which has been worked upon the country by the heavy hand of government, particularly through ruinous taxation. He will find the same condition in other communities, but here, where industry is more diversified than in any other industrial center, he can become acquainted at first hand with the damage done to almost every branch of manufacturing as well as to agriculture and trade. He can also observe the stimulating effect of the World's Fair on Chicago's business and he can hardly fail to be impressed with the wholesome effect of this pickup in Chicago on business throughout the nation. The stimulus of the World's Fair is inconsiderable compared to the results which would flow from a policy of government expenditure and taxation which would relieve citizens generally of a substantial portion of the burden which they now must bear.

MEYERING SHOULD RESIGN OR BE REMOVED.

The demand of President Loesch of the Chicago Crime Commission for the removal of William D. Meyering as sheriff and for a grand jury investigation of the circumstances surrounding the murder of Policeman John Sevick should have and we are confident will have the strong support of this community.

The demand for the removal from office of Sheriff Meyering is not based upon the killing of Policeman Sevick alone, but upon that disgraceful disclosure of inefficient or worse than inefficient administration of the sheriff's office as a culmination of official neglect repeatedly revealed by less horrifying events. Sheriff Meyering has had the full benefit of an unusual patience of press and public with slack discipline and more than dubious failures of duty. His record in the war was not and is not forgotten, but it can no longer procure for him immunity from a public indignation justified by his persistent failure to do his duty as a citizen and a responsible official. The conditions of flagrant crime with which he has failed to cope, with even a moderate degree of fidelity and competence, are an intolerable threat to the community, and it is time to put a faithful and competent man in the important office he holds. The murder of the brave and loyal policeman Sevick in circumstances which could not have existed if the personnel and direction of the sheriff's office were what the public has a right to demand calls imperatively for Meyering's resignation or removal.

PROGRESSIVE RAILROADS.

The railways are frequently criticized for their lack of aggressiveness in developing service that will be more satisfactory to the traveling public, but an exception can certainly be made in the case of the introduction by certain carriers of air-conditioned trains—or is airplane service providing the spur? One needs only to take a trip to Washington on the Capitol Limited and return on the Chicago Special in this superheated season to realize what a forward step has been taken. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company is to be congratulated.

The next logical step to insure increased patronage is to shorten the schedule of the train to make the speed of the Broadway Limited. This would provide practically overnight service to Washington, always highly desirable to the business man.

The Pennsylvania railroad operates air-conditioned trains between New York and Washington, but neither the Broadway nor the Century of the New York Central offers anything better than a pre-cooling system at terminals, the effect of which disappears within two hours. Airplane travel between Chicago and New York has been increasing steadily, and the only effective way to stem diversions from the railway is to provide equal comfort through air-conditioned trains. There are rumors that the Pennsylvania and New York Central have this step under consideration. They should adopt it as speedily as possible.

Editorial of the Day

THE CHICAGO WAY.

[Atlantic News-Telegraph.]

Much criticism has been uttered and written of Chicago, a large percentage of it justified, some of it not justified. The nation's second city has made somewhat of a spectacle of itself in years gone by by the persistence with which it has clung to some of its rotten political philosophy and equally rotten political leadership, in whose caldrons have been brewed the noxious poisons which have permeated its financial institution, bankrupted its treasury, and made it impossible for the city to pay its teachers and other trusted employés, while producing a chaotic fiscal condition which has been the concern of those Chicagoans who desire that their city shall occupy high place with all its affairs.

Chicago, too, has harbored a vicious element of society, the gangsters, which element has operated because of the same rotten political conditions which were at the root of its financial troubles. It has had more unfavorable publicity from this condition than a little. These indictments are justified by the record and the palpable facts. But there is another side to the city of Chicago, and that is its ability to do things, fostered by forward looking citizens who are back of the real city and its real destiny. This is the side of Chicago as a civic institution in keeping with its motto, "I Will." It is the spirit which has builded a metropolis of four million people on the banks of Lake Michigan where in 1833 there was a straggling settlement around old Fort Dearborn. It is this spirit which animated private citizens in Chicago to finance A Century of Progress Exposition in a depression year.

Exemplifying this spirit, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, a newspaper institution in Chicago and the middle west, has sponsored many worthwhile enterprises for the entertainment and the enlightenment of the people. THE TRIBUNE, through its sports editor, Arch Ward, sponsored the big baseball game played at Comiskey stadium last Thursday, the greatest game in the history of the sport, participated in by the stars of the two major leagues. Never was there an event more efficiently handled. Every seat in the stadium was sold and there were between 49,000 and 50,000 people at the game. Admission prices were not boosted for the big baseball classic and the crowds were handled most capably. The whole enterprise bore the distinct earmarks of class. No one received a cent of profit from the game, whose proceeds went into the fund of the association of professional baseball players to care for the indigent, aged and infirm members of the profession. The crowds were handled quickly and courteously and there was no scramble and no pushing and hauling, and every one got his money's worth.

The city of Chicago is a great institution of the United States. Some day it will be the greatest city in the world. It has had its ups and downs and at times its people have appeared perfect gluttons for the sort of punishment meted out by rotten politics. But there is nothing wrong with Chicago's spirit and the Chicago way of doing things once that city sets out to do something worth while.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

IN A FRANTIC ENDEAVOR to assist the National Recovery Administration I'm going to shorten my own working hours by introducing a code for the control of the column conducting business. I will do this by running last lines three or four times a week (depending on whether or not I can get away with it) made up of gadgets instead of words.

Everybody knows that what makes last lines hard to manufacture is the thinking up of the right words. There are thirty or forty thousand English words in ordinary use, and Noah Webster says he has 177,000 words in his w. k. dictionary, the larger part of which were never in common use until the crossword puzzle was invented. Turning out last lines by hand is much preferable to last lines produced by machinery as far as quality is concerned, but it takes time, for the column conductor, while he only uses from forty to fifty words, must have the whole 177,000 at his command and run over the whole lot, picking out here and there the particular word that fits into the last line he is fabricating.

Now, in order to shorten the hours of a columnist's labor it would be better now and then not to bother with words at all. Words involve ideas, and the production of new and sound ideas is a tedious, not to say difficult, job. My new column conductor's code requires only the use of type gadgets.

All I would have to do on those days is to go down to the composing room and mess around over on the advertising side, where they have a whole lot of funny dinguses all covered with dust because nobody knows where they are and they are very seldom used. I propose to gather up a handful of these type gadgets and, standing off at a distance of, say, ten feet, hurl 'em with deadly accuracy at the bottom of the column. Then my work for the day would be finished; result, shorter hours and a five day week.

See the last line today at the bottom of this column to observe what a beautiful last line the new column conductor's code will produce. It will be a trifle hard to understand, but as you study it you will discover that it it goes over big with the readers it spells SUCCESS. If it doesn't it spells GOOD-BY.

LXVII.

Beauty was cogency and love was power—
Beauty is sorrow, love a dagger thrust.
Drag the rosy petals from the flower,
Cover marbles with a sheath of dust,
Yet the beholder senses more than beauty:
The shimmer running on a white bird's breast,
The terror of the racing tide's swift duty
To that same moon that cools us to our rest.

Kiss and be damned or lay your mouth to heaven.
Enchantment's sword is double-edged as day.
And life is bread and love the urgent leaven—
And here or hell, an angel knew the way.
Who carries that sharp sword strikes metal soon
With love and beauty for the singing rune.

NANCY SHORES.

THE BIG BLACK EAGLE on the N. R. A. (National Recovery Act) posters has a wheel in one claw and a bunch of thunderbolts in the other. The moral is to put your shoulder to the wheel, or else—and goodness, how sharp those thunderbolts look!

"MEN'S NEW FALL OVERCOATS Without Buttons, Only Belt."—Headline. And with divorces rapidly increasing, it looks as though pretty soon the gents will have to have their duds without buttons on at all, just safety pins. Unless they learn to sew on buttons themselves, which they never will, the poor dumbbells.

AND LIKEWISE the fashion notes forecasting what the well-dressed gent will wear this fall and winter say that trousers will be a little wider and a bit shorter. And from looking over my own wardrobe I would say they will also have three or four moth holes in them and a neat patch in the seat.

"SAVE OUR SCHOOLS!" What with?

"2,200 NEW YORK FARMERS Attend World's Fair."—Headline. Gosh, that'll make 'em mad. But they call us hicks when we go down on Broadway or Fifth avenue, and it serves 'em right to hand it right back to 'em.

COMMONWEALTH.

Beyond the crowds' dense surging,
Where venture interlocks,
I have pansies blooming bravely
In my ranch house window box.

Beyond the gay lights flooding
Towered visions of a world,
I have pansies glowing brightly,
Multicolored, velvet whorled.

Beyond all gold-bent trading
In health, heart throbs, and stocks,
I have pansies blooming blithely

ROBERTA ROBERTSON.

ANYHOW, THE SHOOTING in the courtroom in Chicago Monday should convince almost every one that desperate criminals should not be permitted to carry army rifles, automatics, swords, bayonets, cannons, or trench mortars with them when they go on trial. There must be somebody who can make rules about this sort of thing, and they ought to do it right away. Anyhow, light field pieces, howitzers, and all heavy artillery should be forbidden.

DISEASE AND BULLETS.

THE ultimate objectives of war are many and varied. The immediate objective of the means employed to accomplish the ultimate purpose is to kill and cripple the other fellow's men while one's own are kept alive and effective. In thinking of this immediate objective of the machinery of war the mind runs to nothing except what are commonly called the implements of war. We entirely overlook the fact that bullets rank below disease as a cause of death and disablement.

In the world war, in spite of the great ingenuity of inventors of implements for killing and disabling, disease still retained the first place it has enjoyed since war was taken over from wild animals and made a part of the machinery of civilization. So great were the improvements in the art of health protection and so considerable was the increase in authority given the medical corps that disease might not have outranked bullets in the world war had not influenza lent a hand. However, loosing pestilence is one of the expectations when war has disorganized society.

The writer has recently read over the war record of two companies that participated in the Mexican war. These companies volunteered from a rural county and its small town county seat. The state in which this county is located sent at least two regiments to that war. These two companies, one in each of the regiments, were the only two from this county that got as far as leaving home before the brief war was ended. The men in these companies belonged to families the members of which are easily traced.

The history of these companies reveals that bullets were of trifling importance in killing and disabling, in spite of the fact that one regiment took an outstanding part in the battle of Buena Vista—about as severe as any battle in that war.

It was disease that did the trick. The deaths recorded were overwhelmingly due to disease and, in the record of "excused from duty," disease leads wounds so far that they are not in the same class. In this war, at any rate, it would seem that money spent on cannon was rank waste and the war lords who took themselves seriously were so lacking in judgment and sense as to be properly classed as nitwits.

The best brains tell us that the only way to prevent war is to build up an army of defense in time of peace. Some day it must be otherwise, but today the way to keep the other fellow from snatching your bacon is to make him think bacon stealing hurts. Better than the best brains tell us that in planning for military defense building up a health machine is of prime importance. Such a machine must be built in time of peace. One blast on the war bugle cannot create it out of nothing.

In spite of the great improvement prior to the world war influenza ranked with the Marne and Verdun as a determining factor. We ought to get that influenza menace out of the way before the termination of the ten year European truce. It cannot be done while war is in progress. And that is only one. We should get this mental disease problem better in hand before the next trouble breaks.

BEE STINGS.

W. G. J. writes: At this season of the year one frequently hears of serious trouble from bee stings and more should be known of a one dependable remedy.

Some years ago the writer was stung by a bee at the edge of the eye. It soon became serious. It was cured by a home remedy—a slice of onion applied to the sting. The effect was marvelous. Relief from pain came within a few minutes and all of the poison and inflammation disappeared within an hour.

REPLY.

I am sure it will do no harm, and nature is a wonderful doctor. Besides, it may increase the demand for onions.

WOOD ALCOHOL.

H. A. H. writes: 1. Is there any way to tell whether one has drunk even a small quantity of wood alcohol, by mistake of course?

2. What are the effects of wood alcohol?

3. What should one do in case he has drunk wood alcohol in a small quantity?

4. Is there any danger of blindness?

REPLY.

1. Not except by the effects.
2. Nausea, vomiting, blindness.
3. Vomit. The quicker the better. Nausea should be promoted by warm mustard water, tickling the throat, or by apomorphine or ipecac.
4. Yes. Blindness quite frequently follows drinking wood alcohol.

QUITCLAIM DEED.

Chicago, July 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father sold some property on a quitclaim deed in 1879. Is this deed outlawed now or have the heirs a claim to this property after all these years? The property is in Illinois.

L. M.

If the property is in the possession of parties claiming under the quitclaim deed, then no question of outlawing would seem to arise. If you mean that your father and persons claiming under him had continued in possession, then it seems probable that rights claimed under the deed had been barred by the twenty year statute of limitations. In general, adverse possession to establish such a limitation title must be open, notorious, and under claim of right.

Could I have him arrested as a debtor provided I pay his board? 3. Advise how to go about this matter. 4. How much would the board amount to and how long can I keep him in jail? E. C. B.

1. There is no such rule. If you can find persons who owe him money, you would be entitled to collect it by appropriate court proceedings.
2. No.
3. Place your claim in the hands of an attorney for collection.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 26, 1917.

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Post from Petrograd says that under Gen. Korniloff's drastic measures to restore order in the 11th army one whole division thereof was blown to pieces by its own artillery "to avenge the insults which all loyal troops, and especially the artillery, have silently endured for the last four months from the traitorous rascals." [A Russian division generally is composed of 18,000.]

LONDON.—The situation in Russia, according to a dispatch to the Times, is gravely dangerous and attributed to the lack of discipline of the army and German propaganda. Petrograd, the writer says, is exhausted by continued political excitement, and the people crave a stable government. Trial of persons connected with German propaganda, with immediate death to those guilty of the more severe offenses, would have an immeasurable effect. "The problem before the government is immense," concludes the correspondent. "They stand on the brink of the precipice. If they can hold back the country the situation is saved. If not, the country will rush into chaos."

WAR SUMMARY.—Berlin reports that the advance of the Austro-German forces in eastern Galicia continues uninterruptedly. Tarnopol has been captured and the Germans are nearing Buczacz. Stanislau and Nadvorna have been taken. Heavy artillery fighting is in progress in Rumania, on the front of Field Marshal von Mackensen. Russian troops south of the Carpathians penetrated the Austro-German lines. A Rumanian report says enemy lines in the South Carpathians were broken, many prisoners and guns being captured. The losses of British shipping due to the German U-boat activity were greater last week than in any of the three weeks last preceding. The official report by the admiralty shows twenty-one large merchant vessels and three smaller ones destroyed.

CHESTER, Pa.—Four men were shot and sixty were arrested as the result of riots between the whites and Negroes of this city last night, which lasted from 9 o'clock until the section was picketed by soldiers at midnight. Since the influx of Negroes from the south to this city there has been bad feeling between the races. Highway robberies, outrages against women, and other crimes have been charged against floating Negroes. The immediate cause of the riots was the shooting of William McKinney on his own doorstep by four Negroes while he was talking with his sister.

WORLD'S FAIR QUESTION BOX

Requests for information concerning A Century of Progress will be answered in this column. It is urged that questions be stated briefly.

QUESTION—Is it true that there are no free lavatories at the Fair? If there are free ones, where are they located?

ANSWER—Free lavatories are maintained at the Fair in various strategic spots. Signs in the streets point out the locations or any guide or policeman will be glad to direct visitors.

QUESTION—Where can I make reservations for the East-West football game to be held in Soldiers' field?

ANSWER—The tentative date is Aug. 26. Prices have not been decided on, so it is impossible to make reservations this early.

QUESTION—Five years ago I bought $5 ticket for the Fair and have since lost it. How can I get it replaced?

ANSWER—Write to R. M. Lauer, claim office, 16th street entrance, A Century of Progress.

QUESTION—Did A Century of Progress give any awards for beer?

ANSWER—No.

QUESTION—What time in the morning are the gates of the Fair open to visitors?

ANSWER—At 9 o'clock.

MOSCOW BELLES.

Chicago, July 21.—Your "Moscow Belles" seems to have touched a sensitive spot, as the Ravinia soviet of parlor pinks has apparently filed a protest. They complain of what they are pleased to call "a mistaken impression of degradation and crudity in Russia," and it is obvious that the theoretical communists of this variety are particularly sensitive to the status of women in Russia. They admit that the picture you published is authentic, but they argue that the "comrades" being welcomed by the "Moscow Belles" were not "professional" athletes.

Your naïve criticizers and protestors, with their American culture and education and bourgeois habits of mind and body, would of course be among the first to be "liquidated" if the "degradation and crudity" of bolshevism should ever get the upper hand in this country.

Economically, in its attempted practice, communism is in retreat, all along the line, having made one concession after another to capitalism [talk with our engineers who have been there], and the time is coming when there will be nothing left, even in Russia, except its funny jargon and its weird philosophy. And the latter may even cloud the mentality of several generations to come.

GRATEFUL TO THE PRESIDENT.

Cicero, Ill., July 21.—Too much is being published about the underpaid employés of the sewing machine shops and candy factories, but what about the rest of the poor unfortunates? My next door neighbor has a daughter working in a gasket manufacturing company who works 44 to 48 hours every week and has never had a pay check to total as much as seven dollars, although the same work paid about $21 per week three years ago and the firm is working day and night.

Thank God that Franklin D. Roosevelt is correcting this terrible evil and distributing the wealth of this country and freeing the slaves of the manufacturing industry. Every one should pray for his good health.

HAZARDS OF CITY LIFE.

Oak Park, Ill., July 21.—The hazards of the big city are more numerous than I thought. It is my custom to wait for a street car on Wabash avenue at Adams street, directly under the elevated station platform. The other day a lighted cigaret fell on the shoulder of the man standing next to me and sent a shower of sparks up into his face. This morning a big chunk of chewing tobacco landed on my bare arm.

Chicago, Ill., July 18.—Please state where the Lessing monument is located. We cruised the south side parks, but could not find it and no one could tell us.

THE OLD CONVINCER.

Chicago, July 21.—Some of our local police are again this year using the old convincer in selling their baseball benefit tickets.

A couple of the boys in regulation uniform have been visiting the stores and shops in our neighborhood in the past two days, dropping a pair of tickets on the counter, at one dollar a copy. Only yesterday our neighborhood barber, who is barely getting by, protested that he could not possibly afford two dollars for tickets at this time. Just at that moment one of the keen eyed officers spied a small penny punch board on the cigar counter. He roared, "So you're running a gambling joint, eh? Put on your hat, we're going to lock you up." He was taken to the Austin police station and then transferred in a patrol wagon to the Fillmore street station, where he spent the next four hours in a cell while his wife chased all over town to scrape up a $50 cash bond. This morning he was discharged by the judge.

I believe the police benefit to be a worthy cause, but the bullying tactics used by these policemen in taking a man out of his place of business and throwing him in a cell on a trumped up charge should not go unnoticed.

H. R. P.

IT'S ALL OVER NOW.

Prairie du Chien, Wis., July 19.—Pul-eeze! A little less of son Elliott and his matrimonial affairs! Is it possible that this is a son of the President of the United States who is being exploited or is it Hollywood's latest Christmas gift to women?

Is there or is there not a law which forbids collusion in order to obtain a divorce? If there is such a law, how about all this talk of the young lady being already chosen for the leading rôle at Elliott's wedding even before the divorce had been granted!

We appreciate that publicity must attend the "fierce light that beats about the throne," but can't you just turn the spot off Elliott, for a little while anyway? We don't care if the much advertised Miss G. is a Junior leaguer and will be able to restrain our tears if we never hear another word of where they met or what's her father's business.

MRS. M.

TURNSTILES FOR BANKS.

Chicago, July 21.—If all banks substituted turnstiles for the present open doors, Mr. Bank Robber would be less apt to fly into the bank with his glib greeting, "Good morning, dearie; how's the cash today?" or "Stick 'em up, brother; I'm in a hurry!"

He would be in a hurry, of course, but if he collected he'd be compelled to walk out, regardless of his yearning to sprint. The turnstiles could be locked immediately the emergency demanded it. With a gun for every employé, and thorough training in taking certain aim, there would be nothing left for the would-be-robber but to chant "Out of the arms that cover me." The robbing of banks would be an event rather than a daily habit.

B. N.

HE'S GOT IT ALL FIGURED OUT.

Chicago, July 20.—Congratulations upon your interesting editorial dealing with the cooling of The Tribune Tower. But wouldn't it have been more direct to say that you had office space to rent, cheap?

260 AIR PILOTS SETTLE DISPUTE; STRIKE AVERTED

Fast New Planes Cause of Wage Issue.

A threatened strike of United Air Lines pilots was averted here last evening when twelve representatives of the 260 pilots and co-pilots employed by the company agreed to continue to work on their present pay basis until the code of the aeronautical industry is formally submitted to federal authority under the industrial recovery act. The announcement that a code would be submitted for approval within a few weeks was made in Washington yesterday by the Aeronautical chamber of commerce.

The agreement between the pilots and the air lines was reached in a series of secret conferences in the Edgewater Beach hotel on Monday and yesterday. The pilots' grievances grew out of the increased speed of the new Boeing twin-motored transport planes which were put in service by the company two months ago. The planes cruise at 155 miles an hour as compared with 112 miles an hour for the old transport ships.

Paid 5 Cents a Mile.

The pilots are paid on a time and mileage basis. They work 90 hours a month for their base pay which ranges from $1,800 to $3,000 a year. Then they are paid 5 cents for each mile flown in the daytime and 7 cents for each mile flown at night. There are also bonuses for mountain flying. Co-pilots receive $200 to $225 a month on a time basis. They receive no mileage pay.

According to Harold Crary, press agent for the lines, the pay of United Air lines pilots ranges from $6,000 to $11,000 a year.

The pilots said they found that with the new Boeings they were able to fly the same mileage in 67 hours that they formerly made in 90. They therefore demanded that their monthly time basis be shortened from 90 to 67 hours when they are flying the new equipment. The company, however, insisted on retaining the old 90 hour basis both with the old and new equipment, and some of the pilots, it was said, threatened to strike.

Submitted to Conference.

It was finally agreed to thresh the matter across the conference table, with the resultant agreement, reached last night, to keep the old 90 hour basis pending the adoption of the new code.

At the Edgewater Beach hotel conference the company was represented by W. A. Patterson, vice president of the United Air lines, and by George S. Wheat, vice president of the United Aircraft and Transport company of which the air line is a subsidiary. J. L. Brannon, a pilot flying between Chicago and Cleveland, was spokesman for the pilots. He was backed by David Behnke, president of the pilots' union, and 11 representatives, two being chosen by each of the six major divisions of the company.

The one change resulting from the 48 hours of conferences is the agreement by the air lines officials that complaints of individual pilots will be heard by officials hereafter so that "adjustments will be made to the mutual satisfaction of both parties."

Finds Body of Chicago Girl Drowned in Indiana

The body of Miss Gladys Glover, 18 years old, 13018 Western avenue, Blue Island, who was drowned in Lake Michigan off Beverly shores, west of Michigan City, Ind., on Sunday, was found yesterday afternoon on a beach at Dunes State park. W. P. Ansley of Chicago discovered the body.

Hawks Makes 1,620 Mile Nonstop Hop to Canada

REGINA, Sask., July 25.—(AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks, American flyer, arrived here tonight after a nonstop flight from New York. He completed the 1,620 mile hop in 10 hours and 2 minutes.

CANCEL POST'S RIDE IN PLANE UP BROADWAY

Find Street Too Narrow for Airship.

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—The novelty that was to have distinguished New York's official reception to Wiley Post, the globe circling flyer, tomorrow has had to be canceled. The police measured Broadway today and discovered that it is too narrow to permit Post's monoplane, the Winnie Mae, to be towed up from the Battery to city hall.

The plan was for Post to get into the plane at the Battery and ride up to Mayor O'Brien's front steps, waving and bowing from the cockpit.

However, the Winnie Mae was on exhibition today and will be tomorrow in the triangular grass plot in front of the custom house at the foot of Broadway.

Post was the guest of the aeronautical chamber of commerce at a luncheon at the Roosevelt today. Other celebrated flyers who happened to be in town were there to honor him—Amelia Earhart, Al Williams, Clarence Chamberlin, and Clyde Pangborn among others.

Quebec Police Locate Missing Vassar Girl

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 25.—Although Chief Louis Jargaille of the provincial police would not reveal her exact whereabouts, he said he knows the present address in the Montreal district of Miss Natalie Carr, Vassar junior, of Clinton, Conn., who disappeared on July 13 and later informed her mother that she had come here to become a nun. "The girl is in the Montreal district within a few miles of the city and she is well and in good health," Chief Jargaille said.

Turk and Wife Claim to Be 128 and 124 Years of Age

MOUCHE, Turkey, July 25.—(AP)—Hashi Hashim and his wife, Hadji Hadidje, who say they are 128 and 124 years old, respectively, have appeared in Mouche after migrating from their village of Mutki. They have 45 children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren living.

WORLD'S BIGGEST DRY DOCK TO BE DEDICATED TODAY

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

SOUTHAMPTON, England, July 25.—The largest dry dock in the world, built for the 73,000 ton Cunard liner now lying unfinished on its stocks at Clydeside, will be opened by King George tomorrow.

Just before noon the royal yacht, Victoria and Albert, with the king and queen and the duke and duchess of York aboard, will steam into the great dry dock, filled with water, and break a red, white and blue ribbon across the entrance. The king will declare the dry dock open and the queen will christen it with wine from empire grown grapes.

The Southern railway has spent about $65,000,000 on a vast harbor development scheme to make Southampton second to none as a seaport. The dry dock itself is a notable engineering achievement. A couple of years ago the site was a useless tidal mud flat.

MATTERN LEAVES FAIRBANKS FOR JUNEAU BY AIR

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, July 25.—(AP)—Jimmie Mattern, Texas flyer whose solo flight around the world failed when he crashed in Siberia last month, left here today for Juneau in a seaplane piloted by Bob Ellis.

He was accompanied by members of the relief expedition who flew there from the United States to take him home.

Present plans call for Mattern to fly tomorrow to Terrace, B. C., where a plane chartered by the relief expedition awaits him. He then will take the relief party to Edmonton, flying solo from there to New York.

PICKPOCKET STEALS $118.

A pickpocket took a purse containing $118 from the pocket of Joseph Stepnicka, 4657 North Harding avenue, yesterday as he was boarding a Lawrence avenue street car at Broadway.

Flying Forecast

Special flying route forecasts for the period from 11 p. m. July 25, to noon July 26 [central standard time]:

Chicago-St. Louis-Evansville-Cincinnati—Scattered clouds over north portion; partly overcast over south portion; showers over extreme south portion.

Chicago-Detroit-Cleveland — Scattered to broken clouds, mostly high.

Chicago-Twin Cities—Scattered high clouds.

Chicago-Omaha-Kansas City—Mostly clear sky.

Route forecasts for twelve hours ending at noon:

Evansville-Atlanta—Overcast with showers and probably thunderstorms.

Cleveland-New York—Overcast with some probability of showers and scattered thunderstorms, except near Cleveland.

ARMY BALLOON TEAM PICKED FOR BENNETT RACE

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—A single balloon piloted by the winning team in last year's race will represent the army air corps in the Gordon Bennett race this year, it was announced by the war department today. The race will be held in Chicago as a part of the International Air Races from Sept. 1 to Sept. 4.

Lieut. Wilfred J. Paul will pilot the army balloon and he will be accompanied by Master Sergeant Joseph H. Bishop of Scott Field, Ill. In the race in 1932 this pair remained aloft for 26 hours 46 minutes, rising from Omaha and landing 13 miles north of Hatton, Saskatchewan. Their balloon covered a distance of 901 miles.

The National Aeronautic association has notified the war department that Germany, France, Poland, and Belgium have accepted invitations to send teams to the Gordon Bennett race. It is expected that the navy and the Goodyear company also will have entries.

FAIR VISITORS MAY BE ABLE TO SEE MOLLISONS

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Chicago and visitors to A Century of Progress may get a chance to glimpse and entertain Capt. Jimmy Mollison and his flying wife, the former Amy Johnson.

The two British fliers, still swathed in bandages, talked at the Plaza hotel today, after eighteen hours almost continuous sleep and rest. They said they are not through with long distance flying and all that deters them from trying to reach Bagdad from New York is the fact that their plane was completely wrecked when they were forced to land at Bridgeport, Conn., after flying across the Atlantic from Wales.

"Of course we cannot fly to Bagdad," said Capt. Mollison, "since it would take until late in September or October to get a new machine ready."

AMERICAN LEGION BUILDING IN PARIS FORCED TO CLOSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 25.—Pershing hall, the American Legion building in Paris and the most ambitious war veterans' institution outside of the United States, has succumbed to the dollar crisis.

By order of the board of directors issued today, the bar, library, gymnasium, and all parts of the building excepting the Legion and the Legion auxiliary offices, will be closed for an indefinite period.

The explanation offered is that official cuts in veterans' benefits and the additional unofficial cut represented by the depreciation of the dollar have so thinned out the veterans' ranks that social activities at Pershing hall can no longer be kept going. The bar in particular is a dead loss, as the veterans can no longer afford anything swankier than the cheap French cafés.

LATEST BLERIOT PLANE TO SEEK RECORD IN CROSSING ATLANTIC

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Twenty-four years ago today Louis Bleriot made his first airplane flight across the English channel. He used a high wing parasol monoplane of his own invention and crossed from Dover to Calais. The distance covered was 23.5 miles; the time was 27 minutes 21 seconds.

Today Bleriot, at the age of 61, is the most important airplane manufacturer in France. Another plane, built by him, is waiting in New York for favorable weather before taking off on a trans-Atlantic flight, the aim of which is to set a new world's nonstop distance record. It will be piloted by two French flyers—Paul Codos and Lieut. Maurice Rossi.

EXPECT BALLOON FLIGHT TONIGHT IN STRATOSPHERE

Commander T. G. W. Settle's flight into the stratosphere may be started at midnight tonight if the high pressure area now heading towards Chicago does not change direction, according to an announcement made last night by officials of the Fair and directors of the balloon flight. The announcement was made after a conference between Commander Settle and Ward T. van Norman, alternate pilot, and C. A. Donnel and W. P. Day of the U. S. weather bureau. Under the plans made last night the ground crew will be assembled this afternoon and the inflation of the huge balloon, which is expected to ascend more than 50,000 feet, will be started at 8 p. m. Commander Settle will make the flight alone, Jean Piccard remaining as ground pilot.

MOTHER THANKS TRIBUNE FOR HER FREE VACATION

Camp Algonquin Perfect, She Writes.

A mother, so happy that she felt "just like bubbling over," sent a letter of thanks yesterday to THE TRIBUNE for a vacation given her by the Camp Algonquin fund.

"This has been a most fortunate year for me," she wrote from the camp. "First, my health so much improved and then the trip to this wonderful camp. I am just so happy that I feel like bubbling over. May I tell you how very wonderful this camp really is? But that would be impossible. It's just perfect, that's all. The only fly in the ointment is that it's so soon over.

Asks Aid for Daughters.

"And now may I beg a little. When Betty came out here she was so yellow and had dark circles under her eyes. Then, Cecelia is so underweight and still has trouble with her injured ankle. I spoke about it to the counselor and she suggested that I ask if the children might stay all summer. The children would be so benefited. I seem to be always asking, but you seem so like Santa Claus that I am getting the habit. I do want you to be sure that I appreciate the benefit I have received and if I were able I would show you. But all I can say is thanks! Thanks! Thanks!

The mother enclosed a letter from her small son which said: "Would you let me stay all summer? I would be a very good boy if you do."

A contrast to this thanksgiving from a mother, is the letter written by the eldest of four children appealing for a vacation at Camp Algonquin.

"My father is in the hospital with a breakdown. We have been supported by the charities. We children have never been to a camp in all our lives and you don't know how happy it would make us to be able to go this summer. My brother and two sisters are not healthy and I know it would do them a world of good to be in a camp.

Mother Is Run Down.

"Gee. If we only could come out we would be so happy. My mother has been run down ever since my father got sick and it would make her pep up and be once more a happy mother if she would be out there in the sunshine. I would gladly do any kind of service to you if I would be of any help."

Gifts to make vacations possible are needed. The United Charities, which administers the camp, has enrolled more vacations this year than ever before. The camp is running at capacity, and if sufficient money is raised through the fund, it can remain open later in the fall.

Contributions should be made payable to the Camp Algonquin fund and sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower. They will be acknowledged in the columns of this newspaper.

'L' Receivers Ask Permit for Employes' Loan Fund

The receivers for the Chicago Rapid Transit company, Col. A. A. Sprague and Britton I. Budd, yesterday petitioned the Illinois commerce commission for permission to maintain a $30,000 fund to be used in making small loans to employés. The fund was abolished when the company went into receivership, according to the petition, but the federal court since has sanctioned its reëstablishment. The purpose of the fund, according to the officials, is to keep employés out of the hands of loan sharks.

CHILDREN WILLED $200,000 ESTATE OF E. J. M'CARTHY

The will of Edward J. McCarthy, paving contractor, was admitted to probate yesterday by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to Probate Judge O'Connell. Mr. McCarthy, who lived at 843 Sheridan road, Wilmette, died June 12, at the age of 74. The will leaves an estate of $200,000 to three sons and two daughters. They are John V., Edward J., Gerald F., and Edith McCarthy, and Mrs. Joseph A. Kolb.

Other wills filed during the day are:

Harold Beyer, died July 11. Estate of $2,500 to widow and executrix, Florence Beyer.

Joseph Albrecht, died June 1. Estate of $3,100 to widow, son and two daughters, Harry Rolewicz, executor.

Pearle Crennen, died Feb. 19. Estate of $7,000 to sister and niece. Lillian Crennen, sister, executrix.

RETIRED LAKE CAPTAIN DIES AFTER BEATING

Capt. Joseph Fink, 81 years old, who for years was a great lakes skipper and operator of fishing boats, died yesterday in the South Chicago hospital of pneumonia. His illness developed after he was found unconscious in his shack at 9106 Harbor avenue, apparently as the result of a beating at the hands of robbers. Fink was well to do, according to gossip in the neighborhood. He owned several buildings in the district and was supposed to have several thousands of dollars in a safe deposit box. His attackers, police believe, beat him in an effort to learn whether he kept any money hoarded in the shack. Its interior was in a state of disorder.

PUT $205,425 TAX ON ESTATE OF H. H. HITCHCOCK

The state inheritance tax was set at $205,425 yesterday by County Judge Perry L. Persons of Lake county, at Waukegan, on the estate of Howard H. Hitchcock, 75 years old, investment banker. He died last December in his home at 543 Waverly road, Highland Park.

Attorney Ernest Gail, appraiser of the estate, filed a report fixing the value of Mr. Hitchcock's estate at $2,277,802. Out of this $71,000 was left to charity. The widow, two children, and other relatives received the remainder.

Judge Persons also set a state inheritance tax on another estate, that of Dr. Alfred S. Burdic, 344 Oakland avenue, Highland Park, president of the Abbott laboratories, who died last February. The tax was fixed at $7,359, the total estate being $204,186.

Max Seffren, Pioneer Iron and Steel Merchant, Dead

Max Seffren, 747 Sheridan road, Wilmette, veteran scrap iron and steel merchant and president of the Max Seffren Supply company at Lake and Halsted streets, died yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital of an infection. He was 70 years old, and had been active in business until a few days ago. Mr. Seffren had been in business in Chicago for nearly fifty years. He is survived by his wife, a daughter and two sons. Funeral services will be held at 4911 Broadway at 2 p. m. today.

FUNERAL RITES TOMORROW FOR JAMES J. LALLA

Funeral services for James J. Lalla, wholesale grocer, will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow at Ascension church, Oak Park, with burial in St. Adalbert's cemetery. The body will lie in state beginning at noon today at the Oak Park Elks club, of which Mr. Lalla was past exalted ruler.

Born Sept. 10, 1884, in Chicago, Mr. Lalla was educated in the parochial schools and business college before joining the wholesale grocery firm of John F. Lalla company, founded by his father. He was vice president of the concern, one of the founders of the West Town Chamber of Commerce and founder of the Antlers' club at Wheaton. He died Monday morning at the Presbyterian hospital.

WM. M'KINLEY'S DENTIST IS FOUND DEAD IN FRANCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NICE, France, July 25.—Dr. Perry Robert Chance, 65 years old, who was President McKinley's dentist, and who has lived in France ever since his distinguished client's assassination, was found dead yesterday morning, the police revealed today. Mrs. Chance discovered her husband's body, with a revolver at his side, on their country estate near Contes, in the mountains back of Nice. The police said the dentist had taken his own life.

Dr. Chance left Nice for Contes alone on Sunday. When he failed to return Sunday night his wife, who is 20 years younger, went to Contes Monday morning.

Dr. Chance was born in Canton, O., President McKinley's home town. In 1919 he married Mrs. Maude Robinson King, a wealthy lumber magnate's widow. After three years they were divorced and later she was shot and killed under mysterious circumstances. Gaston B. Means, her financial adviser, was tried for her murder but was acquitted.

Dr. Chance, who had a lucrative practice in Nice, also leaves an eight year old daughter.

DR. A. B. RANKIN TO BE BURIED AT LONDON, ONTARIO

Funeral services for Dr. Arthur Bennett Rankin, prominent physician and surgeon who died suddenly Monday in his office in the Pittsfield building, will be held at London, Ont. His body will be sent there today. Dr. Rankin was 50 years old. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Allen Rankin, 5805 Dorchester avenue, and by a son, Barry.

Dr. Rankin was graduated from the University of Toronto in 1904 and obtained his medical degree two years later. In Chicago Dr. Rankin served on the staff of the Wesley Memorial hospital and also on the teaching staff of Loyola university, and was an attending surgeon in the Cook County hospital. During the war he was a captain in the Canadian Medical corps and served overseas. In later years he was attending physician at the Woodlawn, St. Bernard's, Illinois Central, and Washington Park hospitals.

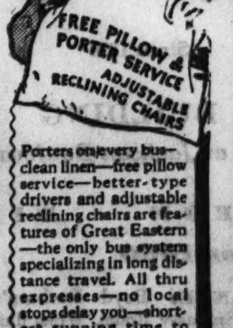

WIFE OF RABBI SCHANFARBER TO BE BURIED TODAY

Funeral services will be held today for Mrs. Carrie P. Schanfarber, wife of Rabbi Emeritus Tobias Schanfarber of the K. A. M. temple, 50th street and Drexel boulevard, from the chapel at 936 East 47th street. Burial will be in Mount Mayriv cemetery.

Mrs. Schanfarber died Monday night at her home at 5044 Drexel boulevard. She was 63 years old. Mrs. Schanfarber was the founder of the Miriam club, an organization for Jewish working girls at 63d street and Kenwood avenue, and was also the founder of the K. A. M. temple ladies' auxiliary.

Trainman with Burlington Road for 52 Years Is Dead

David Kelley, 72 years old, for 52 years a Burlington railroad trainman, died at his home in Rochelle yesterday. He was in charge of passenger trains out of Chicago for 30 years and was one of the best known conductors on the system. He is survived by the widow and a son, Walter.

EDITH M'CORMICK TRUST SUES DATO IN TITLE BATTLE

Newton C. Farr, trustee of the Edith Rockefeller McCormick trust, filed suit yesterday in the Superior court, seeking to compel Edward A. Dato and his wife to turn over to the trust title to the property in the block bounded by Oak, State and Rush streets and Bellevue place.

In his bill Mr. Farr sets forth that the trust was established in 1923 with the late Mrs. McCormick, Dato and Edwin Krenn as trustees. The following year, the bill alleges, Dato purchased the property in question for the trust, but kept the title in his own name. He recently refused demands of Trustee Farr that he turn the property over to the trust.

The trust also has an action pending in the Probate court, seeking to recover $409,000 in bonds from Dato. This was recently continued until fall when attorneys for the litigants indicated that they expect to arrange a settlement out of court.

SON OF FAMOUS FRENCH GENERAL KILLED IN ACTION

RABAT, Morocco, July 25.—(AP)—Lieut. Henri Mangin, son of the late world war general, Charles Mangin, was killed today at the head of a marching column of native troops of whom he took command a fortnight ago.

Details were lacking, but he was presumably shot by desert dissidents whom the troops from Marrakech, Morocco, were encircling during a sandstorm.

Lieut. Mangin assumed his command after recovering from a fractured vertebra received when he was knocked down by a street car in Paris while on furlough.

(Gen. Mangin, one of the great army chiefs of the world war, died in 1925. He directed the historic counter attack of July 18, 1918, using American troops as his spearhead at Juvigny.)

DR. R. B. GREEN, 50, DIES SUDDENLY AFTER OPERATING

Dr. Raphael B. Green of the Graemere hotel, veteran west side physician and surgeon, died yesterday at the West Side hospital of heart disease. He had performed an operation at the hospital shortly before he was stricken.

Dr. Green was 50 years old. He was a staff physician at the West Side hospital, a member of the Chicago Medical association and of the speakers' bureau of the Chicago Federation of Labor. He is survived by his wife.

Funeral services will be held in the Labor lyceum at 3200 Ogden avenue at 2 p. m. tomorow. Burial will be in the Jewish Waldheim cemetery.

Antoinette Donnelly Tells How Noted Beauties Keep Charm

Front Views and Profiles
By June Provines

THE Scottie that lives across the hall from the Malcolm Hendersons at 70 East Walton place barked long and loud the other evening when his family was away. Mr. Henderson, who is the British vice-consul, walked across the hall and addressed the dog through the door.

Authoritative—
Tension—
Error—
System—
Milwaukeean.

"Haud your wheesht," he said, authoritatively.

The Scottie lapsed into immediate, respectful, and understanding silence.

SOME idea of the tension on La Salle street the last few days is indicated by the remark made by Francis Peabody Butler when some one told him a speculator on the Board of Trade fainted when the market went against him.

"Is that all he did?" Mr. Butler inquired.

THE story sounds faintly familiar, but if William Lyon Phelps told it at the recent Yale alumni luncheon it ought to be timely enough to repeat. A New York business man was standing near the 18th hole of a country club golf links chatting with a club member when a girl approached the greens wearing knickerbockers. The New York business man expressed his annoyance.

"I'm certainly going to complain to the president of the club," he sputtered. "A girl wearing knickerbockers at a conservative club like this. Who is she anyway?"

"I'm sorry, but she happens to be my daughter," said the club member to whom he was speaking.

He was covered with confusion, and apologized profusely, saying he had no idea he was speaking to the girl's father. The member spoke again:

"And I'm not her father, I'm her mother," she said calmly.

MOTHERS might be interested in the method by which Mrs. Edward F. Swift managed to see the things she was interested in at the Fair, while her small son was simultaneously being instructed and entertained. She turned him over to a ricksha boy, with instructions as to when and where to meet her. The college youth took the little boy on a tour of the Fair, was extraordinarily capable and helpful, and her son was returned to her fairly popping with information and excitement.

Sees Science as Factor in World Creeds

Professor Says Influence Is Indirect.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Last night the most modern conclusions of the world's greatest scientists were tossed into the lap of Buddha and he was asked what effect such mind reeling ideas would have on his age old religion. The response was as though the Buddha smiled with oriental languor—if not of boredom—to reply that his followers had thought of such things long, long ago, and that they do not matter much, anyway.

At any rate, such was the conclusion of Prof. James Bissett Pratt of Williams college, acknowledged to be one of the world's leading scholars of Buddhist philosophy and lore, as he spoke before assembled scholars at the Haskell Institute of Comparative Religion at the University of Chicago. The institute continues through Friday and will consider the modern trends in world religions.

Yesterday's sessions were devoted to the question which is of primary importance in the Christian world—that of the relationships of world religions to scientific thinking and to the findings of scientific progress. In contrast with Buddhism, Dr. Edward Scribner Ames, chairman of the department of philosophy at the University of Chicago, said that science has had a profound effect upon Christianity, although the effect has been felt indirectly through the influence of science on the general life and culture of society. He added that the influence of the scientific method is just beginning to have its direct effect upon Christian philosophical thought.

Representatives of Judaism and Islam told the institute that the scientific method had reached those religions with important effects. Prof. Mordecai Kaplan of the Jewish Theological seminary at New York represented Judaism and Prof. Martin Sprengleng of the University of Chicago spoke for Islam. On the other hand, because of the prevailing agnostic attitude of Confucianism, the representative of that religion, Prof. Huh Shih of Peiping, China, said that the new science causes little difficulty among the Chinese of that faith.

"From the 11th century on, the Neo-Confucianists have developed an intellectualist tradition which may be called scientific both in scope and spirit," the celebrated Chinese philosopher said.

But with the religions of India, represented by K. Natarajan of Bombay, India, and Prof. Pratt of Williams, came the feeling of futility of further search for truth because just about everything that possibly could be demonstrated by science had been thought of a couple of thousand years or more ago, and that even the most skeptical "Oh Yeah" of youthful moderns was first uttered by some sleepy Indian Methuselah in the unwritten past.

And besides all this, Prof. Pratt asked his hearers, what relation have mysticism in religion and monistic absolutism in philosophy? What relation, he contended, have moral living, discipline, self-control, helpfulness, kindness, unselfish devotion, love for one's neighbors—and enemies—what relation have these with modern scientific thinking?

The Buddhist says, Prof. Pratt revealed, that nothing that science ever can discover will have any bearing on Absolute Truth: the Buddhist world-formula has room for every kind of purely empirical fact.

"Hence, Buddhism takes a patronizing tone toward science," said the Buddhist expert from Williams college. "'Science is always open minded' says Tai Hau, the great Chinese Buddhist, 'but scientists have one absolute superstition, and that is that the scientific method is the only method for arriving at truth. Buddhism denies the reality of all things or selves. Science can never let go of this phenomenal existence, whereas Buddhism carries one beyond it. Buddhism is not scientific."

But despite the fact that Buddhism is not scientific, many striking parallels were pointed out by Prof. Pratt between ancient ideas of Buddhists and many of the dominant ideas of modern science. He said Buddhists had anticipated the spacial world of modern science by many centuries. Also, by purely speculative methods, he added, the Buddhist had come long ago to envisage motion in a way which bears an analogy with modern mathematical physics, while "the reduction of reality to a collection of point-instants by early Buddhist logicians is a striking anticipation of thinkers like Alexander, Bertrand Russell, Whitehead, and Jeans."

As to the Buddhist conception of time, Prof. Pratt said that when orthodox Christian missionaries were trying to tell the Indian that the world was created by an act of God in the year 4004 B. C., the Buddhist had figured that Buddhas beyond mathematical calculation had succeeded each other before the appearance of Gotama Buddha. Their space of time, said Prof. Pratt, would require light years for any practical sort of interpretation.

Group of Borneo Orangs Placed in Field Museum

A group of Borneo orangs, shown in their native habitat in the tropical tree tops, has just been installed in William V. Kelley hall at the Field museum. To reproduce the scene whence the specimens of the apes were obtained nine thousand artificial leaves were made at the museum to complete the exhibit. The group includes an entire family of orangs, ranging in size from a baby animal to a 150 pound male with an arm spread of more than eight feet. The oran is one of four of the most manlike of apes, the others being the gorilla, chimpanzee and gibbon.

Society to Avoid Provinciality in Entertaining Rugby Team

Chicago Alumni of Oxford and Cambridge Will Limit Parties for British Athletes.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE young Englishmen who are coming here to play rugby and cricket the latter part of next month are not going to be surfeited with entertaining the way some of our foreign visitors were recently if Gaylord Donnelley and the other Cambridge and Oxford alumni here have anything to say about it, for they are of the opinion that to fill every waking minute of a visitor's time is hardly the most thoughtful or considerate hospitality.

When Chicago society awakens to the fact that there is no better way of proving provinciality than to feel that every minute of a guest's time must be occupied with planned parties, then Chicago will have become the cosmopolitan city that we who live here like to think it is now.

Living in England has convinced the young men who will have in charge the entertainment of the visiting cricket and rugby players that true hospitality isn't measured by the number of parties that are planned ahead, so they are scheduling only a few for the eighteen young Cambridge and Oxford men. Most of the ten days the visitors will be here will be left free for them to do what they want with companions of their own choosing.

To introduce them to all the debutantes and those sub-debs who next fall will blossom into full-fledged debutantes, and the young marrieds who can help to make life pleasant for the visitors, Mr. Donnelley is planning a cocktail party for the visitors soon after their arrival on Aug. 23. The players really come here first on the 25th, but most of them are going right on to St. Louis for that week-end and they won't all be here to stay until Monday, the 28th. That night the Chicago alumni of Cambridge and Oxford are to give a stag dinner at the Harvard-Yale-Princeton club.

Game Aug. 31 at Onwentsia.

The next Thursday, Aug. 31, there will be a rugby game between the visitors and a picked team from this part of the country now being assembled by Chauncey McKeever. The game is to be played at 6 o'clock in the evening at the Onwentsia, and the assumption is that many of the spectators will stay on for the regular weekly buffet dinner and dancing at the club.

Mr. McKeever, who is an Oxford alumnus and plays with the Chicago Rugby union, is bending every effort to get together a team that will offer snappy competition to the Britishers. A Minneapolis resident who used to play at Oxford is expected to come down to be a member of the Goths' team. The visiting team calls itself the Vandals, so Mr. McKeever picked the Goths as the name of his team.

Malcolm F. Gordon, an attractive young resident of Belfast, Ireland, who arrived by plane Monday for a visit in Chicago after a tour of Canada, brings news of some of the best known and most attractive of the young British cricketers and rugby players. D. J. Brown, who last year was the best full back in four countries, England, Scotland, Ireland, and Wales, is tall and handsome and husky, and H. F. W. Holmes, P. M. Heywood, J. A. Tallent and C. E. Allen are also featured in the British press as stars, especially Mr. Holmes.

This is not Mr. Gordon's first visit to Chicago, for when he came over two years ago to shoot for England against Canada in rifle matches he came to Chicago for a visit, and while here met many of the girls who made their debuts last season.

Decorator Has Big Shop for Novel's Scene

Young Londoner's First Novel Praised.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Livingstones," by Derrick Leon. [John Day.]

Here is another of the vast literary panoramas which began to be popular a few years ago with "The Good Companions" and have continued in bulk until the good old fashioned bulky size of the expansive Richardson and the effusive Dickens and the exhaustive Thackeray is practically standard for a novel of today. "Livingstones" measures up to the standard in length, breadth, and thickness, not only physically, but in its I. Q. (you know, intelligence quotient).

DERRICK LEON.

Derrick Leon, who is a young man who works in a large decorating shop in London, found in his surroundings the material for 653 pages of the life stories of high and low. For a first book it is remarkably well done. It has that indefinable "it" of catching your attention on the first page and never relinquishing it—not even on the last, for although the author does say that the pattern of some of the lives of the characters has been completed, in reality the book might go on and on like the dormouse's tail and like life!

There is nothing radical about "Livingstones" either in method or in style. Derrick Leon has chosen the conventional form in its most rigid sense for the technique of "Livingstones" . . . chapters ending whenever possible with a high moment or one to pique the reader's curiosity . . . each character treated in his almost mathematical turn . . . the emphasis distributed with almost metronomic precision. The style is that of a bright young man who believes that what he has to say is of more importance than the way he says it . . . rather refreshing in these days when many bright young men are proving—or trying to—how smart they are in twisting the English language to their purpose. The writing is wholly adequate, if not inspired. But inspired writing is so much rarer than we literary critics like to admit that to say writing is wholly adequate is praise indeed.

I don't feel that Derrick Leon is the genius of his generation despite the encomiums which his excellent first novel has called forth in England, but I do feel that a born story teller who is willing to work hard at his craft, who follows all of the rules carefully and creates a remarkably interesting novel has been presented to us in this previously unknown young man.

Each character is realized with sharp accents, wholly in his own type and never varying from that type, which is one of the things that will make "Livingstones" popular. The author is extremely partial about his characters . . . and that's another thing that will add to its popularity. Many readers like to know where they stand with the people in the books they read for pleasure.

The author approves wholly of Eric Davis [I half suspect that Eric is a sublimation of his own self], and as a young assistant in the great decorating firm of Livingstone Limited he sees much which must have been looked at with amusement by young Derrick Leon himself. The head of the firm, Reggie Livingstone, is a handsome man who keeps his eyebrows within bounds by a constant tweezering and who has a penchant for manicurists and maids although his serene, lovely wife is the spiritual pier to which he anchors his emotional skiff.

The author doesn't approve of Reggie Livingstone any more than he approves of, though liking in spite of himself, the son, Tom Livingstone, who is a vacuous but superbly handsome young man who really would prefer to drive the delivery truck than to sell a Chippendale sideboard. Neither of the two older women who corral Tom, Mrs. Webster or Mrs. Tottenham, is spared a line of the author's disapproval, and his feelings toward Norma Tottenham, who loves and leaves Eric Davis, are at first, like Eric's, enchanted and then sickened with disappointment.

And so on, through even the most minor characters in this vast canvas; for the author there is no shilly-shallying about what he thinks of his characters, there is none of the divine detachment which the translation of the Russian novelists puts into English literature. Much of the rich appeal of "Livingstones" is its very prejudices . . . neither the author nor the reader is without them. And it's the complete low-down on the fashionable decorating business. You'll be surprised how engaging such a book can be!

Eight Napoleon Love Letters to Josephine Sell for 4,400 Pounds

LONDON, July 25.—Eight early love letters that Napoleon wrote to Josephine, from the late Lord Rosebery's library, were sold at Sotheby's today for 4,400 pounds to Ben Maggs, a London book seller, after stern competition from Gabriel Wells, a New Yorker, and a number of eager French bidders.

The stained and faded missives revealed Napoleon's passionate devotion to Josephine. No others of Napoleon's letters showed him so well as the great lover.

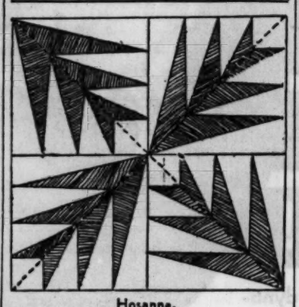

The longest and best written letter was dated June 15, 1796. It asks about Josephine's illness, reproaches her for not writing, and begs her to come to him. He regrets he is not ill instead, and swears that if she died, he would not survive her. "Sweet, incomparable Josephine, how strangely you stir my heart," he wrote.

The letters formerly were in the possession of Charles Tennant, who said he received them from a Polish confidential agent of Napoleon. The agent is believed to have acquired them from a servant at Malmaison, who took them from a drawer after Josephine's death.

Included in the sale was the original death mask of Napoleon, made at St. Helena. It brought only 40 pounds.

The Rosebery Napoleonic library was sold for 13,000 pounds. The rest of the library was sold last month for 37,000 pounds.

Newest Finds in Decoration Made of Wood

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Wooden bracelets, earrings and chest pins, some of beige colored bamboo, others of mottled wood, are the newest things you can use for decoration.

They are stunning new accents for knitted sports outfits, slim trim tailored tweeds and even for rough weave linens and silks. The bracelets look like portions of back yard fences in miniature, and the big button earrings are quite the best looking things you ever clamped in your ears.

And new satin costume jewelry will be in before you know it . . . long necklaces, rigid band bracelets, earrings, and clips. Most of it is fashioned like the white and colored ping-pong jewelry that was so effective with summer frocks a few weeks ago. This shiny satin stuff gleams like nobody's business . . . you can buy it in white or black, and it will do grand things for dull crêpe street costumes and afternoon frocks.

If you are hunting for slim slender new street dresses, do prowl about and discover the newest numbers—smart looking affairs with the new stratosphere shoulders. One stunning new arrival has entire shoulder sections of open work braid effect appliqued to the lustrous dull black of the silk crêpe. Another is dramatized with sleek satin insets. And still others are made with filmy insets of black lace or chiffon. But all of them are stuffed and perky as to shoulder, and accent a slim waistline with widened effects that stick way out on the side.

Dull silk crêpe hats and accessories are most effective with all these supershiny black satin costumes, with shining black satin accessories doing their best for dull crêpe models.

Probably the best collection of black and white handkerchiefs ever to arrive in time of need for these fashionable black costumes are now unpacked . . . black and white prints, black linen combined with white organdy and then appliqued with stunning white flowers and all black beauties with huge three inch white monograms.

Catholic Women.

After a board meeting at 11 o'clock committee chairmen will meet at 2 o'clock to discuss plans for the coming year's work.

Nails Should Be Well Kept Under That Brilliant Crimson

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Sun tanned feet should never go without colored nail polish, one reads in the fashion items. Otherwise the nails go blue. Mother-of-pearl, we are told, mixed with color, if you want, is the popular toenail varnish. If your toes aren't young and girlish, however, you're urged to let 'em go blue behind a canvas strap or vamp.

The exposed toe season being of such short duration, comparatively, we'd better get around to hands that are out on view all year around. One day you hear that nail polishes are becoming dimmer and dimmer in tone. Another day that nail polishes are getting lighter in color.

Yet another informant says orange tones are in high favor. And we, ourselves, see the reds—blood, Burgundy, and wine—decorating [or destroying, as you will] the table scene. Proving that nail tinting is of uncommon interest at the moment. But what of the nail itself?

Is it chipped or broken, or given to orgies that bespeak a recent contact with a doorjamb, a window, a trunk lid? It's the nail shape now that matters. Polish on a scrubby nail is just too bad. You want a reasonably long nail, too, to carry off this new pictorial note in hand trimming; a white tipped nail, a beautifully tended outer rim, with some decent semblance of a half moon in session.

Do you know they tell us now that nails that are given to easy splitting, chipping, or breaking may be the result of over use of polish or remover, which is very drying, you know. Other causes are nervousness, lack of vitamin D, and certain congenital disorders, all carrying their own recovery measures.

But suppose your nails are not evenly lengthened; one or two look as if they'd been on the warpath recently. The trick now is to pare down the entire row on each hand and start from scratch again. Let the nails grow out straight and natural for several weeks. Give them repeated baths in oil—olive, sweet almond, even castor oil. Let them get a decent length before you begin shaping them in the now desirable, well rounded oval.

With this new start you'll find you've recovered sufficient pride to keep them oiled frequently to prevent future breaking.

SWELL GARRICK

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Swell Garrick—the World's Perfect Tailor's Dummy—is the label given him by those who didn't know that his well molded body had been created by athletic training, rather than tailoring skill. Maitland, a crooked gambler, is the purported guardian of lovely Rhoda Fairclough. He and Schewan, his chief, plot to trick Rhoda out of a fortune. Maitland has Rhoda adjudged insane. She has been administered a drug which will produce temporary madness. Having no proof of guilt, Garrick determines to settle the matter in his own way. His solicitor tells him that if Rhoda can gain and maintain her liberty for twenty-eight days she will be considered legally sane. Garrick undertakes a bold rescue. He escapes to London with Rhoda. Garrick hires Alf, a farmhand out of work, as a helper and buys his silence. One of the gang is shot during an encounter in Garrick's home and the police suspect Garrick. Garrick buys a controlling interest in "Jelks' World Famous Fair." They travel about for a week when the gang overtakes them. They escape, but Garrick is separated from Rhoda and Alf. Garrick disguises as the chauffeur of his friend, young Alistair. He calls at the gang's headquarters in search of incriminating evidence. The gang walk in on him and they have with them Alf, from whom they intend to learn Rhoda's whereabouts. Garrick saves Alf. They go to a shack in a lonely meadow where Alf had left Rhoda. Rhoda has mysteriously disappeared. The shack is occupied by an old hag.

INSTALLMENT XXXIX.

A STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE.

Garrick took another good look at the woman. She hobbled from the soap box, picked up one of the blankets, and began to cut it. It dawned on them that if she was not wholly imbecile she was not very far from it.

"Listen to me!" he said sternly, holding up the fragment of leather. "This was a suitcase—a bag—and you were burning it. You have stolen what was inside the bag. Where is it?"

"Ur-r! She don't want no bag where she's going."

Garrick, fear clutching at his heart, promptly changed his tactics.

"Ah, you're quite right!" he said, and forced a laugh. "She won't need that bag where she's going. . . . Where is she going?"

It seemed to him quite certain then that the police had taken Rhoda and that this old hag had somehow drifted on to the scene.

"They didn't say where they was goin'—they never do. Te-he!" The lips parted in a hideous, toothless grin. "They said I was to burn everything." Her momentary expansiveness vanished. "And then you come along asking me questions. Gimme back that bag so's I can burn it."

She held out her hand and Garrick let her have the leather. She snatched it and dug the knife into it. There was no doubt that the hag had been ordered to burn the things. Equally, there could be no doubt that neither the police nor Schewan himself had given such orders.

In some way or other this horrible old hag was now the only link between himself and Rhoda. Somehow he must find out from her what had happened. And he felt instinctively that he must find out quickly—or it would be too late.

"In case we get separated again, Alf, I will be at the main bookstall on Waterloo Station every day at twelve midday and at seven in the evening."

Garrick stared at the hag, momentarily at a loss. It was easy enough to tell himself that he must find out at once from her what had happened to Rhoda, but very difficult to put it into practice.

He pulled out a dozen or so treasury notes and held them fanwise in front of her.

"You tell me where the young lady has gone and I'll give you these."

The old woman cut another piece off the blanket and dropped it in the brazier.

"They didn't say where they was goin'," she repeated.

"All right! Tell me who they were and you shall have the money just the same."

"They didn't say who they was."

"It's no good trying that kind of thing on me," he said sharply. "You aren't as stupid as all that, really—I believe you're just putting it on. If you don't tell me at once what happened to that young lady I shall go for the police."

"Te-he!" laughed the old woman. "The police never do me no harm. I never take nothin'."

Garrick knew that he had drawn a blank. He turned away and joined Alf in the road, and broke his news.

"It fair beats me, sir," said Alf. "There's Miss Fairclough sitting there waiting for me and you to come—and then somebody comes along 'ere, looks at the shack, and says 'emselves: "Ah, here's a young lady—we'd better walk off with 'er."

"It can't have happened like that, of course!" said Garrick thoughtfully. "There must be some plan behind it, Alf. Some one must have come to that shack knowing that she was there. And it can't be the police. And it can't be Schewan's little lot."

There, for the moment, they were at a dead end.

"Whatever happens we mustn't let go of the old woman," said Garrick. "I'm afraid it means another split night for you, Alf. I'll stay here until two o'clock in the morning. Then you turn up and relieve me. But before that you must get me a complete new set of clothes. Schewan will have told the yarn by now that I'm walking about in a chauffeur's rigout and Lanport will have had to report it, too. You'd better include a pretty thick overcoat."

Alf drove off in Alistair's car while Garrick took careful note of the shack's immediate surroundings.

There was a similar bank on the opposite side of the road—but that would be too far off for his purpose. Some ten yards from the shack he found a deep hollow from which he could see both the shack and the roadway without himself being observed.

There were loose stones in front of the shack, which meant that he need not keep his eyes on it the whole time, for no one could enter or leave it without his hearing them. He sat down, completely screened.

He had not been there five minutes before he heard a car approaching along the partly made road.

"That's the shed right enough!" said a gruff voice. "If Miss Fairclough's there by herself I don't suppose she'll give us any trouble."

Garrick heard footsteps passing the hollow, then boots on the loose stones. Through an obliging screen of stinging nettles on the parapet of the hollow he saw a sergeant and two constables.

As the police entered the shack he could hear their voices raised in astonishment, but could not distinguish what they said. Five minutes passed. Then came a shuffling.

"You'll 'ave to bring me back. I ain't taken nothin'," he heard the voice of the old woman saying.

"You've said that before, ma," said one of the police. "You come along with us. If you've done nothing you needn't be afraid. But we want to know about the young lady."

"I never seen no young lady—I ain't taken nothin'," the woman said. And Garrick heard her say it again before they put her in the police car.

"This," said Garrick to himself, "looks like being my unlucky day." To attempt to follow the old woman to the police station would only result in his own arrest. Alf, of course, could watch the subsequent proceedings in the police court and could perhaps get in touch with her that way. All this would mean a long delay.

But there were to be no proceedings in the police court. Within an hour the old woman came back—escorted by the police right to the shack. Evidently it had been impossible to make a charge against her and she had compelled them to fulfill her prophecy that they would bring her back.

Afternoon faded into dusk and he began to listen anxiously for Alf's return. At half-past five he was standing in the hollow watching the road, when he was horribly startled by a hoarse whisper behind him.

"Mr. Garrick, sir . . . I've driven past here twice in the car—they've got a constable on point duty in the main road—an' four or five dotted about. I reckon they're sort of half expectin' you to turn up"—he sniggered—"not knowin' you got 'ere first. I had to come over the field—jumped across a small river, I did."

"Good man!" whispered Garrick approvingly. "You don't miss much, Alf! I believe you and I would do quite well as a couple of crooks."

"Yes, sir!" said Alf unconvincingly. "I've got the clothes done up in this 'ere parcel—and this 'ere overcoat on my arm. It wouldn't be safe to show a light—not with that constable fifty yards away on the corner."

"I can manage it," said Garrick and proceeded to take off his chauffeur's uniform. "Better take these back with you. In case we get separated again, Alf, I will be at the main bookstall on Waterloo station every day at twelve midday and at seven in the evening. You'd better have plenty of money on you in case of emergencies—here's fifty to be going on with."

Alf repeated his instructions, then slipped away. It was not quite dark—which meant that Garrick would have to keep his vigil without the consolation of a smoke. He did an hour of sentry-go in the limited space at his disposal and was beginning to feel hungry when he felt that the pockets of the overcoat were bulging.

"Good old Alf!" he muttered as he discovered one pocket contained a thermos flask of hot tea and the other an enormous packet of sandwiches.

GASOLINE ALLEY—GONE COLLECTING

Nurses, Matron Show Interest in Child Study

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

It has been interesting to see the gradually increasing number of letters I receive from children's nurses and from women working in institutions. These letters show two things. First, a warm concern for the happiness and well being of the children in their care, and second, a desire to deal intelligently with those children.

Sometimes a nurse will have to spend all day coping with children whose parents have made a pretty bad job of it all. And many of these nurses, instead of getting out because they can't stand it, will try to undo the harm done, in some cases writing to me for advice or booklets.

Matrons in institutions are often inspired by the same humane and intelligent feeling and write to me in the same spirit that is, some of them do.

This is a most difficult type of work to do and to do well. People should have special training for it, so that they cannot only understand children in general, but can understand the effect that institutional life has on them. It is after all, an unnatural way for children to live and it gives rise to all sorts of kinks in behavior.

The matron and teachers and all those doing this work who understand why the children react as they do to institutional life are better able to deal with it in an intelligent and human way. I happen to have had a close connection of this sort myself for several years and it made me realize how badly people who are to do this work need training for it.

My main point, however, is this: Have no reading matter that deals with the special sort of behavior that arises out of institutional living, but we have a number of booklets written in full, as well as brief reading references on child care and training at all ages which would be very helpful to nurses and matrons. Notices of these appear from time to time, or for those who wish it we can send a list of all our literature on receipt of a stamped self-addressed envelop.

Benefit Party

A midsummer card party will be given this evening in the assembly hall at 83d place and Blackstone avenue, for the benefit of St. Felicitas parish. Mrs. Charles Murphy is the chairman of arrangements and is assisted by Mrs. John Renaud, Mrs. Thomas Brennan, Mrs. Charles Leitelt Jr. and Mrs. Harry P. Farrell.

The members of the committee in charge have made arrangements to care for a large crowd.

MRS. CHARLES MURPHY.

A 'Maligned' Wife Speaks on Triangles

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Here's the other side of the story, "Ruth!" It's told from the side of the fence on which you want to be yourself! The married woman's side!

She may not be the identical wife whose husband you have fallen in love with. But she's the wife of a man who is telling some other girl, just about your age, too, "Ruth," how dearly he loves her and how he wishes he hadn't tied himself to a heartless creature who hasn't a care in the world for him.

You young women victims of the triangle affairs judge the wife always without a hearing. Naturally, you do not have the opportunity to hear her side. Even though you did run into her you still would not be in a position to get the real picture. Anyway, here's the real lowdown on one of these "awful wives who lead their husbands a terrible life."

Her name doesn't matter. "I was suddenly awakened to find myself a woman loathed, not worthy of my husband's affections! It did not matter in the least to this young woman that I love my husband in spite of everything. That I have worked when work was available. That I have gone about with tongue tied, hard as it was to keep it still,

"Of course, I've been advised to leave, but it seemed a poor solution to a problem. All wives aren't constituted so they can walk out when trouble comes. The queer part of it is that the man still cares for me. He must, or he couldn't behave the way he does to me. No matter what's he telling my rival—he himself doesn't believe it of me.

"But that's not the point. It's the cruelty of my own sex that hurts. Only tomorrow when that girl is in my place as a married one, maligned on hearsay only, can she know how cruel is her ready willingness to believe the worst of the wife."

BEAUTY ANSWERS

ANNIE: TO REDUCE A LARGE abdomen, you might put yourself on a three-day liquid diet which allows the choice of fruit juice, milk, buttermilk, or clear broth. It is better to stick to one chosen item for the entire three days. Start off with a cup of coffee with milk in the mornings, if you must have it. Then do my abdomen exercises which may be obtained by a stamped addressed envelope.

Limit Parties Planned for Rugby Team

Will Avoid Provinciality in Entertaining.

a series of small dinners, repaying those who have entertained him during his summer widower days, perhaps. The Century club and the Tavern are his favorite places for entertaining, and on Friday of this week he is having a particularly nice party at the latter club.

Strictly a stag party is the dinner George F. Getz is giving the evening of Aug. 2 at the Chicago club. Mr. Getz has invited his guests for 6:30 in order that they may move on afterwards for the Golden Gloves bouts at the Chicago Stadium.

Mr. Getz is summering here this year with week-ends at his farm at Holland, Mich. Young Mr. Getz and his bride of less than a year [the former Olive Atwater], are dividing their week-ends between Holland and the summer home of Mrs. Getz's sister, Mrs. Philip L. Wrigley, at Lake Geneva.

Fair Tour Benefit to Be Given Tonight

The second of the series of World's Fair supper dances at the Congress hotel to provide funds for orphans to visit the Fair will be given tonight. Mrs. Edward Hines, chairman of the committee in charge, will be one of those entertaining. Others who will have guests at tonight's party will be the Ray Hoovers, the Telfer MacArthurs, Mrs. Elmer Bersbach, the James S. Kempers, the Hugh McCullochs, the Rawleigh Warners, and the John W. Roots.

About Aug. 10 the Edward H. Bennetts and their whole family—"everything but the house," as Mrs. Bennett put it—are starting out to spend two or three weeks in Santa Fé, not far from the Arthur G. Cables' ranch, so that means horses and sunshine and sagebrush and cactus for young Elizabeth, Edward Jr., and Joseph Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Niblack Thorne arrived yesterday afternoon from Kansas City, where they left their tiny daughter, Anne, in the care of a nurse while they visit Mr. Thorne's parents, the James Ward Thornes. The Niblack Thornes will be here about a week or so, and, as they especially want to see the Fair, any entertaining done for them will be very informal and of secondary importance.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thorne are contemplating a short trip to Europe —London, Paris, Germany—and although they haven't considered what boat to take, or on what date to sail, they are quite certain that they will be leaving soon, perhaps the middle of next month.

Bensons to Visit Here in Fall

"Some time in September or October" is the most definite answer the Volney Fosters can give their many friends inquiring about the visit of their daughter and her husband, Maj. Rex Benson and Mrs. Benson of London. Originally the Bensons were expected in August, but they are having such a perfectly delightful summer in the house they have taken in Sunningdale, Berkshire county, England, that they hate the thought of leaving it.

Just yesterday, however, Mr. Foster had a long letter from Mrs. Benson saying that it would be before the close of the Fair. Mrs. Foster has been down in New York on business the last fortnight.

It will be recalled that Maj. and Mrs. Benson spent their honeymoon in India and sent two tigers back to London with them upon their return last March 15. Maj. Benson shot them with his bride watching from a perch atop a hunting elephant.

Lawrence M. Viles isn't able to give the former Glee Louise Viles' friends any definite information about when she is arriving for a visit, for although the lovely little Mrs. Redmond S. Wright is on Long Island visiting her mother, Mrs. Albert J. Smith, and Mr. Viles knows she is coming here to see him before she returns to France, he doesn't know exactly when to expect her. Mr. Wright and tiny Glee didn't come with her, so her visit won't be very long and in mid-August she will be sailing back to them.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Randolph of Evanston announce the engagement of their daughter, Shirley, to Robert Haviland Burdsall of Chicago and Port Chester, N. Y. Miss Randolph is a graduate of the Roycemore school and also attended Miss Mason's school at Tarrytown. Mr. Burdsall is an alumnus of Swarthmore college.

Palmer W. Holmes of Junior terrace has announced the engagement of his sister, Jane, to Charles Edwin Blomgren Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Edwin Blomgren.

Individual Lines Feature of Frock for Junior Girl

Any girl will love a dress made in this design. It is so smart and individual, and rather tailored looking. One of the pin dotted soft linen finished cottons in red and white, with the collar of white organdie, tiny white buttons, and a red leather belt made the original. Yellow and white checked gingham, with white organdie for contrast, is another suggestion.

The pattern, No. 2604, comes in sizes 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 12 requires 2⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ¼ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Sally Will Select Guests Today for Buddy Rogers Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Letters all written and mailed? They'd better be, if you want to come with me next week!

Judging from the stacks and stacks of mail already received, I'll be kept busy all day today reading letters written in pencil, in ink, on white paper, yellow paper, or even blue paper —all kinds of 'em. The writers of the most convincing ones, you know, will be invited to the Hotel Sherman next Thursday to see a special screening of Buddy Rogers' latest film—"Best of Enemies," and meet Buddy personally.

I know you'll enjoy seeing and talking to him, because in spite of the considerable fame he's achieved he's a regular guy. He says that he was only an average student in school because he never studied very hard. He's sorry now, but it proves that he was just like most boys in class.

Marion Nixon [remember her in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm"?] plays the part of Lena, the girl in the movie. They have a rather difficult time for a while, because their fathers dislike one another heartily, and don't want their children to be friends.

My list of guests will be announced Sunday.

Miss Elizabeth Telling, Chicago artist, is to talk on her recent trip to Yucatan and give impressions of the Mayan people at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Woman's City club.

Quick Coffee Cakes Sunday Morning Treat

Delicious with Browned Cinnamon Crust.

Frozen Desserts

Why won't my frozen desserts freeze? What made my sherbet icy? What is a parfait? A Mousse? A sherbet? An ice? An ice cream? How can I turn my old frozen dessert recipes into ones which will work in my refrigerator trays?

These questions and an assortment of others all pertaining to the proper freezing of chilly summer desserts have been answered in "Home Frozen Delicacies," Mary Meade's newest recipe booklet available by mail for 13 cents at the Tribune Tower, or selling over the counter at THE TRIBUNE Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 10 cents. The booklet contains 50 recipes for frozen desserts with six accompanying sauces.

BY MARY MEADE.

Quick bread, quick salads, quick dessert—quick meals in general—are what we're looking for in these whirling days of much and fast going. And the nearest among these to most of our hearts are quick breads. We named them that, likely, because they're so much more speedily made than their yeast bread relations.

Quick coffee cakes are one of the youngest members of the quick bread family—a family which has had startling growth since the discovery of the simple method of preparing bicarbonate of soda [our first speedy leavener] in 1823. Another instance in A Century of Progress.

A late Sunday morning breakfast that should not be too heavy, but still wants to be dressed up a little, would be most grateful for a warm, crunchy coffee cake, with, perhaps, a fruity interior or a delicately browned cinnamon crust, like this:

COFFEE CAKE WITH CRACKER CRUMB CRUST.

2¼ cups sifted flour.
2½ teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.
1-3 cup melted shortening.
1-3 cup sugar.
2 well beaten eggs.
¾ cup milk.
2 tablespoons melted butter.
¼ cup fine cracker crumbs.
¼ cup sugar.
½ teaspoon cinnamon.

Sift the dry ingredients together. Combine the eggs and milk and beat gradually into the dry mixture. Add the melted shortening and beat again. Turn into a greased loaf pan and spread the top with 2 tablespoons melted butter. Sprinkle with a mixture of ¼ cup fine cracker crumbs, ¼ cup sugar, and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Bake in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees F.] 45 minutes.

Then we have some coffee cakes that are quite dressed up enough to make a social bow at an informal afternoon tea or a cozy Sunday supper. The first one has a crunchy topping of chopped almonds and the second a piquant spice filling.

AUNT KIT'S COFFEE CAKE.

¼ cup butter.
1 cup sugar.
2 eggs.
½ cup milk.
1½ cups pastry flour.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
Almonds.

Cream the butter, then add the sugar and cream both together. Add the well beaten eggs. Sift the baking powder with the flour and add alternately with the milk to the butter mixture. Beat well and pour into a greased shallow tin. Bake in a hot oven [375 degrees F.]. Cover the top with almonds which have been put through a grinder, mixed with ¼ cup sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon.

SPICE FILLED COFFEE CAKE.

2½ cups sifted flour.
3½ teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.
¼ teaspoon nutmeg.
¼ teaspoon cinnamon.
2-3 cup sugar.
3½ tablespoons butter.
2 eggs.
¾ cup milk.

Sift the flour before measuring. Then resift with the other dry ingredients. Add the creamed butter, the eggs [unbeaten] and the milk to the dry mixture. Stir together until well blended and smooth and turn into a round greased cake pan. Cover with the following spice topping:

2 tablespoons flour.
2 tablespoons butter.
½ cup brown sugar.
¾ cup finely chopped nuts.
¾ teaspoon cinnamon.
½ teaspoon salt.

Cream the butter thoroughly, then add all the other ingredients with the exception of the nuts. Blend thoroughly and spread the mixture over the unbaked coffee cake. Sprinkle the chopped nuts on top. Place the coffee cake in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees F.] and bake 45 minutes. Cool, split and spread sweetened whipped cream between the layers. Serve in wedge shaped pieces.

North Shore Engagement

MISS HELEN SPURGEON
[Carlos Photo.]

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Francis Spurgeon of Glencoe announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Paul William Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hayes of Minneapolis. Miss Spurgeon and Mrs. Hayes are graduates of the University of Minnesota. Miss Spurgeon is now taking graduate work at the University of Chicago. The wedding will take place in September.

French Blazer Is Missing Style Link Between Sports and Town Clothes

BY SUZETTE BARILLET.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The college boy's blazer has crashed into feminine fashions. It's true that it's on its best behavior, as it were, all dressed up and with plenty of places to go.

Maggy Rouff is responsible for introducing these sports styles into fashionable society. She is making blazers of heavy striped cravat silk in rich color combinations, like brown, black, and old gold, or Corinth red and two tones of stone gray, to wear in town with simple bouclé wool street frocks [specially gray ones], as well as in the country with active sports outfits.

Some of them are of the loose swagger variety, collarless and having a tie scarf to match; others are tailored, semi-fitted, double breasted, and with notch collar and lapels. Always they stop just at the hipbones.

The blazer sketched today furnishes a missing style link between the sports and town modes. It's in mulberry red and white, satin striped cravat silk, with boxy cut prolonged into a little standing collar. The wrong side of the silk is used for the wide flaring cuffs.

The dress of white bouclé silk is designed for tennis, but plus the jacket it steps out of the active sports and into the spectator or even semi-dressy class. The skirt has an easy flare by wide gores. The bodice is amusingly fastened down the front, cuff link fashion, by attached pairs of largish white porcelain buttons, set in between curved tucks that take the place of frogs.

The tiny cap sleeves are trimmed with two upstanding tucks of the same persuasion and opposing tucks jut out over the armholes. The white bouclé silk belt has a white porcelain buckle.

Negro Music to Mark Fair De Saible Day

Many Additional Concerts on Program.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

De Saible day will have a special celebration at A Century of Progress today, and in addition there will be twenty-three other musical programs during the day and evening. The celebration is in honor of Jean De Saible, the Negro pioneer and explorer who came here with Father Marquette and built the first cabin on the present site of Chicago.

There will be special ceremonies at the De Saible cabin near 28th street at 3 o'clock. Congressman De Priest will speak. The De Saible dancers will appear at the Floating theater from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, to be followed by a chorus of 250 Negro singers from 8 to 8:40 o'clock.

Among other musical features of the day the Chicago Association of Commerce Glee club of 80 voices, directed by Arthur Dunham, will sing in the court of the Hall of Science from 8 to 9 o'clock. Willamette university of Willamette, Ore., is sending its Philharmonic choir of 50 voices to sing at the Floating theater from 9 to 10 o'clock. Cameron Marshall is the director.

The Singing Lady will appear in the boys' playroom of the Enchanted island at 2 o'clock. At the same hour there will be an organ recital in the chapel of the Hall of Religion. The Chenango County 4-H club band will give two concerts, the first in the court of the Hall of States from 11 to 12 noon, the second in the court of the Hall of Science from 5 to 6 o'clock. Members of Mu Phi Epsilon, musical sorority, will appear in the Hall of Social Science at 4 o'clock.

The Salvation Army band will play in the third pavilion of the General Exhibits building between 6:30 and 7:30 o'clock. The Mundy choristers will sing under the potent baton of James A. Mundy in the court of the Hall of Science from 9 to 10 o'clock. Lillian Jackson, winner of a nation-wide popularity contest for Negro girls, will be presented.

Of continuing attractions the A. and P. Gypsies play daily under the direction of Harry Horlick at the A. and P. Carnival. There are concerts at 4 and 8:30 o'clock and dance music at 4:45 and 9:45 o'clock. The United States Army band concert will be played by the Third Field Artillery band at Camp Whistler at 7:15 o'clock.

MINUTE MYSTERY

By H. A. RIPLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BAD REASONING.

Sergeant Reynolds was questioning Wilbur Davis, night clerk of the small, cheap Hotel Washington, in front of which, twenty minutes before, a man with nothing on his person to identify him had been shot to death.

"Go on," growled Reynolds. He didn't like the looks of the fellow to begin with and he abhorred purple neckties. Davis, unfortunately, was wearing one.

"As I was tellin' you," continued the clerk after wetting his lips, "this guy who was bumped off registered about 8 o'clock under the name of 'John Smith.' He had no baggage—he paid in advance—sayin' he was shovin' off for the coast in the morning. About twenty minutes ago he comes down, hands me a letter, throws me a nickel, a nickel, mind you, and tells me to mail it for him. He was a tough lookin' mug, so I dropped it in the hotel mail box over there by the elevator just as he went out the side entrance."

"All right, all right," Reynolds interrupted. "Did you notice the letter?"

"Just that it bore only an address, but I don't remember what it was."

"You don't, eh? Well, I'll find it, wise guy!"

Having called and received permission, the sergeant was busily engaged in sorting the letters in the mail box when Prof. Fordney and Inspector Kelley arrived. He stopped, saluted, and informed them of what he had learned.

Fordney's first question was to the clerk: "Let's see the coins in your pocket. H'mmm. Well, you're wasting your time, son," Fordney said to Reynolds. "You'll not get a line on your man from anything in the mail box."

Why did Fordney tell Reynolds this?

Miss Helen Coolidge Becomes Bride of Harry H. Woodring

Fitchburg, Mass., July 25.—(AP)—Helen Coolidge, attractive daughter of Senator and Mrs. Marcus A. Coolidge, today became the bride of Assistant Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring, former governor of Kansas, in a simple ceremony in the Coolidge home.

Men and women prominent in the affairs of the state and nation, representative of both the Democratic and Republican parties, attended the ceremony. James Roosevelt, son of President Roosevelt, was Woodring's best man. Col. Robert Lemon, aid to Woodring when he was governor of Kansas, also was one of his attendants.

Mr. Woodring and his bride first met in the political and social life of Washington, where the latter has been socially prominent since her father, a veteran Democratic leader in Massachusetts, entered the senate in 1930. She is an artist of note, having made portraits of many congressional leaders.

Attired in a wedding gown of the 1830 period of ivory moire and carrying a nosegay of gardenias, Miss Coolidge was given in marriage by her father. The Rev. Max A. Kapp of the First Universalist church officiated. She was attended by her sisters.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Oak Hill Country club. Later Mr. Woodring and his bride left for New York, where they will sail tomorrow on the S. S. President Roosevelt for France.

Grandchild of Suez Canal Builder Weds Nephew of Alfonso

URRUGNE, France, July 25.—(AP)—Mlle. Marisol Mesia y Lesseps, granddaughter of the French builder of the Suez canal, and the Infante Don José of Bavaria Bourbon, nephew of the former Spanish king, were married today at the Urrugne church.

Many members of the French and Spanish nobility attended. Prince Jaime, second son of Alfonso, acted as his father's representative. The civil service was held yesterday at the city hall.

The bride, a grandniece of the late Empress Eugénie, wore a gown of white tulle designed with a wide spreading skirt at the ceremony today. Her lace veil was an heirloom originally given by the city of Paris to the consort of Napoleon III. when the prince imperial was christened.

FEDERAL COTTON SELLING CALLED SPUR TO SLUMP

U. S. O. K.'s Marketing of 788,000 Bales.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—[Special.]—It was discovered today the federal government released for sale 788,000 bales of cotton on which it had loans, turning it loose on the market last Wednesday, the first day of the break in the cotton and other exchanges.

Release of the cotton, all that remained in the hands of the farm credit administration, contributed to the 40 point [there are 100 points to a cent] drop per pound in cotton prices July 19. That was a part of the general break in markets, officials admitted today.

Helps to Repay Loans.

On the other hand, they pointed out that the release was a good business deal for the government. It permitted the owners of government mortgaged cotton to sell, and if they did sell it paved the way for collection of the government's loan.

It was said that a bombardment of telegrams from cotton owners who had borrowed government funds on their crops, and who were not allowed to sell without government consent, caused the final release. That action was not announced publicly at the time it was taken, but was revealed today by Herbert E. Gaston, secretary of the farm credit administration, in response to inquiries.

Allows Immediate Sale.

A blanket order to all cotton producers who had federal production loans was telegraphed by the credit administration last Wednesday. Gaston said that the release carried in the order "was effective immediately," freeing all of the 788,000 bales instantly on the day which turned out to be the cracking point of the commodity market rises.

It was learned that all of the cotton released was from the 1931 and 1932 crops and could move immediately in the spot cotton market. The 788,000 bales released would make up slightly less than one-twelfth of a normal crop for an entire year. The spot cotton market in New York dropped 40 points last Wednesday, the day of the release.

Inherited from R. F. C.

The cotton was inherited by the farm credit administration from the seed loan offices of the department of agriculture and the regional agricultural credit agencies of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Because the cotton was collateral for the government loans, it could not be sold by its owners without federal consent.

When cotton was selling for about five cents a pound, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced that as part of the farm adjustment program the government would buy at 9½ cents all cotton on which it had loans. As soon as the price in the open market passed 9½ cents, owners began to clamor for release from the government.

Five hundred telegrams were received at the Washington central office alone. When cotton went to 11½ cents last Tuesday, the administration yielded to the requests for release.

JAPANESE SERVE AN ULTIMATUM ON GEN. FENG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, July 25.—Gen. Muto, commander of the Japanese forces in Manchuria, today sent an ultimatum to the Christian general Feng Yu-hsiang, demanding his immediate evacuation of the cities of Dolon-nor and Kalgan, in Chahar province northwest of Peiping. Gen. Feng's troops seized these cities some time ago.

Two Japanese military planes today flew over Dolon-nor, Kuyuan, Kangpao, and other cities in northern Chahar and dropped leaflets declaring that unless Dolon-nor is immediately evacuated the Japanese will "raze the city to the ground."

Reports from Peiping say Gen. Feng, alarmed at the situation, is trying to reach, a compromise through Gen. Nakamura, commander of the Japanese garrison at Tientsin.

The Nanking government today issued a scathing denunciation of Gen. Feng, charging that he is creating a reign of Red terrorism in Chahar and that he is in league with the communists.

DIES OF POISON

ROBERT B. OGILVIE JR.

A coroner's inquest yesterday into the death of Robert Burns Ogilvie, 45 years old, 1312 Isabella street, Evanston, was continued to Aug. 9. Mr. Ogilvie, who was a former loop haberdasher, swallowed poison Monday night at the home of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Jeanne Owens of 1906 Montrose avenue, and died soon afterward in the Ravenswood hospital.

Mrs. Lois Ogilvie, the widow, testified that her husband had been in good spirits recently and that she knew of no reason why he should commit suicide. She disclosed that he had been out of employment since May and was hoping to make a new connection in the clothing or haberdashery business.

It was incorrectly stated yesterday that Mr. Ogilvie was connected with A. Starr Best. He has not been with that firm in any capacity since October, 1932.

JAPS ASK PARLEY TO SETTLE TRADE WAR WITH BRITAIN

Want Negotiations to Include India.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 25.—Some progress was reported in the house of commons today on the desperate efforts of the British textile industry to meet competition of cheap Japanese labor in the far east.

Dr. E. Leslie Burgin, parliamentary secretary of the board of trade, reported that notes had been exchanged between the British and Japanese governments on suggestions from the Japanese concerning the textile trade. These suggestions recommended immediate tripartite negotiations in India among the British, Japanese, and Indian millers. The Japanese want the negotiations to include both the Indian and British colonial market, in which India is interested.

Propose London Parley.

The discussions would be followed by a further series of negotiations in London to deal with other world markets, in which the Japanese are becoming serious competitors of the Lancashire industry. At these conferences the industrial representatives of the countries concerned would be present.

Dr. Burgin said that it is not certain whether the British government will take part in the discussion.

The house debated the condition of other industries in which the Japanese are underselling British firms.

Cites Low Jap Prices.

"In the dominion market the Japanese competition is so fierce that a 21 piece Japanese tea service can be sold for 60 cents, whereas the lowest price possible for this tea service to be produced by British labor is $3," Mrs. Ida Copeland said.

Dr. Burgin declared that the British government is fully alive to these matters, but he refused to say whether he will take up this matter and others in the engineering trades.

Grand Beach, Mich., July 25.—Preparations for the international bouts with the amateur boxing champions of Ireland at Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 2 were speeded up today in the Chicagoland Golden Gloves camp. All of the candidates for the Chicago team were asked to go three rounds of three minutes each.

They responded with a vigor that spoke for their intense desire to be chosen on the team of eight. Cooling lake breezes whipping through the gymnasium, pitched at the edge of the sandy beach, enabled the boys to go at top speed.

The boxing schedule will be maintained tomorrow and possibly Thursday. From then the boys will coast, aiming to climb into the ring, a week from tomorrow, with the same sharp edge of condition which aided them in turning back the New York Golden Gloves team last March, 10 victories to 6 defeats.

Pacek Has Toothache.

John Pacek, while not an invalid by any means, is the only one not in the best of health. Pacek has complained of an aching tooth and this morning he was sent to a Michigan City dentist for treatment. Pacek, as you know, will meet Paddy Mulligan, Irish heavyweight, who will have a weight advantage of more than 20 pounds. Mulligan, according to reports which seep through to Grand Beach, is a hard hitting broth of a boy, who can put a man to sleep with one punch, provided the target is stationary.

Pacek is far from an easy mark in the ring. He is as agile as Mulligan is reported to be slow. Pacek also can hit with the power of a mule's kick. If the camp's estimate of the strength of the Irish team is near correct, the Pacek-Mulligan scrap will be the climax of the amateur fights just as the heavyweights last year dominated the Chicago-German bouts.

Lennie Cohen of Chicago and Johnny Baltzer of Davenport, Ia., continue at an even pace for the flyweight berth. Baltzer is the Golden Gloves champion, having defeated Cohen in the Chicago finals by a narrow margin. Both of the boys won their bouts from New York.

Battle for Rodak's Berth.

George Van Der Heyden and Izzy Goldstein, featherweights, also are fighting neck and neck for the berth left vacant by Leo Rodak, the Golden Gloves 126 pound champion who recently turned professional. Johnny Dobier of Cleveland and Eddie Ward, Chicago Negro, are whipping over fast right and lefts hoping to win the nomination in the lightweight class.

One of the best camp struggles occurs daily between Henry Rothier, welterweight champion, and Billy Celebron, Golden Gloves runnerup. Both won from New York and Celebron went on to win the National A. A. U. championship. Either is expected to take the measure of Jack Kennedy.

The boys are not overconfident, but they believe that the team which is chosen can lick the Irish. The boast of the invaders that they will take all eight fights is marked as so much hooey.

All in Good Health.

Dr. Thomas Dwyer, Golden Gloves team physician, motored out today to give the boys a second examination. He found all in the best of health.

Explanation was made today, although none was needed, that for the first time in three years of international boxing the Chicago team probably would not be the home town favorites. The unprecedented receptions accorded the fighters from Erin at Union station and at Garfield and Jackson parks, where thousands hailed the visitors, indicate that Chicago's Irish will be rooting for an Irish victory. There are no Irish on the Chicago team, and the Poles, Belgians, Italians, Germans, and so on actually are anxious to put an Irishman face down in the resin of the Soldiers' field ring.

Join the Crowds

On Aug. 2 thousands will stream into Soldiers' field to see Chicagoland's Golden Gloves team fight the amateur champions of Ireland. There will be room for a limited number, so if you want seats, now is the time to purchase them.

It may be too late to obtain a ticket on the day of the fights. Those who delay frequently have to pay more. The lowest priced seat is 55 cents for a program of eight international fights and interesting preliminaries. Thousands already have taken advantage of this bargain.

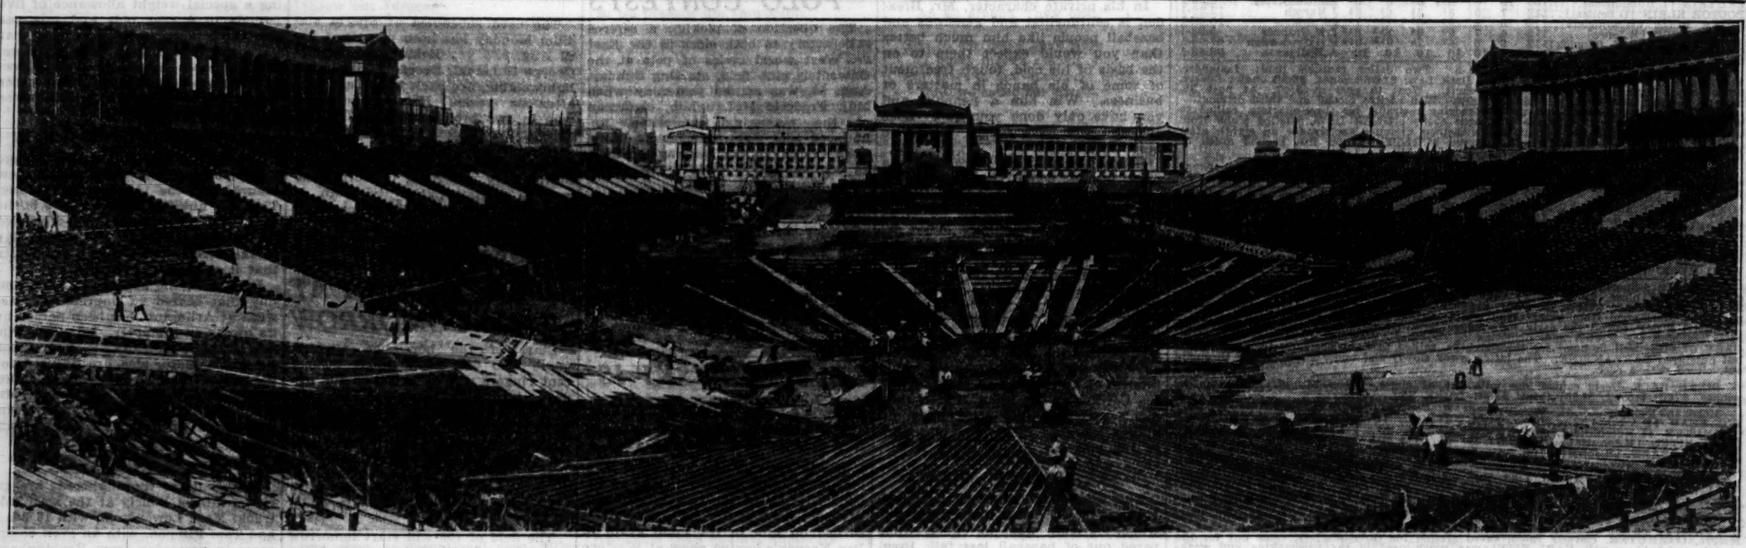

Other tickets are on sale for $1.10, $2, $2.50, and $3.30. All seats are reserved.

Get yours at any Walgreen drug store; at the Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street; at the Midwest Athletic club, or in Room 530 Tribune Tower.

THE GUMPS—ON THE SPOT

ARENA RISES FOR INTERNATIONAL BOUTS AT SOLDIERS' FIELD

The big pine bowl where the Chicagoland Golden Gloves team will battle the champions of Ireland next Wednesday evening takes form. It slopes up to the concrete stands of Soldiers' field arena, thus providing an unobstructed view for every one. Each row of seats will be elevated. When completed the huge bowl will accommodate 50,000. It is being erected in the south end of Soldiers' field.

DICK HEARNS LIKES COMPANY AND HAS PLENTY

BY JERRY CURRAN.

If there weren't so many people in Chicago with family or other ties in Ballina, Dick Hearns, Irish light heavyweight champion, might be able to get through these last days of intensive training for the international Golden Gloves bouts next Wednesday in peace and quiet. Dick is such a nice, handsome boy that they come flocking around.

There has been no record of the people who have wanted to see him, but it would not be unsafe to say that eight of every ten calls are for Dick Hearns.

Settle Down to Work.

Since the boys got back from the rousing reception on the south side, Monday evening, life has been quiet and peaceful at the Midwest Athletic club, and training has settled down into smooth routine. The boys heaved a huge sigh of relief when they got back after it was all over. They had been promised that this was to be the last reception before the fights.

And they haven't forgotten that remark of one of the Chicago lads at Grand Beach that receptions weren't going to make any difference when the gong sounded for battle at Soldiers' field. They won't—and don't you think these Irish boys don't know it!

Meantime, though, they are still getting a huge kick out of everything. Yesterday in the gym, for instance, Paddy Hennelly, the Irish middleweight, got a really bright idea. He has been sparring with a colored boy, Jack Cawthorne, from C. Y. O., and he's been thrilled all the time.

Hennelly Gets Proof.

And Hennelly knows that when he goes back home and starts telling them he spent his training period before the fights sparring with a colored boy the folks are going to find it just a little bit hard to swallow. Most of them, it should be added, have never even seen Negroes of any sort.

So Paddy Hennelly decided to save himself a lot of trouble. You can't fool the camera, he figured. He located a photographer, pushed him into the gym ring with his camera and flashlight and all and posed with the colored lad.

Just think of the time Paddy is going to have back in Ballymote, telling the folks about his adventures, and then, if any one should doubt him, pull out that picture right under noses.

Mark Worries Kerr.

Frank Kerr, the bantam weight, was quieter than usual yesterday. It seems Frank got a little smack under the eye in the gym, and, while it didn't do any damage, it did leave a red mark. Frank can't help feeling that he won't look his best so long as it stays there.

What a boxing team this is! They do everything the wrong way round according to American notions. They even worry more about the figure they're going to cut in public than they do about that hard job of work they've got next Wednesday. But they will be there, with everything they've got, when it comes to fighting the Chicagoland Golden Gloves team.

Risko Tests Loughran in Tonight's Bout

Johnny Risko of Cleveland, O., and Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, Pa., heavyweight, will meet in a 10 round bout tonight at Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue. Both fighters finished training yesterday with light exercises. After their respective drills Loughran weighed 185 and Johnny 193.

Loughran, at the age of 31, still is confident that he will reach his goal—the heavyweight championship of the world. He earned a match with Jack Sharkey, former champion, a few years ago, and he was beaten. Now Tommy maintains that the additional experience has aided him and he would like nothing better than another chance at Sharkey.

Loughran whipped Max Baer. So did Risko, who also has beaten Sharkey, Ernie Schaaf, Mickey Walker, Tuffy Griffith, and King Levinsky.

During one of his periodic winning streaks last year Risko defeated Walker, Griffith, and Levinsky in succession. During the promotional career of the late Tex Rickard, Johnny was known as the spoiler, because of his frequent habit of ruining title matches for leading contenders.

If he fails to obtain his chance at the heavyweight title, Loughran plans to retire from the ring and tour the world for five years.

Four matches—one at eight rounds, one at six, and two at four rounds—will compose the supporting card.

Browns Await O. K. on Signing Rogers Hornsby

St. Louis, Mo., July 25.—(AP)—The St. Louis Post-Dispatch says Rogers Hornsby, whose major league baseball career has taken him from St. Louis to New York, Boston, Chicago, and back to St. Louis, will become manager of the St. Louis Browns within a few days.

Waivers on Hornsby, at present a member of the Cardinals, have been out several days and all will be in by tomorrow, leaving Hornsby a free agent with the right to sell his services wherever he desires, it was explained. Until the waivers all are received, a national agreement forbids any club owner dealing with Hornsby.

Reports were current that Hornsby, Branch Rickey, vice president of the Cardinals; Phil Ball, president of the Browns, and Frank Carter, an attorney, conferred today.

Ball, however, denied he had seen Hornsby. "I can't legally discuss relations with a player belonging to another club without violating the rules," he said.

The Brown owner admitted that President Harridge of the American league had disapproved the engaging of Hornsby as pilot, saying "he was undesirable on certain counts." Ball said he would sign Hornsby despite this objection "if I want him."

Former Caddy Shoots 141 to Lead Amateur

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Memphis, Tenn., July 25.—Zell Eaton, a skinny young Sooner who quit shouldering golf bags around Oklahoma City courses a couple of years ago because he was becoming too adept in handling their contents, won the qualifying medal in the thirty-fourth annual western amateur golf tournament at the Memphis Country club today. The reformed caddy shot a 69, the best round of the tournament, to add to his 72 of yesterday for a 36 hole total of 141.

Eaton, who won't be 20 until the end of this month, needed almost all of that 69 to overtake Westland of Chicago, the first day leader, who was runner-up for the medal with a total of 143. The pressure was all on the Sunset Ridge star today, for he started after Eaton was nearly home. But he came through with a 72, which he earned under greater stress than he did his 71 of yesterday.

Rain Hampers Play.

The current western amateur will be recalled as the tournament of the big rain, for the downpour which fell yesterday in answer to the two months' prayers of the natives continued throughout today.

A stroke back of Westland was Gene Vinson, the tall Mississippi state champion from Meridian, who finished with 144. Louis Montedonico, a local

JONES' PITCHING NOT ENOUGH; SOX LOSE IN 10TH, 2-1

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Sam Jones, a man long at the business, did the best he could yesterday to get the White Sox out of their recently acquired habit of taking it on the chin but the veteran's performance, spectacular as it was, didn't inspire. His mates lost just the same, this time, 2 to 1, after ten innings of battling with Cleveland's Indians. It was the sixth beating in a row for the Hose, who as a result of their aimless spree now are interned in sixth place for the first time this season.

The reason the sterling work turned out by Jones went to waste was that Mel Harder, the Indians' right hander, was just a bit better than his aged rival. Two hits and a run in the first inning made it appear as if the sight of their own lot after several weeks of touring, was going to work a transformation in the south siders. After that promising start, however, they went into a decline and stayed that way, their production of hits being limited to two in the next eight innings and two more in the tenth, when they actually made threats to tie it up again.

Pytlak Poison to Sam.

Jones found his greatest source of annoyance in Frank Pytlak, the half pint catcher. The little fellow got nothing out of a single he ripped off in the second inning, so when he came up in the fourth he acted differently. This time he belted the ball into the left field seats for the only run and one of only five hits yielded by Jones in nine innings.

Pytlak, however, managed to sneak across another hit in the tenth. Willie Kamm opened what proved to be the final inning with a single into center. Pytlak punched at a ball as if undecided whether to bunt or hit it. Whatever his intentions, the results were satisfactory for him. The ball fell into right and Kamm had time to dash to third. He ran home with the winning run when Bill Knickerbocker hoisted a long fly to Swanson.

Swanson's double that opened the day's attack for the Sox and, incidentally, led to a run, was a rather tame liner over third, but it bounced down the baseline and wasn't retrieved until it had bounced off the left field wall. For a moment Swanie planned on making three bases, but turned back when halfway to third. Neither Haas nor Kress did anything to inspire confidence. Mr. Simmons, however, was equal to the emergency. He pasted a singled into center and Swanson hiked over the plate. Appling's foul concluded the inning.

Jones Strikes Trouble.

Jones experienced nothing worse than a lone single in the Indians' first inning, but in the second was so deeply in trouble that it looked as if nothing less than a derrick could drag him back to safety. With one out, Kamm singled to right and Pytlak scratched a hit to Dykes. Knickerbocker bounced one back at Jones and an easy double play was at hand, but Old Sam kicked the ball around and got nobody. That filled the bases.

SET 'EM UP AND KNOCK 'EM DOWN, CARDINAL POLICY

Frisch on Pedestal Now, But How Long Will He Be There?

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Sometimes it seems as though Sam Breadon, the St. Louis automobile dealer who owns the town's principal ball club, the Cardinals by name, is moved no more by business considerations than by an impish desire to turn proud people upside down in his startling hirings and firings, promotions and demotions. Mr. Breadon expresses the spirit of the howling fan who likes to see champions rise because only when they are up there is it possible for them to come crashing down.

Sam has just yanked another hero off his column and put another one up there. In time, and no very long time, either, according to precedent, he will slap that one down, too, and put up still another. Unlike the common customer, however, he enjoys the privilege of making his own little kings. The customer can't set them up.

Since 1925 Mr. Breadon has named six men to the job of managing the Cardinals. This is one of the prestige jobs of the baseball business. Sometimes it has been a good job, but generally it is just mediocre as to pay and not very good for the pride of the individual because Mr. Breadon as a king maker deals strictly in limited monarchs. He gives them the title but not much authority and, in proportion to the prominence of the position, very little money.

Frank Frisch went to the Cardinals after the season of 1926 and in taking over the title of so many predecessors at this time he may search his own long experience in vain for some reason to take pride in the job. It is a position that calls for humility of spirit and the man who takes it suffers less in the end if he keeps his neck bent.

Frisch was John McGraw's fair haired prodigy from 1919, when he went from the campus of Fordham university to the Polo Grounds, until the summer of 1926 when McGraw drove him off the ball club. In 1924 and 1925, when Rogers Hornsby was at his best, there was a famous rivalry between the boys.

Frisch was a diving, sprawling athlete who couldn't reach for the salt without diving ten yards off tackle. Whenever he handled a grounder he tried to make history, and, although he covered much ground and summed up as one of the best ball players in the business on general results, the St. Louis customers said he looked great mainly because he made the easy ones look desperate. Now Hornsby—there was a real record baseman who wasn't always flopping around in the dust, losing his cap, and throwing eyelash putouts while spinning on the back of his neck.

Mr. McGraw said he wouldn't trade Frisch for Hornsby and $100,000 cash, which was a safe enough boast con-

LEAVE BATTING EYES HOME AS PIRATES FROLIC

Pitching Aces Fail to Fool Pittsburgh.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 25.—The Cubs this afternoon donned their travel uniforms for the first time since July 2. The same thing happened to them today as on the last day they had on said costumes—they were licked in both ends of a double header. The Pirates were the victors, 4 to 3, and 4 to 1, thus halting the Chicagoans' five game winning streak.

The Cubs were not docile in the last three innings of the first game, in which they tied the score on a record homer by Demaree in the seventh, and an enormous triple by Babe Herman with two on in the eighth. But the Pirates made a run off Guy Bush, who had succeeded Lon Warneke in the eighth, and that was victory No. 1 for the day.

Aside from the three aforementioned active innings, the Cubs indeed were very meek. In the second game, for instance, they made only five hits off Hal Smith, including a futile triple by Grimm with two out in the ninth when the shootin' was, of course, all but over.

Best Pitchers Pounded.

The loss of two games in one afternoon and behind such able gents as Warneke, Bush, and Bud Tinning, is something to ponder when you consider that these same Cubs had lost only two games in 16 played against Eastern teams this month at Wrigley field.

But it is a hard matter to talk about the Cubs away from home to fans who have never seen them except on their home lot. When one tries to tell how much different they are when they get away from the bravos of their own set it just sounds like knocking.

The sad doings of the afternoon put the Cubs a game farther back of the Giants, whom they trail by three games, but the two game gain the Cubs effected over the third place Pirates on Sunday was swept away, of course. The Pirates are only a game and a half behind the Cubs and have a chance to send the terrified wanderers out of town in third place, come Thursday evening.

FIRST GAME

The first threat of the game was developed in the second inning, but was smothered by a double play. Hartnett singled to center with one down and stopped at second on Grimm's single to left. Jurges then hit into a double play, Vaughan to Piet to Suhr.

The first two hits off Warneke were caroms off Koenig's glove. The first one, by P. Waner in the first inning, didn't mean anything, but the second one led to the first run of the afternoon and the first earned run allowed by Warneke in his last four starts. Grace opened the third inning with a shot off Mark's glove and moved to second on Swetonic's sacrifice. Lindstrom then singled to center, scoring Grace. P. Waner fled to Demaree and Comorosky forced Lindstrom.

Bunts Into Double Play.

Vaughan opened the Pirate fourth with a single to center. Traynor tried to sacrifice, but bunted into a double play, Warneke to Jurges to Bill Herman, who covered first. After Suhr had singled to center, Piet popped to Hartnett.

Grace led off the fifth inning with his second hit, this one a liner to center. He again moved up on a sacrifice by Swetonic. This time Lindstrom couldn't drive him home, but Freddy made Babe Herman run like everything to get his fly. P. Waner was thrown out by Jurges.

Bill Herman walked on four pitched balls to start the sixth, but Cuyler hit into a double play, Swetonic to Vaughan to Suhr. Babe Herman grounded to Piet.

Pirates Score Again.

Comorosky opened the Pirate seventh with a double to the scoreboard in left. Vaughan fouled to Grimm, but Traynor singled to center, scoring Comorosky. Traynor took second on

IT'S SOME POMP THIS TIME FOR WARREN WRIGHT

Calumet Stable's Filly Whips Grey Glade.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Warren Wright's 2 year olds refuse to be crowded out of the spotlight at Arlington. They bob up almost daily to win a purse against the fleetest juveniles in training.

Some Pomp, from Mr. Wright's Calumet stable, did it in the Winona purse yesterday afternoon. After running the eyebrows out of the winter track 2 year old champion, Wise Daughter, for a half mile she forged to the front and went on to winby three lengths.

She had so completely whipped Wise Daughter that this fleet Chicago filly wilted completely and could not finish in the money.

Grey Glade Is Second.

Grey Glade, a Maryland 2 year old, finished second and Barkantine from Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney's Greentree stable dashed up in time late in the struggle to crowd Wise Daughter out of third money.

Some Pomp didn't run so fast, the time being 1:06 3-5 for the 5½ furlongs. She did display quite a bit of class and plenty of early speed, however, to whip the flying Wise Daughter.

Gilbert Elston was in the saddle and rated her to perfection, while Wise Daughter was cutting out a stiff early pace which carried her over a quarter of a mile in :22 3-5 seconds and past the half mile mark in 47 seconds.

Some Pomp is a large muscled filly and "big enough to carry the mail," as an old ranchman from New Mexico remarked after the race. She is a nice boned filly with tremendous hind quarters.

Some Pomp was one of the most expensive yearlings sold at Saratoga last August. Mr. Wright paid around $10,000 for her at the W. R. Coe auctions. She has been showing great speed at times this season, but never hit her true stride until she stepped out in the Winona. She was wearing blinkers for the first time.

When Wise Daughter faltered so badly she gave every evidence that she will never be anything more than a sprinter. Horsemen who looked at her remarked, "Mata Hari would make two of her."

Disgrace for Wise Daughter.

It was a rather disgraceful performance for Wise Daughter, for she has won just about as many stakes as any other 2 year old in the country. She started her campaign in Florida in February and has been steadily in training since then. It isn't in the books that such a frail filly should carry on in top form so long.

The backers of the favorites were finally put in good humor when Big Beau came along to win the Sunset Ridge purse at a mile over the Hertz course.

He was at odds-on in the betting, paying $3.52, and was the first choice to win all afternoon. Once he made a bid at the head of the stretch he didn't leave the result long in doubt. He ran away from his field in the last eighth of a mile and beat Commuter by three lengths.

Karl Eitel Saves Show.

Karl Eitel from Ald. Coughlin's stable ran third, with Sidney Grant and Sherab making up the rear guard.

Big Beau has been trying to win a race around Chicago ever since the season opened. He was always close up and running great guns as the field neared the winning post, but this was his first victory here this year. He had started more than a dozen times. Jockey E. Arcaro rode Big Beau and sent him over the mile route in 1:38.

DODGERS GIVE OLD JOE JUDGE HIS RELEASE

New York, July 25.—[Special.]—Joe Judge, veteran first baseman, today was unconditionally released by the Brooklyn Dodgers. His departure was expected, for when the team was going through the final stages of its recent disastrous road trip officials of the club looked for spots where they could cut expenses. In a jiffy they decided it was no longer necessary to carry a substitute for Sam Leslie. Manager Max Carey may get rid of a couple more of his veterans before the team starts out on its next western trip.

Judge may not remain out of a job long. When the Giants were in Brooklyn last Sunday he had advance information of his release and talked to Bill Terry. It would not be a surprise if the Giants sign the former American leaguer for the balance of the season.

C. Y. O. EXTENDS INVITATIONS FOR BASEBALL MEET

The Catholic Youth Organization yesterday extended invitations to every diocese in the United States to participate in the National Catholic baseball tournament to be staged in Comiskey park, Sept. 4 to 9.

Each diocese was urged to name teams for district eliminations with the winning teams in 16 sections of the United States to be brought to Chicago to compete in the national tournament. Bids were issued to 110 diocese heads throughout the nation by Bishop Bernard J. Sheil.

Bishop Sheil has delegated the details of the tournament to the Rev. G. P. Scanlan, director of the C. Y. O., and Jack Elder, athletic director.

CAVANAUGH'S CONDITION GOOD AFTER OPERATION

Cohasset, Mass., July 25.—(AP)—Maj. Frank W. Cavanaugh, veteran football coach, tonight was reported to be in a favorable condition following a major surgical operation.

His general health, which has been gradually failing since he ended his 35 year coaching career at Fordham last fall, has caused great concern to his family and close friends during the last few months.

Time, :23 3-5, :47 3-5, 1:12 3-5, 1:25 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Arrowswift, $31.24 straight, $13.64 place, $6.84 show; Blackstrap, $5.08 place, $4.32 show; Jack-knife, $21.12 show. Winner trained by J. R. Price. Went to post at 2:48. At post 2¼ minutes. Start good from permanent stalls. Won easily; second and third driving.

ARROWSWIFT, away fast but taken back under light restraint, came away from DARK MIST slowly on stretch turn and continuing strongly wore down BLACKSTRAP for an easy win. Latter had speed from the start and came away when entering stretch, but could not withstand the winner. JACK-KNIFE held on gamely in a good effort.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :23 1-5, :46 3-5, 1:12 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: North Mill, $15.60 straight, $7.96 place, $4.64 show; Sir Gareth, $179.52 place, $98.80 show; Le Bruyere, $13.58 show. Winner trained by J. J. Greely. Went to post at 3:14¼. At post 6 minutes. Start bad from gate. Won handily; second and third driving.

NORTH MILL, lucky at the start and hustled into immediate command, easily increased his advantage at the stretch turn, but was under vigorous hand riding the final eighth. SIR GARETH, away in a tangle, saved ground on the turn, bettered his position gradually, and wore down LE BRUYERE in the closing strides. Latter was under strong urging after three-eighths and held on fairly well.

Time, :23 3-5, :48, 1:13 1-5, 1:39 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Louandre, $14.54 straight, $6.12 place, $4.56 show; Dark Law, $16.86 place, $8.96 show; Surety, $3.80 show. Winner trained by F. S. Hackett. Went to post at 3:47. At post 3¼ minutes. Start good from permanent stalls. Won easily; second and third driving.

LOUANDRE, well ridden and under steadying restraint for three-quarters, rallied to mild pressure and, racing into the lead, won easily. DARK LAW, hustled along from the start, saved ground throughout and withstood pressure gamely for an eighth after reaching stretch, then faltered, but outstayed SURETY. Latter lost ground much of the race and held on well in the drive.

Stewart. Went to post at 4:16. At post 2½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won easily; second and third driving.

SOME POMP forced the early pace under light restraint, was strongly shaken up after reaching the stretch and, disposing of WISE DAUGHTER, was safe thereafter. GREY GLADE, well in hand for three-eighths, rallied to light pressure, then weakened, but outstayed BARKANTINE. The latter, away slowly and under strong riding throughout, closed with a rush.

SIXTH RACE—Hertz course, one mile out of chute. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :24 1-5, :48, 1:12 4-5, 1:38. Two dollar mutuels paid: Big Beau, $3.52 straight, $2.74 place, $2.32 show; Commuter, $3.74 place, $2.46 show; Karl Eitel, $2.48 show. Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 4:43¼. At post ¼ minute. Start good from permanent stalls. Won easily; second and third driving.

BIG BEAU, much the best and well in hand the first five-eighths, bettered his position gradually on the outside, easily disposed of KARL EITEL, and won with speed in reserve. COMMUTER, cleverly rated, saved ground for three-quarters, came out for the stretch, and held on well. KARL EITEL was much used in the pacemaking and weakened badly after seven-eighths.

SEVENTH RACE—Mile and one-eighth. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $625; second, $100; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Winner trained by W. Irvine. Went to post at 5:08. At post 1½ minutes. Start good from gate. Won ridden out; second and third driving.

GRAMARYE slipped through on the inside when beginning to improve her position at the far turn, was brought out at the stretch turn and, closing resolutely, disposed of ALL HAIL, but was mildly ridden out. ALL HAIL, under mild restraint for a half-mile, raced into the lead with a loss of ground and could not withstand the winner, but held second secure. TARNISH began slowly, moved up on the second turn, and weakened in the drive.

Time, :23 2-5, :46 4-5, 1:12, 1:37 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Yonkel, $14.22 straight, $5.12 place, $3.74 show; Islam, $4.04 place, $2.86 show; All Rowes, $5.14 show. Winner trained by H. Unna. Went to post at 5:35. Off at once. Start good from permanent stalls. Won driving; second and third same.

YONKEL, beginning slowly and far back for a half-mile, was forced to race very wide when moving up on the turn, went resolutely under hand riding after straightening up for final three-sixteenths, and outgamed ISLAM. The latter also lost ground as he bettered his position at the turn, and held on stubbornly. ALL ROWES, in close quarters at the turn, closed resolutely. BELOW COST had no mishap.

SET 'EM UP AND KNOCK 'EM DOWN, CARDINAL POLICY

How Long Will Frisch Stay on Pedestal?

sidering Mr. Breadon's conspicuous frugality in the player market. Mr. Breadon retorted that he wouldn't trade Hornsby for Frisch and $100,000, either, and there the matter stood, with the citizens of both towns jawing back and forth until Frisch blew a fuse one afternoon when he was visiting St. Louis with the Giants. Mr. McGraw was pretty tiresome to a ball player of any self-respect when he was in his moods, and Frisch finally snarled back at him. He also quit the team and returned to New York.

About that time Hornsby was having boss trouble with Mr. Breadon, and the upshot of both spats was a trade, Frisch for Hornsby. McGraw could not deny himself a little insult in this. To make it plain that he now considered Hornsby a better man than Frisch, he tossed in a pitcher to balance the trade.

Managers Must Win Pennant.

Well, after Hornsby, Mr. Breadon used various managers. There were McKechnie and Southworth, O'Farrell, and, finally, Old Sergeant Gabby Street, who was called in unexpectedly and given charge of the team.

In his private character, Mr. Breadon is sentimental and generous and baseball people like him much better than you would expect them to on the basis of his cold, tough treatment of some of his hands in matters of business. Win him a pennant and you have only done your job. Lose one and you have failed. He is no hero worshipper.

Hornsby went away sore, and the next spring when they met in a hotel in Pittsburgh to settle the transfer of Hornsby's St. Louis stock, at Hornsby's price, the boys spoke no more than the situation required and none of their language was nice. Breadon wished to be rid of Rogers, and McGraw wished to be rid of Frisch.

But Breadon unwisely had let Hornsby into his firm as a stockholder and the ethics of the game obviously demanded that he let go his interest if he was not to play against the Cardinals. He knew that if they didn't give him his price he could nullify the deal by holding out and, in the end, he got as much as his stock was worth.

Breadon Rescues Hornsby.

This seemed to establish a beautiful enmity between them and yet when Hornsby was, in effect, whispered out of baseball last fall, Breadon was the one who rescued him. He brought him back to work as an understudy to Frisch. In a few years, Hornsby had declined that much whereas Frisch, this season, his fifteenth in the major league, was chosen as the best second baseman in the National league to play against the American leaguers in Chicago.

Frisch will have no romantic illusions now. Mr. Breadon hires and fires according to his judgment. He fired Hornsby though the chamber of commerce and the citizens denounced him for destroying an idol. He will fire Frisch, too, in his turn.

Watches His Quarters.

But this Frisch is a practical man himself. He has played in seven world series, which must have paid him about $25,000 in addition to his wages and he has never been a man to spend a quarter thoughtlessly. The luck of the game has been good to him, for the Giants have never received any world series money since Frankie went away. McGraw just sent him into three world series in St. Louis.

And now Hornsby is second string on Frankie's own club and McGraw is out of it altogether.

Expect Field of 11 in Futurity at Arlington

There probably will be 11 starters in the renewal of the Arlington Futurity Saturday, it was indicated by the trainers of the various eligibles last night.

Advance speculation indicated that Mata Hari will rule as the favorite at about 8 to 5. Second choice at about 5 to 2 will be Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Singing Wood.

If there are 11 starters the gross value of the Futurity will be $50,195, making it the richest race of the year in Chicago. The net amount to the winner will be more than $35,000.

First Minstrel, which will be Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney's chief hope in the Futurity, will get his final workout for the race in the Green Bay purse, a dash at 5½ furlongs, this afternoon. Lady Higloss, Domino Player and Thomasville will be his most formidable rivals in this afternoon's contest.

Barkantine, a daughter of Bostonian, probably earned a place in the Futurity field when she finished with a rush to be third in the Winona purse yesterday. She was going like the wind and running over horses near the finish. If she goes to the post in the Futurity she will be a running mate of First Minstrel.

The daily double continued to pay long odds. The 15 to 1 shot, Arrowswift, won the second race, and North Mills, at more than 6 to 1, captured the third. As a result the double paid off at $279.80.

NAME REFEREE FOR EAST-WEST POLO CONTESTS

The question of picking a referee satisfactory to both sides in the East vs. West world series of polo at the Onwentsia club field, starting Sunday, Aug. 13, was settled yesterday when Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, chairman of the managing committee, announced that Capt. Wesley J. White of Cleveland, O., had been agreed upon as commander in chief of the officiating forces.

Tommy Hitchcock, captain of the eastern team, and Carleton F. Burke, manager of the westerners, wired Maj. McLaughlin that Capt. White would be acceptable. By way of making it unanimous, Cecil Smith, 9 goal start and field captain of the western team, gave his approval as he left Chicago after a three day workout for the series.

LEVANDOWSKI IS K. O.'D IN FIRST BY FORTENBERRY

Martin Levandowski of Grand Rapids, Mich., who frequently strews his opponents about the ring in reclining position, last night had the tables turned on him in the main event of Pep Kerwin's boxing show at Western stadium. The Grand Rapids light heavyweight was knocked out in 2 minutes and 50 seconds of the first round by Gordon Fortenberry of Cocoa, Fla.

The unexpected and quick ending to the windup bout was witnessed by a crowd of 2,200.

Other results were:
Jackie Sharkey beat Johnny Fitzpatrick [6].
Emmet Curtis beat Nick Taft [4].
Leo Ranieri beat Phil Pernice [5].
Frank Wolfram beat Oscar O'Hanlon [5].
Ralph Mote and Willie Davis, draw [4].

TRAMBLIE FACES OGREN TONIGHT AT TEN ROUNDS

Karl Bids for 5th Straight in Northwest Ring.

Karl Ogren, former Golden Gloves welterweight title holder, will meet Ray Tramblie of Rockford, Ill., in a ten round contest tonight at Northwest stadium, 4848 Irving Park boulevard. Ogren, boxing professionally as a middleweight, has won his last four matches. He beat Bud Saltis two weeks ago in his latest. Tramblie lost a close decision to Saltis recently.

Probably the best of the five four round supporting bouts will bring together John Mirabal and Vince Perino of La Salle, Ill. Mirabal is developing under the management of John Bon and will seek his third professional victory in three starts. Other contests:

Harry Booker vs. Popeye Huber.
Joey Freeman vs. Al De Navo.
Izzy Lubansky vs. Steve Pajdo.
Frank Ketter vs. Joe Morris.

The state boxing commission yesterday refused to sanction a bout between Willie Oster and Sammy [Kid] Slaughter at Shewbridge field Aug. 3. . . . Kid Leonard has signed to box at East Moline, Ill., Aug. 7. . . . Henry Firpo and Ray Tramblie have accepted a six round match on the first professional card at Marigold Gardens Monday. Izzy Lubansky will meet Eddie Smith in one of five contests at four rounds.

The card scheduled at Sparta stadium Monday has been postponed until Aug. 9. . . . Bobby Juhrend and George Haberski, Deerfield, Ill., junior lightweights, are back from California after six weeks. Haberski lost and won in two pro matches at Los Angeles.

Lieut. Jack Kennedy of the United States navy, a leading California referee, is at Salt Lake City, Utah, in charge of the reforestation camp at Fort Douglas.

HORSESHOE STARS OPEN TOURNEY AT FAIR TOMORROW

Stars of the horseshoe pitching game who can hook nearly 90 per cent ringers will be in action for five days beginning tomorrow in the world's championship tournament at A Century of Progress. Five former world's champions, a dozen state champions and the biggest field that ever competed in the tournament will be throwing horseshoes for $1,600 in prizes offered by A Century of Progress.

The field of 100 will start tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in a preliminary round, with the high 24 scores qualifying for the finals. Friday, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, starting at 10 o'clock, the 24 survivors will play a round robin, each meeting the 23 other finalists in 21 point games.

FACES RING JINX

TOMMY LOUGHRAN.

4 Route Races on Daily Cards at Hawthorne

An abundance of distance racing will be offered Hawthorne patrons when the west side track opens its 30 day meeting Monday. Joe McLennan, racing secretary, has arranged four events at a mile or more for each of the first ten days of the meeting. These races filled readily in other years. This season, with plenty of horses on the ground, the route races are expected to bring out limit fields.

As an inducement to owners and trainers to develop staying qualities in their charges, McLennan is granting a special weight allowance of five pounds to 4 year olds and upwards and three pounds to 3 year olds that have never won at a mile or more, maiden races excepted. This allowance does not conflict with any other weight concessions to which these horses may be entitled.

Chicago Derby Will Be Revived.

The proposed revival of the Chicago Derby, first run 43 years ago, is now assured for the Hawthorne meeting. The only question that remains is the date. While it is tentatively scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 2, the closing day of the meeting, there is a possibility that it may be run earlier.

Bamboula, the speedy A. A. Baroni filly that scored so impressively last week at Arlington, has been named by its owner as a starter. Inlander, winner of this year's Classic, and Okapi, its stable mate, also are assured for the revival of Chicago's oldest stake. Swivel, the eastern filly, and Mr. Khayyam, the American Derby winner, are a pair of other stars which already have been entered.

Thoroughbreds Arrive.

Shipments of thoroughbreds are arriving almost hourly at the west side track. Mose Lowenstein, with 16 head, and Tom Flippen, with an even dozen, came in yesterday from Rockingham. Supt. Ben Miller received word from the coast that Pillow Fight and Tea Trader, the Australian stars, accompanied by Boy Painter and several belonging to the Meadowbrooke farm, will arrive tomorrow or Friday.

HALSTEAD WINS OVER KAISER IN STATE NET MEET

Battle Goes Three Sets; Mako Advances.

Thane Halstead defeated Art Kaiser in the feature match of the Illinois State tennis tournament at the Chicago Town and Tennis club yesterday, 1-6, 7-5, 9-7.

Halstead was unable to get into stride until the latter stages of the third set when Kaiser began to tire. The points were 110 for Halstead and 99 for Kaiser. It was the third match to go three sets since the tournament opened.

John Whips Wallace.

Vincent John of Denver defeated Lloyd Wallace of Elkhart, Ind., 6-1, 10-12, 6-0, and Joseph Coughlin, Palo Alto, Cal., defeated Joseph Carrigan, 6-1, 6-8, 6-1, in a third round match after beating John Mueller, Chicago, 6-3, 6-1.

Gene Mako, Los Angeles, continued to breeze along, making A. A. Stagg Jr. of Chicago his third round victim, 6-2, 6-0. In his three matches Mako has dropped only eight out of 36 games.

George O'Connell of Chicago won the only fourth round match yesterday when he defeated Alfred Winston of Chicago, 7-5, 6-4, following his victory over Norman Bickel of Chicago, 6-4, 6-4.

Lejeck Brothers Advance.

The Lejeck brothers, Charles, Eddie and Leo, won in the third round, Leo defeating Willard Shuflitowski, 6-1, 6-4, Eddie winning from Dan Dunne, Chicago, 6-1, 9-7, and Charles eliminating Robert O'Conner of Chicago, 6-3, 6-4.

The first round in the women's singles will be played today. Summaries:

QUALITY is never extravagance

for real enjoyment

AND that is never truer than in a cigar! For, without quality you have no real enjoyment—and nothing under the sun can make up for the absence of real enjoyment.

There's more enjoyment in one El Producto than in a pocketful of cheap smokes. Quality is the answer—quality in the making, in the blending, in the tobaccos. The sparkling sunshine of choice Havana combines with smooth mildness to give the lasting satisfaction of real enjoyment.

El Producto is the criterion of quality in fine cigars—the standard of real enjoyment with smokers. Be economical—smoke El Producto in the size that suits you—10c to 25c.

SENATORS BEAT ATHLETICS, 5 TO 1; INCREASE LEAD

Mahaffey's 5 Walks Yield 4 Runs in First.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 25.—(AP)—The Washington Senators won a 5 to 1 victory over the Athletics today in a game that was shortened to five innings by rain, and increased their lead over the idle New York Yankees to a full game.

The Senators took advantage of Roy Mahaffey's wildness to score four runs in the first inning and after that Earl Whitehill's pitching never left the issue in doubt. Mahaffey issued five walks in the opening inning and a couple of flies and two hits helped turn them into the winning rally. He walked in one run and three times loaded the bases with passes.

Jones Does His Part, but Sox Lose, 2-1

Jones escaped from this trap when Harder popped to Appling and Simmons hustled over toward the foul line to grab Porter's fly.

After that things moved rapidly. Swanson reached base on a pass with two out in the third, but was stranded on second. In the fourth with two gone the tiny Pytlak popped his homer into the left field seats, tieing the count at one apiece. In the sixth Haas came up with a single, the first Sox hit since the first inning. He was doubled on Kress' roller to short. In the Indians' half Hale singled to left and Simmons' throw sliced him down when he tried to make two bases. That was the total of the two teams' attack up to this point.

Al Does His Bit.

Simmons assumed the lead in a bit of scoring enterprise in the seventh but the scoring didn't materialize. Al led off with a single to right. He was forced by Appling and the next happening was a double play. A similar opening appeared in the eighth but through no help from the Sox. Hayes opened with a bounder to Hale, who fumbled. Grube sacrificed, Jones fanned and Swanson fouled to Pytlak. Kress drew a pass with one out in the ninth but Simmons fanned and Appling lined into Hale's hands.

The uprising by the Sox in their half of the tenth could easily have been serious if a little luck had been mixed in. After Dykes had flied to center Sullivan batted for Hayes and bounced a single off Hale's shin. Lyons ran for Sullivan and took second when Webb, batting for Grube, singled over short. Manager Fonseca picked himself to swing for Jones and he ripped off a liner to right but the luck would have it that Porter should be in the vicinity to make the catch. Then Swanson poked a soft one back at Harder and the show was over.

Ed Durham, if his health is O. K., will be the White Sox pitching nominee today in the second of the series with the Indians. The latter's pitching chores will be handled by Willis Hudlin. Durham for the last several days has been complaining of stomach pains. If he can't start today, the job will be tendered to Joe Heving.

Milton Galatzer, a Chicago boy who is with the Indians, was called to the plate when the game started and presented with a traveling bag by local admirers. Galatzer took one look at the bag and remarked, "Well, I may be using it pretty soon."

Johnny Oulliber reported to the Indians yesterday from the New Orleans club and was put to work in left field. In four trips to the plate he couldn't get the ball past the infield. Before going into pro ball he performed athletic feats for Loyola of New Orleans.

Trapshooters from Three States to Compete Today

Trapshooters from three states, Utah, New York and Louisiana, will compete today in events scheduled at the Lincoln Park Gun club as a part of A Century of Progress open series of state trapshoots. Events for women are scheduled.

Reds Held to Six Hits; Cards Triumph, 3-1

St. Louis, Mo., July 25.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals made Frankie Frisch's debut as manager a success today by defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 1, behind the excellent pitching of Jess Haines. Haines held the Reds to six hits and blanked them except in the fourth inning, when doubles by Rice and Moore produced the only Cincinnati runs. Frisch, handicapped by a leg injury, coached from the third base line. Score:

the throw to the plate. Suhr fouled to Hartnett. Piet drew a pass, after which Grace was called out on strikes.

Demaree led off the seventh with that enormous homer over the center field wall, the first extra base hit off Swetonic. Hartnett walked, but Grimm hit into a double play and Traynor threw out Jurges.

Lindstrom doubled to left with one down in the seventh. P. Waner beat out a high bouncer to Koenig, Lindstrom stopping at third. Comorosky flied to Cuyler, and Lindstrom scored after the catch. Vaughan singled to center, P. Waner stopping at second. Then Traynor walked, filling the bases. Suhr fanned.

Pinch Batter Hits.

Campbell batted for Warneke to start the eighth and singled to right. Koenig flied to P. Waner. Hendrick batted for Bill Herman and forced Campbell. Cuyler singled past Piet, Hendrick taking third. Babe Herman then tripled to the gate in right center, a sock of some 400 feet, sending Hendrick and Cuyler across with the tying runs. Demaree popped to Suhr.

Bush took over the pitching job at the start of the Pirates' eighth, English went to third and Koenig switched to second. Piet greted Bush with a double off the scoreboard. Grace beat out a bunt, Piet stopping at third. Finney ran for Grace. L. Waner batted for Swetonic and was given credit for a hit when Koenig, playing in close, fumbled his hot grounder. Piet scored and Finney stopped at second. The runners advanced on Lindstrom's sacrifice. Then P. Waner was given an intentional pass, filling the bases. Comorosky hit into a double play.

SECOND GAME

Koenig started the contest with a double to left and reached third when Piet fumbled Bill Herman's grounder. Cuyler then lined to Piet and Bill Herman was doubled off first, Koenig remaining on third. Babe Herman bounced to Piet.

Lindstrom opened the Pirate half of the first inning with a single over second and went to second while Koenig was throwing out P. Waner. Lindstrom held second while Jurges was throwing out Comorosky. Vaughan walked, but Traynor forced him.

The Pirates chased across a couple of runs with two out in the second. Suhr fanned. Piet was hit by a pitched ball. Finney beat out a bunt to Koenig, Piet stopping at second. Smith flied to Babe Herman, but Lindstrom came through with his second single to center, scoring Piet, and when the ball got past Demaree, Finney also counted and Lindstrom reached second. Jurges threw out P. Waner.

Cubs Get a Run.

Koenig singled for his and the second Cub hit with two down in the third. Mark stole second. Then Bill Herman walked. Cuyler's grounder got through Piet into right field, Koenig scoring and Bill Herman reaching third. Babe Herman bounced to Vaughan.

Cuyler beat out a smash off Smith's glove for the third Cub hit after one was out in the sixth. Babe Herman sent a high fly to Comorosky and Demaree grounded to Traynor.

Vaughan walked with one down in the third. Traynor singled to center, but when Vaughn rounded second he wa sout, Demaree to Jurges to Bill Herman. Hartnett made a nice running catch of Suhr's foul.

Piet opened the Pirate fourth with a double to left center, but lost sight of the ball when Finney popped to Bill Herman back of second and was doubled, Herman to Jurges. Smith was called out on strikes.

P. Waner doubled to left with one out in the fifth. Comorosky and Vaughan lined out.

Jurges knocked the Cubs' fourth hit with two down in the seventh and stole second. Tinning walked, but Koenig grounded out to Piet.

The Pirates got busy in the eighth. Suhr walked and went to third on Piet's single to left. Finney bounced a double over Koenig's head, Suhr scoring and Piet stopping at third. Smith dropped one in front of the plate and Piet was out, Hartnett unassisted. Lindstrom knocked his third hit of the game, scoring Finney. Bill Herman threw out P. Waner.

DENY INJURY TO VINES WILL AFFECT PLAYING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, France, July 25.—Reports that Ellsworth Vines, American singles tennis champion, who suffered an ankle injury last Sunday in his match with Fred Perry, would be unable to play unless he wore a brace and a high shoe, were denied by the tall American star and Bernon S. Prentice, captain of the United States Davis cup team. It was reported that Vines' injury would be permanent.

Vines said no specialist had examined him, as was reported and that the doctor who attended him after the match did not say the injury would be permanent. Answering published reports that the American team was overtrained, Prentice said:

"Vines and Wilmer Allison were undertrained, if anything. Both have been trying to find their game."

In the Wake of the News

TURNING PRO.

GRAND BEACH, Mich., July 25.—Billy Celebron of Rockford, National A. A. U. welterweight champion, plans to turn professional after the international Golden Gloves bouts against the Irish Free Staters at Soldiers' field on the night of Aug. 2. Celebron intends to take this step whether or not he beats out Henry Rothier for the honor of representing Chicagoland in his division.

Max Marek's reasons for wishing to retain his amateur standing and for continuing his education were given in this column yesterday. There are differing circumstances in Billy's case, so we present his viewpoint:

"It is not a choice between education or professional ring work with me," said Celebron after his workout in the indoor gymnasium. "Unlike Marek, I did not have high school training. I liked my studies, but quit after finishing the grammar grades because of family circumstances. Father became ill and it was necessary for some of us boys to help with the family's support. So I worked with an older brother in his plumbing business.

"I'd like more school, all right, but I'm 22 years old and I could hardly go back and take high school work now. So it's a case of earning a living. As you know, the plumbing business was pretty slack during the depression. That's one reason I was able to give time to amateur boxing. I worked when there was work to do and boxed when there wasn't work.

"In three years I've taken part in eighty-five bouts, with only six decisions against me. I'm credited with nearly fifty knockouts. In winning the A. A. U. title I had eight bouts. Six of them were knockouts. The public of the present day likes hard hitters. That's the reason I think I might make money in the pro ranks. I do better in my work against professionals than against amateurs. By the time the plumbing business is back to normal I'll know whether or not I'm a pro ring success."

"Will you quit if you don't shine at once?" we asked.

"Not at once," replied Celebron. "You can't expect to get to the top right out of the amateur ranks. It's a hard game. It takes experience to improve. But I'll not stick around more than a year if it looks as if I'd be only a prelim fighter. In these times especially there is money only at the top. I like boxing, and you may think it strange if you wish, but I'd certainly like to get places in the prize ring."

Celebron probably will place himself under the wing of Sam Pian, co-manager of Barney Ross, lightweight champion, who recently defeated Tony Canzoneri for that title. Ross was a Golden Gloves graduate of 1929.

The New Deal.

When Franklin D. took office
He promised us repeal,
Industrial recovery, and
An all around "new deal."

And so our hopes have risen
(I guess they're soaring yet),
But there is one important thing
That we must not forget.

The while a brand new deal has come
To all throughout the land
Each citizen must try to bid
And play his new deal hand.

Misses Humphries, Estabrook Lose in Western Junior Golf

Elimination of Janet Humphries, defending champion, and the stand of 12 year old Edith Estabrook of Dubuque, Ia., before succumbing 1 up on the 19th hole to Dorothy Bell of Nippersink Lodge, Wis., were the outstanding developments in the first round of match play in the women's western junior tournament at the Evanston Golf club yesterday.

Miss Humphries was defeated by Alice Ann Anderson of Kenosha, Wis., 6 and 4. She was in trouble from the start and dropped the first three holes, largely because of short approaches and faulty putting. Miss Anderson was five up at the turn.

Birdie Decides Match.

They halved the par four 10th in fives and Miss Humphries captured her second and last hole of the match on the 11th where she sank a 25 putt for a birdie four. Miss Anderson won two of the next three holes to end the match on the 14th green.

Miss Bell, the qualifying medalist, was hard pressed to win from Miss Estabrook, the youngest girl in the tournament. They were all even at the end of the first nine, both having won three holes and halving three.

They halved the 10th and 11th and Miss Bell took the lead on the 12th where she was down in par three while Miss Estabrook was three butting for a four. Miss Estabrook evened the match by winning the 14th afte rthey halved the 13th. Miss Bell got her par five to win the 15th and they halved the next two. Miss Estabrook then staved off defeat by winning the 18th when Miss Bell three putted.

Slice Starts Trouble.

Miss Estabrook sliced her second on the 19th and took two more to reach the green, where she two putted for a six while Miss Bell was down in par five to win the match.

The Shirley Ann Johnson-Hilda Livengood match, which the former won, 2 and 1, provided the best golf of the tournament. Miss Johnson had a medal score of 86 for the 18 holes and Miss Livengood 87.

Accurate putting by Miss Johnson, who had eight one putt greens, provided her margin of victory. She was two up at the turn and maintained this lead on the home nine, although Miss Livengood had a 45 medal score compared to her 46.

Goldie Bateson of Milwaukee was forced to come from behind to win her match with Ella May Williams of Elgin, 2 up. Miss Williams was one up at the 10th, but lost this advantage when Miss Bateson captured the 11th and 12th holes to take a one point lead. Miss Williams had a birdie four on the 15th to even the match. They halved the 16th in fives. Miss Bateson had a birdie three on the 17th to win the hole and took the 18th when Miss Williams required a seven. First round results:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.

Alice Ann Anderson, Kenosha, defeated Janet Humphreys, Calumet, 6 and 4.

Lincoln Park Police Revolver Team Loses

After winning 22 consecutive tournaments the Lincoln Park Police's championship revolver team lost a challenge match to the Lincoln Park Gun club's revolver squad yesterday at the police team's outdoor range in Lincoln park. The score was 1,288 to 1,264. Mrs. Grace E. MacOmic, former Illinois state champion shot, had a score of 238 hits out of a possible 250.

Former Caddy Shoots 141 to Lead Amateur

boy, was next with 146, followed by Mike Roach of St. Louis with 150 and Billy Howell of Richmond, Va., the sensation of the 1931 national amateur at Chicago, with 151.

The steady downpour of rain which plagued the field all day licked several of them, but not Walter Emery of Oklahoma City, the national intercollegiate champion, who knocked off a 72 today after his 81 of yesterday. On the other hand, young Maurice Hankinson, who tied for second yesterday with a 72, struggled through in ten more strokes today. Keefe Carter, 1925 western champion, took an 81 after his first round of 73.

Match Play Today.

No western amateur would be quite complete without a playoff, so that a trio of 158 scorers were forced to continue on into the evening drizzle for one hole before Laurence Eustis of Memphis was eliminated. Eustis took a five on the extra hole, while his rivals, Henry Bowbeer of Chicago and Rodney Bliss of Omaha, were gaining the match play bracket with fours.

The match play will start today with two 18 hole rounds, with the low 31 scorers in the qualifying round and Gus Moreland of Dallas, Tex., the defending champion, who was exempt from qualifying, competing. Thirty-six hole rounds will be played Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

In the first round today Moreland will head the upper bracket, meeting Sidney Salomon of St. Louis, who qualified with 154, while Eaton, at the top of the lower bracket, will trade shots with Curtis Person of Memphis. The south and southwest dominate the field of 32 qualifiers, with only four Chicagoans, all of them proven match players, left to argue with them. The quartet is composed of Don Armstrong, Illinois state champion; John Lehman, Western champion in 1930; Westland, and Bowbeer.

Eaton's Third Victory.

Eaton's victory today was his third in three tournaments, since he had previously taken the qualifying medal in both the Oklahoma State and Trans-Mississippi events. In the Trans-Mississippi it took an eagle on the 38th hole to beat him in the semifinals, and a birdie to eliminate him at the same stage in the Oklahoma state meet. He is of the Johnny Goodman type, hailing from a large family, and has been playing sice he was ten years old.

The cards for Eaton, Vinson, and Westland follow:

Ferguson Shoots 72 to Win C.D.G.A. Handicap Event

BY HOWARD BARRY.

James Ferguson of Tam o' Shanter made a Garrison finish yesterday to win low gross in the Chicago District Golf association's handicap tournament at the Butterfield Country club. After shooting a mediocre 40 on the first nine holes, he came home in 32, three strokes under par, to total 72.

The low net winner in class A was Frank Justin of Edgewood Valley, whose score was 74—3—71. A. H. Kimball took the gross prize in class B with a 79. Low net went to Dr. C. E. Smith of Medinah, 82—14—68. Class C leaders were: Low gross—The Rev. F. J. Schnell of Bunker Hill, 91—15—76; low net, H. R. Roberts of Westward Ho, 89—19—70.

In shooting his 72, Ferguson made four birdies and was over par on five holes. Perfect golf on the Butterfield course calls for a 70. He got into difficulties on his first shot, when he drove into the rough. His second failed to reach the green, and a chip, together with two putts, gave him a 5, one over par. Again on the third he required three strokes to reach the green, when par called for only two.

At the eighth Ferguson encountered enough trouble to ruin the patience of an ordinary player. His tee shot landed in a creek and he fished it out, taking a penalty stroke. His next hit a tree, and the one after that landed in a trap. But he blasted out and took two putts for a 7, two over par. On the next he overshot the green, taking a 4 instead of a 3, which brought him to the turn in 40.

Then he put on the pressure. He negotiated the par 5 tenth in 4 by chipping close to the pin and sinking his first putt. He faltered for a moment by taking three putts on the eleventh, but all the rest of the way in he played brilliant golf. He made three consecutive birdies on the fifteenth, sixteenth, and seventeenth holes by sinking a 25 foot putt on one, a 20 foot putt on another, and by laying his pitch dead to the pin on the next. His card follows:

Par—Out ....444 434 453—35
Ferguson—Out ....545 434 474—40
Par—In ....534 443 444—35—70

CORN-HOG GROUP APPROVES PRICE BOOSTING PLAN

Would Take 2 Billion Lbs. of Pork Off Market.

The National Corn and Hog Producer's committee last night adopted an emergency program calling for the removal of 500 million pounds of pork and pork products from the American market by Jan. 1 as a means of increasing prices under the agricultural adjustment act. The committee, representing ten corn belt states, ended a two day session at the Union League club, but announced that further meetings would be held from time to time.

The program recommended also calls for the removal of a total of 2 billion pounds of pork and pork products from the American during the next twelve months.

Offer Five Point Plan.

It was suggested that the following methods be used to accomplish the committee's object of establishing prewar parity prices on hogs.

1. Sale, or if necessary, donation to relief agencies under an agreement that their normal purchases of meat will not be reduced.
2. Making low grade hogs and hog products into tankage [highly concentrated protein hog feed] and the lard from them into soap.
3. Making benefit payments to farmers for the removal from production of light pigs and piggish sows, the benefits to come from processing taxes.
4. By increasing exports.
5. By levying a substantial processing tax on all hogs marketed at weights exceeding 235 pounds.

Tax Oother Meats to Pay.

Losses incurred by the farmers in the disposal of surplus products would be paid from a processing tax on pork and competing products, including beef, mutton, and possibly fish.

The conference recommended that processors and distributors be prohibited from pyramiding any price benefits to the farmers upon the cost of the products to consumers.

The committee, of which Earl Smith, president of the Illinois agricultural commission, is chairman, announced that further consideration would be given to a more permanent plan, which will include recommendations to the secretary of agriculture on limiting corn production. It is too late now for an emergency plan to limit corn production for this year.

Hogs Decline 5 to 30 Cents; Buyers Wait Processing Tax

Further depreciation in the hog market yesterday brought values to the lowest level since July 1 and 40 to 50 cents under the high point on Tuesday, last week, which was the highest spot since June 3.

Under the onus of a group of adverse influences the buying side has been unusually cautious in the last few days and inclined to hold the size of droves as small as possible until the situation becomes less unsettled. Several of the principal buyers have mentioned the uncertainty regarding the processors' tax on pork in commenting on their limited buying. However, the major factor in the recent break in hogs has been the sharp decline in lard.

Prices fell unevenly 5 to 30 cents yesterday, comparing extremes with Monday's erratic trade, with the bulk of the day's offerings off 10 to 20 cents.

Average Down 15 Cents.

Top sales were down 25 cents to the $4.55 line and compared with $5 on the preceding Tuesday. The general average at $4.25 showed a drop of 15 cents. More stability was found on closing rounds, when sellers managed to check the break on the strength of the recovery in grains and provisions yesterday.

While available supplies of hogs are running above requirements of the trade, they are below the average of recent weeks. During the first two days of this week the eleven markets handled a combined total of 184,000 hogs, which was 20,000 more than on last Monday and Tuesday, but 24,000 less than the six weeks' average for Monday and Tuesday, barring one holiday period. This was a decrease of 11 per cent.

Cattle Prices Irregular.

Choice long yearlings and medium weight steers yesterday at $7.50 equaled the highest mark of last week's buoyant market despite the 15 to 25 cents break in other classes of cattle.

Local houses were the aggressive interests in the topnotchers, Armour and Wilson buyers taking 1,082 to 1,268 pound steers at the best price of the day. A smaller proportion of the receipts got above the $7 line and the bulk of the steers of beef merit selling within a range of $5.50 to $6.75.

Heavy cattle came under pressure and the market for the offerings exceeding 1,300 pounds sagged as much as 15 to 25 cents in some places. Only "stickout" heavy cattle reached $7, while a load of plain horned steers averaging 1,300 pounds sold at $5.35.

Lambs recovered 15 to 25 cents of the recent decline on good local buying yesterday. Larger houses were eager for the top grades at $8.25, while city butchers handpicked several lots of strongweights as high as $8.35 and $8.40.

PROCTER, GAMBLE NET $1.52 A SHARE IN LAST YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—A substantial increase in earnings was reported by the Procter & Gamble company for the fiscal year ended on June 30. The net profit after depreciation, interest, federal taxes, advertising, and special introductory work, was $10,811,325. This was equivalent, after preferred dividend requirements, to $1.52 a share on 6,410,000 no par shares of common stock. It compares with $9,132,545, or $1.26 a common share, in the preceding fiscal year. Gross sales for the year totaled $102,463,645, against $142,421,659 the year before.

For the quarter ended on June 30 net profit after the same deductions was $3,738,572, equal, after preferred dividends to 54 cents a share on the common stock, compared with $2,451,052, or 34 cents a common share, in the preceding quarter, when the first quarterly report was issued by the company.

NATIONAL TEA 4 WEEK SALES SHOW INCREASE

The National Tea company yesterday reported that the consolidated sales for the four weeks ending July 15, 1933, amounted to $4,881,542, against $4,852,137 for the corresponding four weeks in 1932, an increase of .61 per cent.

The sales for the 28 weeks ending July 15, 1933, amounted to $34,132,380, against $36,804,234 for the same period in 1932, a decrease of 7.26 per cent.

Canada Weighs Following Monetary Policies of U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., July 25.—The basis of a new financial policy for Canada may result from the investigation which a royal commission on monetary and allied questions is to make this autumn. This is the answer to the question that is being raised increasingly of whether Canada will emulate the example and the policies of President Roosevelt.

COTTON OPTIONS EXTENDED YEAR BY FARM BOARD

Farmers Cutting Acreage Get Added Time.

Washington, D. C., July 25.—(AP)—Farm administrators today extended for one year the period in which farmers who obtain options on cotton under the acreage reduction plan can order the staple covered by their option contract sold.

Under the contracts with growers who agreed to reduce their growing cotton acreage from 25 to 50 per cent, about 60 per cent of them will obtain options on an aggregate of more than 2,000,000 bales of government owned cotton.

First Date May 1, 1934.

Originally their contracts provided that they must take up these options by May 1, 1934. The modification of the contracts ordered today will permit them to withhold exercise of the options until May 1, 1935.

However, farmers who hold their options after May 1, 1934, will be required to pay a carrying charge of 40 cents per month per bale.

The action was taken by administrators to give farmers greater latitude and also to aid in preventing the cotton market from being burdened with the sale of this cotton within less than a year's time.

Sixty Per Cent Take Options.

Farmers in agreeing to curtail production of this year's crop had a choice of two contracts. One of them called for cash payments varying with the estimated yield of the area they agreed to plow up. The other provided for smaller cash payments and options on goverment cotton at six cents a pound in an amount equal to each farmer's estimated output of the area to be plowed up.

About 60 per cent of the farmers elected to sign the combination or option contract.

ALLIS-CHALMERS REDUCES LOSS IN SECOND QUARTER

Milwaukee, Wis., July 25.—[Special.]—Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company reported today for the June quarter a net loss of $788,920, compared with one of $869,986 in the preceding quarter and one of $869,503 in the like period of 1932.

The company had cash and marketable securities amounting to $5,053,048 on June 30. Net current assets totaled $24,213,319, against $26,615,692 on the like date of 1932.

Unfilled orders totaled $4,830,399 as of June 30, compared with $4,470,399 on March 31. Billings for the June quarter were $2,686,626, against $2,691,992 in the preceding quarter.

NEW LAW LETS RAILROADS ISSUE NO PAR STOCKS

The recent action of Gov. Horner in signing senate bill 300, known as the Broderick bill, gives railroad corporations in Illinois the same right to issue no par stock as is now held by industries and other businesses, according to railroad officials.

Hitherto, railroads have not been permitted to issue no par stock under the corporation and railroads laws of this state. In view of the possibilities of railroad reorganizations during the next few years the roads sought the right to issue this type of stock to facilitate such action when and if it arises.

Lake Steamship Tickets Sold 50 Pct. Over Last Year

Chicago steamship ticket sales are 50 per cent ahead of those at this time last year, according to W. K. Greenebaum, passenger traffic manager of the Chicago Roosevelt Steamship line. The estimate is for about two-thirds of the summer of 1933, as against the same period in 1932, and cover sales out of the port of Chicago.

Notice of Offering to Stockholders of

Fox Film Corporation

of the Right to Subscribe to Additional Shares of Class "A" Common Stock

Stockholders of Fox Film Corporation:

At the special meeting of the stockholders of Fox Film Corporation called for July 1, 1933, and adjourned to July 21, 1933, appropriate action was taken by the stockholders reducing both the authorized and outstanding Class B common stock of the corporation from 100,000 shares authorized and 99,900 shares outstanding to 16,650 shares authorized and outstanding, and action was also taken to reduce the authorized and outstanding Class A common stock from 4,900,000 authorized and 2,425,660 shares outstanding to 404,276 2/3 shares authorized and outstanding.

At the special meeting of the stockholders of the corporation called for July 3, 1933, and adjourned to July 22, 1933, appropriate action was taken by the stockholders increasing the authorized Class A common stock to 2,800,000 shares, and authorizing and directing to be made an offering to the holders of the Class A common stock and Class B common stock of the right to subscribe to additional shares of Class A common stock at $18.90 per share, at the rate of five shares of Class A common stock for each share of Class A common stock and Class B common stock (as so changed) held by each stockholder of record at the close of business on July 25, 1933.

There are being mailed to stockholders subscription warrants evidencing their subscription rights in accordance with the resolutions of the stockholders adopted at said special meetings. The purpose of this issue is explained in the letters of the president heretofore sent to stockholders on June 21, 1933, and July 12, 1933. Additional copies of said letters will be mailed on request.

New York, July 25, 1933.

J. P. EDMONDSON,
Assistant Secretary.

PROTECTIVE COMMITTEE FOR

St. Paul and Kansas City Short Line Railroad Co.

First Mortgage Gold Bonds, Due February 1, 1941

Rock Island, Arkansas and Louisiana Railroad Co.

First Mortgage 4½% Gold Bonds, Due March 1, 1934

Guaranteed by The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company

The formation of the undersigned committee representing substantial amounts of the Bonds described above was announced on July 11th. The committee has adopted a Protective Agreement dated as of July 15, 1933, and requests that all holders of bonds of the two issues referred to above immediately deposit their bonds with one of the depositaries.

The above described Bonds are guaranteed unconditionally both as to principal and interest by The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Company which, on June 7, 1933, filed a petition under the recently enacted Section 77 of the Bankruptcy Act, stating that it was unable to meet its debts as they mature and that it desired to effect a plan of reorganization. The Railway Company failed to pay the interest due July 1, 1933, on its General Mortgage 4% Bonds. The Committee is advised that the payment of interest on the Bonds of the St. Paul and Kansas City Short Line Railroad Company referred to above, due on August 1, will be deterred.

The reasons for the formation of the Committee and for the deposit of Bonds under the protective agreement were set forth by the announcement which the Committee published on July 11 and are stated in letters which are being mailed to all bondholders whose addresses are known to the Committee.

Copies of the Protective Agreement, the Committee's letter to Bondholders and letters of transmittal to be used in depositing Bonds may be obtained from the Depositaries or the Secretary of the Committee.

The Committee urges that all holders of the Bonds described above deposit their Bonds immediately with one of the depositaries referred to below.

Certificates of Deposit will be issued to depositing bondholders. Application will be made to list such Certificates of Deposit upon the New York Stock Exchange.

CHICAGO JOINT STOCK LAND BANK PLAN SUPPORTED

Early pledges for the deposit of bonds indicated that the recently announced plan for the reorganization of the Chicago Joint Stock Land bank has met with favor among many of the bondholders, according to Paul Perry Robinson, member of Gertler, Devlet & company, which has developed the plan.

Mr. Robinson explained yesterday that his company's plan of reorganization was made with the idea of liquidating the assets of the bank over a period of time, thus obviating loss from forced liquidation now. He pointed out that improvement in the farm situation will strengthen materially the position of the bank's assets.

Bondholders who elect to participate in the plan will receive twenty year 4½ per cent bonds or notes of the new corporation of a face value equal to two-thirds of the face value of present bonds and four shares of common stock of the new corporation for each $1,000 face value of present bonds surrendered for exchange. Those who elect to withdraw will receive $400 in cash for each $1,000 face value of bonds.

FORD MOTOR TO SHIP MORE CARS BY RAIL, REDUCE 'DRIVEAWAYS'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—The first move by the leading motor car manufacturer to coördinate the shipments of its products between the highways and the railways is under consideration by the Ford Motor company, it was disclosed in industrial circles today.

While representatives of some of the Ford company's large rivals have agreed in principle with the railroads on some aspects of highway traffic, the Ford organization is the first to offer concrete aid to the railroads by diverting traffic to them from the highways.

The advantage the Ford interests expect to derive from the contemplated reform is the assurance that their products will reach the ultimate consumer in good condition and not after having incurred wear or damage as a result of having been driven by inexperienced drivers for possibly hundreds of miles from factory to retailer. In furtherance of this aim the Ford interests propose reducing the "driveaway" method of delivery to a minimum.

Convertible 4½% Gold Debentures, due 1948,
4% Gold Debentures, due 1983,
5½% Convertible Investment Certificates, due 1938.

Copies of said letters of May 15, 1933, a summary, dated June 3, 1933, of the provisions of the debentures offered and of the escrow agreement under which the exchanged securities are to be held, financial statements and other information may be obtained from the undersigned on request.

In addition to the conversion privilege into Income Debentures, due 1978, of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation conferred upon the holders of Debentures, due 1973, of that Corporation, all holders of such Debentures due 1973 delivered in exchange for securities of Associated Gas and Electric Company deposited during the calendar year 1933 will have the additional privilege of exchanging the same, at any time after January 1, 1939 and before January 1, 1944, on ten days' prior written request, for Sinking Fund Income Debentures, due 1983, of Associated Gas and Electric Company of twice the principal amount of the Debentures exchanged and of the series bearing the same initial interest rate as the interest rate of the Debentures exchanged. In view of this additional privilege, depositors under the Plan who have heretofore elected to take Debentures of other issues, will be permitted at any time on or before August 25, 1933, to elect, in lieu thereof, Debentures, due 1973, of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, upon the basis stated in the Plan, and upon surrender of their deposit receipts, or of the new Debentures, if any, previously delivered to them pursuant to the Plan. The Associated Gas and Electric Company reserves the right to extend this additional privilege of exchange to Debentures due 1973 delivered in exchange for securities of Associated Gas and Electric Company deposited during such period or periods after December 31, 1933, as it may deem advisable.

The aggregate maximum principal amount of the debentures offered, of all issues and series to be presently issued and outstanding, is limited, to the aggregate principal amount of the securities of Associated Gas and Electric Company of the issues described above, the Debentures, due 1973, of Associated Gas and Electric Corporation, for the purpose of such compensation, to be taken at twice their principal amount.

The Plan described in said letters of May 15, 1933 has been declared effective, and the offer therein made is unconditionally open to all present and future holders of the issues of securities of Associated Gas and Electric Company described above, and will continue to be open and effective for all such holders until all of such securities shall have been deposited for exchange under the Plan, subject, however, to earlier termination at any time, without notice other than written notice to the Depositaries under the Plan, with respect to any one or more or all of the three options described in the Plan.

The debentures offered are ready for delivery, in temporary bearer and registered forms, and will be delivered immediately upon the deposit of securities for exchange.

Any one not a holder of any of the outstanding securities of Associated Gas and Electric Company described above, who wishes to obtain any of the debentures offered, may do so by purchasing in the market outstanding securities of the issue or issues which are exchangeable under the Plan for the debentures desired, and depositing them for exchange under the Plan before the expiration or termination of the offer.

Compensation will be paid to security dealers for their services in connection with deposits under the Plan.

Present and future holders of outstanding securities of Associated Gas and Electric Company, of the issues described above, desiring to accept this offer must deposit their debentures with Transfer and Coupon Paying Agency, Room 2303, 61 Broadway, New York, N. Y., or The Public National Bank and Trust Company, Trust Department, 76 William Street, New York, N. Y. A form of letter of transmittal has been prepared for the convenience of holders and may be had upon application to the undersigned. Its use is not required.

U.S. STEEL EARNS MOST SINCE 1931 IN 2D QUARTER

50 Cent Dividend on Preferred Stock.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—For the first time since the final quarter of 1931, the United States Steel corporation earned an operating profit in the second quarter of this year. As the result of improvement in the steel industry, an operating profit of $4,881,554 was reported after ordinary expenses, maintenance, and taxes. This compared with an operating deficit of $3,796,473 in the first quarter of 1933 and an operating deficit of $3,362,736 in the second quarter of 1932.

MYRON C. TAYLOR.

In making public the earnings yesterday the directors also announced another quarterly dividend of 50 cents on the 7 per cent preferred stock. This makes the third payment of that amount since the dividend was reduced last January. Accumulated dividends now amount to $3.75 a share. No dividends have been paid on the common stock since March 30, 1932, when 50 cents was paid.

Final Deficit Smaller.

The operating profit for the second quarter was before depreciation, interest charges, and reserves. After these charges and the preferred dividend there was a final deficit of $10,428,772, which was charged to surplus. However, this deficit was considerably smaller than that of $18,531,676 in the first quarter and of $26,757,092 in the second quarter of 1932. The deficit for the first half of this year was $28,960,448, compared with a deficit of $46,280,560 for the corresponding period in 1932.

Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the board and the finance committee, said operating results showed continuous improvement in the second quarter. In fact, most of the operating profit was earned in June, which produced $4,165,870, whereas April had shown an operating deficit of $763,380.

Since the beginning of July the corporation's operations have shown an exceptionally large increase. For the current month, Mr. Taylor said, operations would average about 53 per cent of capacity, against 36.1 per cent in June, 25.7 per cent in May, and 20.4 per cent in April.

Analyzes Wage Increase.

"On July 1 wages were increased in the coal department of subsidiary companies," Mr. Taylor said. "On July 16 advances were made in substantially all other departments, except by transportation subsidiaries, of an average of about 16 per cent.

"The advances of July 16 are made in conformity with the schedule of rates embodied in the code submitted by the steel industry under the National Industrial Recovery act and in anticipation of its adoption for the purpose of contributing immediately to the government's effort for increased employment and compensation of labor and assist in the plan of general economic recovery.

"The advance in wage rates, effective July 16, restores the compensation of approximately 90 per cent in number of all employés to about 88 per cent of the rates paid between August, 1923, to October, 1931.

"The foregoing advances will result in an increase in total pay rolls, based on the volume of employment prevailing in July, of somewhat in excess of $2,000,000 a month. The degree of employment in July is considerably larger than prevailed in June."

Otis Steel Reduces Loss.

The Otis Steel company had a net loss of $257,253 for the June quarter, compared with a loss of $639,009 in the same period last year. For the six months ended June 30 net loss was $957,624, against a deficit of $1,340,170 for the first half of 1932.

The Republic Steel corporation reported a loss after all charges of $407,451 for the second quarter, the smallest loss since the last quarter of 1930. The current figure compares with a loss of $2,251,568 in the first quarter, $2,744,826 in the same quarter of 1932, and $1,092,304 in the second quarter of 1931.

Inland Steel company, second largest steel manufacturer in the Chicago district, managed to make a profit of $25,761 in the second quarter of 1933. This compared with a loss of $1,012,053 for the first quarter of this year and a loss of $619,982 for the second quarter of 1932.

'Doc' Crawford a Plunger Who Beat Himself

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Edward A. Crawford, who was blamed for the collapse of the grain markets last week, will go down in history as the trader who licked himself.

Here was no clash of bull against bear ending with defeat for one and victory for the other. There was no battle of the giants, no struggle; in fact, nothing but "Doc" Crawford shadow boxing with himself. Never has a plunger met his end in a stranger fashion.

All this came about not through Crawford's principal operations but through his side bets. He was in the position of a man who saws off the limb between himself and the tree.

It happened something like this, according to insiders:

Having established a tremendous "long" position in the market—that is, having acquired many millions of bushels of grain—Crawford had ridden the advance in prices to a point where he was worth, according to some estimates, something like $25,000,000.

But he did more than acquire grain and pyramid his holdings, according to well informed sources. He sold vast quantities of "bids" and "offers."

When you sell "bids" and "offers" you are in somewhat the same position as the man who bets that in a given football game one team won't make more than, say, 14 points, and that the other won't make less than 10 and who binds himself to pay $1,000 a point for each point that he is off in either direction.

The fellow who buys "bids" and "offers" is playing a "long shot," and the improbability of his winning is compensated for by the fact that he can only lose the comparatively small amount that he has passed over the counter.

The fellow who sells them, however, is protected by no such limits. He can lose plenty.

Crawford, it was said, had sold great quantities of both "bids" and "offers." There seemed to be no limit to the amount he would put out. He apparently met all comers, whether they wanted 5,000 bushels or a million.

To avoid disaster, therefore, Crawford needed a rising grain market in order to protect his holdings of grain; but he also needed a market that would not rise too rapidly, because if it did so it might get to a point where he would have to make good on the vast quantities of "offers" that he had sold. Furthermore, if the market should decline too sharply he would not only lose heavily on his grain holdings, but he would have to make good on the great quantities of "bids" that he had put out.

The worst happened.

The grain market began to rise by leaps and bounds. Suddenly prices penetrated the roof that Crawford had placed over his head and he was swamped with a deluge of demands from the individuals to whom he had sold "offers."

To protect himself he began to sell from his holdings of grain. So heavy were these sales that they enabled Crawford to accomplish his purpose which was to shove prices down to a place where his "offers" would no longer drain his resources.

But they didn't stop there. Crawford discovered that he'd started something he couldn't stop. Suddenly prices shot down to a point where the "bids" that he had sold were good. He was worse off than ever, because in addition to the loss on his grain holdings he had to make good on these side bets.

He was licked, very much like the fellow who sits in a poker game with good hands and makes a cleanup only to lose on high spades.

No inkling of the weakness of Crawford's position came to the attention of the Board of Trade because the board has no means of checking up currently on the "bids" and "offers" type of trading, which is usually frowned on and is regarded as pure gambling.

Crawford was still missing yesterday. Negotiations were reported under way whereby the accounts of one La Salle street house which is reported to have acted as broker for the New York plunger would be transferred to one of the largest international stock and grain firms in the country.

Creditors were reported still looking for the trader at his Forest Hills home and in New York City.

Crawford at 45 is described by those who know him as a "doctorish looking" man. He is short of stature, wears spectacles, and has black hair, graying at the edges.

In New Orleans, where he first went into speculative operations in a big way, he is known as "Ice Water" Crawford because of his cool, discreet and uncommunicative nature.

SALES, EARNINGS OF GEN. MOTORS MAKE BIG GAINS

Dividend for Year Is Already Covered.

New York, July 25.—General Motors corporation today reported it had earned its full year's dividend requirement in the first half of this year. At the same time the preliminary report revealed sharp increases in sales, the second quarter figures being the largest in any quarter since the corresponding one in 1931.

ALFRED P. SLOAN JR.

Net income of the corporation for the quarter ended June 30 was eight times as great as in the first quarter and nearly thirteen times as much as in the second quarter last year. The rapid increase in profits was viewed in Wall street as a major reflection of the manner in which increased public buying has improved the position of the automobile industry.

For the three months, net income after all charges and taxes amounted to $41,198,169. This was equivalent, after preferred dividend requirements, to 90 cents a share on the average number of common shares outstanding.

Half Year Net $1.01 a Share.

It compares with a net of $6,870,007, or 11 cents a share, for common in the preceding quarter, and $5,326,377, or 7 cents a share for common in the second quarter last year. As of March 1 there were 43,500,000 shares outstanding, of which 485,591 were held in the treasury.

In the first six months of 1933, net income was $48,068,176, equivalent after preferred dividends to $1.01 a share on common stock. This is more than three times the net of $15,019,404, or 24 cents a share, in the first half of last year. The present dividend on the common is $1 a year.

In all cases the income figures exclude intercompany and interdivisional transactions, and include equities in undivided profits and losses of subsidiary and affiliated companies not consolidated.

Sales Continue Rise.

Net sales of the corporation for the quarter totaled $191,954,311, compared with $120,000,163 in the first quarter of the year and $147,134,818 in the second quarter of 1932. For the six months ended on June 30 net sales were $311,954,474, compared with $296,798,534. Second quarter sales were the largest in any quarter since the corresponding one in 1931.

Cash, United States government and other marketable securities, excluding balances of $13,837,443 in closed banks, stood at $200,488,763 on June 30. This compares with $135,711,686 on March 31, $172,780,695 on Dec. 31, and $215,897,767 on June 30 last year.

Net working capital on June 30 stood at $259,499,831, still exclusive of balances in closed banks. This compares with $217,468,700 on March 31, $225,437,194 on Dec. 31, and $259,632,638 on June 30, 1932.

Sloan Tells of Sales.

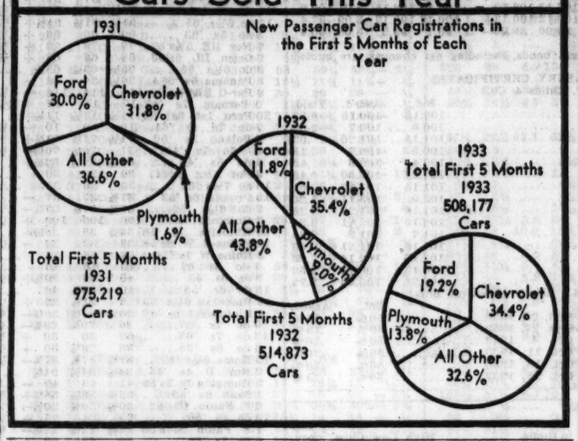

Commenting on the report, Alfred P. Sloan Jr., president, said:

"During the quarter ended June 30, 1933, General Motors' dealers in the United States delivered to consumers 259,395 cars and trucks, compared with 202,060 cars and trucks in the corresponding quarter of 1932—a gain of 57,335 units, or 28.4 per cent."

Rubber Dollar Ends Sending Cables Collect

This country's rubber dollar, with its wide contractions and expansions, is responsible for an order from the cable companies which abolishes the sending of press and government messages collect to points in the United States from abroad. The companies state that as a result of the fall of the dollar messages sent collect from abroad have represented a distinct loss to them because foreign telegraph administrations require settlements of accounts on a gold basis. The new rule, which is effective Aug. 1, applies to all inbound and outbound messages between the United States and the British Isles, the Philippines, Dutch East Indies, China, Japan, and Australasia.

Foreign restrictions on their currencies are causing some inconvenience to travelers. An example is found in a recent case of an American who just before leaving for Europe sought some German currency. He was told by bankers that German money is scarcer than hen's teeth here because Germany forbids the sending of its money out of the country.

A subcommittee of the Chicago Clearing House association is studying the possible means of participation by Chicago banks in President Roosevelt's blanket industrial recovery code. Frank R. Elliott, president of the clearing house, said yesterday that no decision had yet been made either by the clearing house or by individual banks. A number of banks, however, were reported to have laid out tentative schedules for raising all salaries above the $15 weekly minimum and establishing a 40 hour week for clerks. The cost of such changes, it was said, would be comparatively small for Chicago banks, but would probably add materially to the cost of operating small country banks. Banks here received word yesterday that the New York and Detroit clearing houses were likewise studying the recovery code.

President Arthur F. Hall of Lincoln National Life Insurance company, Fort Wayne, Ind., announced yesterday that in raising minimum wages to the $15 level asked by President Roosevelt his company would be increasing the pay checks of 20 per cent of its employés. The company will also put into effect a 40 hour week, he said.

A movement is being started by a number of the leading grain exchanges to adopt rules which will prevent foreign grains from being delivered on futures contracts. Those who are working for the proposition say it is best to take proper precautions before American grain prices get out of line, and would attract importations and not wait until an importing movement is under way, as they say this might be difficult to check were there substantial profits in such operations.

Stewart-Warner to Elect New President on Aug. 24

Election of a new president of the Stewart-Warner corporation to succeed C. B. Smith, who resigned on Monday, is scheduled to take place at the next meeting of the board of directors, Aug. 24.

N. Y. STOCK EXCHANGE MAKES HOURS 11 TO 2; TO CLOSE SATURDAY

The governing committee of the New York Stock exchange yesterday resolved that the trading hours of the exchange would be from 11 to 2 eastern daylight saving time until further notice. Furthermore, said the announcement, the exchange would not be open for trading on Saturday, July 29.

The New York Curb exchange announced it would follow the same policy as the stock exchange.

In Chicago the stock exchange and the curb exchange altered their hours in accordance with those adopted in New York. Trading in securities today will open at 10 and close at 1 Chicago time. The exchange will also probably close next Saturday, it was said.

Activity in the securities division of the Chicago Board of Trade had been fixed for the period 11 to 2. However, in view of the action taken in the east, the board of directors of the market will meet this morning and it was said to be probable that trading hours for securities would be from 10 to 1.

Trading hours for grains and provisions will be from 10:30 to 1:15 today on the Board of Trade.

At the Chicago Mercantile exchange the hours for trading today are from 9:30 to 12.

DOLLAR STEADY AT JUST UNDER 72 CENTS GOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—The dollar maintained a steadier tone in foreign exchange today, closing at 71 cents in terms of the gold franc, compared with 71 and 69 cents yesterday. Sterling and the franc moved within a narrow range and closed slightly lower. Guilders and belgas were higher, while the Swiss franc showed no net change.

The decline of sterling amounted to 1½ cents net and left the exchange at $4.66. The franc finished at 5.46 cents, ½ point lower. A 7 point rise carried the guilder to 56.25 cents and a 4 point advance lifted the belga to 19.50 cents.

Canadian dollars fell ¼ cent to 5 1-16 per cent discount. Marks and lire were unchanged and Japanese yen fell 13 points to 28.87 cents.

STOCKS' EARLY GAINS AND MORE ARE WIPED OUT

Late Selling Pushes List Downward.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 25.—For the greater part of today's abbreviated session the stock market made a good job of extending yesterday's rally, but the list late in the afternoon ran into a renewal of dribbling selling which not only wiped out earlier gains but brought net losses for most of the active issues. Losses among the volatile "wet" stocks ranged from 1 to more than 6 points, while the general list backed down from fractions to about 4 points.

With the start of the last half hour stocks were freely offered, but bulls found encouragement in the support given key issues in closing deals. In fact, there was assemblance of a rally as the final gong ended transactions.

Volume 3,540,000 Shares.

Trading volume dropped away on the recession, but expanded rapidly again until the ticker lagged five minutes around the close. Turnover was 3,540,000 shares.

Today's selling was looked upon as coming from those traders who had had the courage to buy for a turn on Saturday and were anxious to realize on the quick profits showing around the day's best levels.

The market's dullness during the selling period indicated the tendency of liquidation to dry up and suggested that little in the way of distress selling was immediately overhanging the market. The market underwent another test of its position as the selling movement reached its heaviest proportions early in the final hour, and while the list finished within striking distance of the day's lows there appeared a persistent demand on the recessions.

Roosevelt Speech Well Liked.

Overnight news contained little to influence the market strongly one way or the other. President Roosevelt's address seeking the voluntary coöperation of industry and business in the administration's recovery program was well received.

The market was quick to take up yesterday's rise at the opening and made further gains in active dealings. Leaders advanced a point and more as blocks up to 10,000 shares came into the market.

However, with the first rush of buying cared for, prices began to recede around the end of the first hour and there followed a steady settling back throughout the list. Initial advances provided attractive levels for selling by traders to take profits.

Railroads Strong.

In both stock and bonds the liking for rails was increased by the highly favorable earning statement now appearing for June and the continued gain in traffic this month.

The liquor shares were again one of the favored groups in the early buying, but were hardest hit in subsequent realizing.

Case and others of that description had a good time while wheat was jumping, but settled down later. Case closed off more than 4 points.

United States Steel made an early bid for attention, but after selling as high as 55⅛ the realizing or short selling depressed it for a net recession of ⅞. Most of the pivotals ruled lower on late selling after early strength.

Wheat Rises as Minimum Is Retained

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Minimum prices at which grain futures can be sold on the Chicago Board of Trade are to continue in effect, according to a statement made by Vice President Robert P. Boylan yesterday.

"The directors are unanimously of the opinion that there should be no change affecting present minimum prices under existing conditions," he said.

Liquidation of large lines of distressed grain incident to the recent drastic decline in prices, which carried wheat off around 30 cents and corn 20 cents per bushel, was completed yesterday, Mr. Boylan also announced.

"In all grains conditions are now equally sound and it may be definitely stated that the emergency has been corrected," he added.

July wheat closed at 91¼ cents, with September at 93⅝ to 93¾ cents; December, 97 to 97¼ cents, and May, $1.01⅛ to $1.01¼.

Grain Prices Advance.

Grain markets were on the upgrade yesterday. Reports that the distressed liquidation was practically completed were a factor in restoring public confidence. It was estimated that over 10,000,000 bushels of all grain were sold out during the day.

Wheat and rye at the extreme top showed gains of 4¼ cents over the preceding day's close, while corn moved up as much as 3⅛ cents and oats 3¾ cents. At no time did wheat and oats sell at the minimum prices prescribed under the exchange regulations. There was a marked broadening in the outside buying in all grains.

While the completion of the distressed selling caused recessions from the best figures of the day, wheat closed with net gains of 1¼ to 1¾ cents, while corn was up ⅞ to 2⅛ cents; oats, 1¼ to 3⅛ cents, and rye, 1½ to 2¾ cents. Barley dropped 5 cents and closed at the bottom.

Winnipeg Wheat Strong.

There was a marked disposition on the part of the wheat trade to pay more attention to world's supply and demand conditions yesterday and less to the technical position which prevailed in the local market.

Winnipeg developed independent strength and closed 4⅞ to 5 cents higher in Canadian funds, and at the extreme showed an advance of 14⅜ cents on the October delivery as compared with the inside figure of Saturday. Export sales of 10,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat and flour were estimated as having been made in the last four business days.

Corn futures held at the minimum prices in the early trading, liquidation of distressed lines by recent bull leaders being responsible. However, the selling was quickly absorbed and the market later developed a bouyant tone, with the July future in the lead.

Corn Prices Advance.

July corn closed at 49⅝ cents, while September was 53⅞ to 54 cents; December, 58¼ to 58⅝ cents, and May, 64⅛ to 64¼ cents.

Unfavorable threshing returns continue to be received from a wide area in oats, and the belief that supplies will be scarce later in the season was a factor in inducing persistent buying of futures. The July closed at 36½ cents, with September 37¾ to 38 cents and December 41¼ to 41⅝ cents.

December rye touched the minimum price early in the day, but rebounded quickly and the close was firm, with July at 67¾ cents; September, 69⅞ cents, and December, 75¾ cents. September barley finished at 65⅞ cents and December at 70¾ cents.

The Board of Trade yesterday suspended Roscoe Rockwood and the firm of Roscoe Rockwood & Co., Bloomington, Ill., from membership for failure to perform contracts and insolvency.

GRAIN MARKET LEADERS OFFER FOUR REFORMS

Answer to U. S. Threat of Control.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 25.—Representatives of the nation's grain exchanges today recommended four sweeping reforms in trading practices which they believe will curb excessive speculation and prevent demoralizing fluctuations in grain prices.

The proposals of the grain men, submitted to officials of the agricultural adjustment administration at the close of a two day conference, were as follows:

1. Establishment of daily price fluctuation limits of 5 cents on wheat, rye and barley; 4 cents on corn, and 3 cents on oats.
2. Restriction of the futures holdings of any one trader to a maximum volume, probably between two and five million bushels, to be determined later.
3. Permanent elimination of trading in indemnities.
4. Uniform and perhaps higher margin requirements for all exchanges, the minimum requirements to be determined later.

Answers Federal Threat.

Although Peter B. Carey, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, and other grain representatives insisted that their conferences with officials of the department had been harmonious, the recommendations submitted today were regarded as the grain trade's answer to a threat of arbitrary government control of the exchanges through imposition of a licensing system under the farm adjustment act.

Adjustment Administrator George Peek indicated yesterday that the department was prepared to license all the exchanges if they did not act at once to prevent a recurrence of such market collapses as that which occurred last week. In closing the conference today, Mr. Peek declared:

"If I have one suggestion to make, it is that you should not lose any time in getting your codes in here. You had better do this yourselves. If not, it may be done for you."

Most of Proposals in Effect.

Mr. Carey and the other exchange men pointed out that most of the recommendations submitted today have already been put into effect on the Chicago Board of Trade, following last week's market slump.

The present price fluctuation limitation of 8 cents on wheat, 5 cents on corn, and 3 cents on oats, imposed by the exchanges voluntarily last Thursday, are to be removed as soon as the exchanges approve the recommendation for permanent limitations proposed today, it was said.

Trading in indemnities has already been prohibited by the Chicago board of trade, according to Mr. Carey, who held the practice largely responsible for last week's drop in prices.

Aiming also at such speculative practices as those employed by E. A. Crawford, the grain exchange heads recommended the exchange of confidential reports between all commodity and security exchanges as to the position of heavy traders.

The exchange of reports between the security and commodity markets will enable officials of the trading centers to keep an eye on the position of heavy speculators, it is believed, and will prevent the spreading of speculative practices to too many fields.

New York, July 25.—With trading still on a limited scale, railroad bonds continued to be the feature in bond market trading on the New York Stock exchange. Most issues in this group continued to advance. Foreign obligations were steady, at high levels, in United States obligations were quiet with prices little changed.

In the foreign government group, United Kingdom of Great Britain & Ireland 5½s were active and slightly higher. Canadian issues were irregular, while New South Wales issues were higher along with Scandanavian governmental obligations. German government 5½s were slightly lower, along with several other German issues. All obligations of the Argentine republic were very weak in quiet trading.

Rail Group Advances.

Among the advances in the railroad group were those in issues of New York Central, Nickel Plate, Rock Island, Baltimore & Ohio, Chicago Milwaukee St. Paul & Pacific, Western Pacific, Chesapeake corporation and Chesapeake & Ohio. Chicago & Northwestern issues were active but irregular with the convertible 4¾s off 1 point.

Public utility issues were all somewhat higher on the day. This group included American Telephone, International Telephone, Brooklyn Union Gas, Detroit Edison, Philadelphia Electric, Third Avenue Railway and Postal Telegraph. Trading was quiet in interborough issues, which were irregular.

Industrials Easier.

Most of the active issues in the general industrial group were easier, although McKesson & Robbins obligations were higher. Among those which declined were the obligations of National Dairy Products, Paramount Publix and Warner Brothers pictures.

Trading was somewhat heavier over the list, with the turnover totaling $11,948,000 against $10,892,000 on the preceding day.

NEW ISSUE.

Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., are offering a 4 per cent issue of $300,000 City of St. Paul, Minn., 4 per cent bonds due serially July 1, 1934-'43 inclusive.

Sparks-Withington.

Investors' Guide: I would very much appreciate your opinion on common stock of Sparks-Withington.—B. P. T.

Answer: Sparks-Withington company is a leading manufacturer of automobile horns and other accessories. In 1925 it entered the radio field, and revenues from sale of "Sparton" receiving sets soon overshadowed receipts from the automobile accessory line. In 1932 the company began the manufacture of electrical refrigerators.

On May 18, 1933, a press dispatch stated that production of automobile horns was running at a rate 20 per cent in excess of the year before.

Loss for the 6 months to Dec. 31, 1932, was $201,000, against loss of $473,000 for the corresponding 1931 period.

Reflecting the ebb of business activity at the time, net sales for the year ended June 30, 1932, dropped to $3,865,000 from $7,354,000 for the preceding year. Net loss was $1,931,000, against net income of $126,000, or 12 cents per common share, for the year ended June 30, 1931. Net income for the 1930 year was $1,739,000.

On Dec. 31, 1932, cash and marketable securities alone of $300,000 compared with current liabilities of $179,000. Total current assets were $2,211,000.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists of 3,637 shares of preferred and 900,674 shares of no par common. Nothing has been paid on the preferred since Dec. 15, 1932.

Both the preferred and common are speculative.

Roan Antelope Copper Mines.

Investors' Guide: I would like to know something about Roan Antelope, listed on the New York curb. Is this a leather stock?—S. L.

Answer: Roan Antelope Copper Mines, Ltd., is an English company formed in 1927 to work copper properties in South Africa. The American depositary receipts represent four shares of ordinary (common) stock of the company.

Actual mining operations commenced June 1, 1931.

Net profit, before depreciation and taxes, for the nine months to March 31, 1933, was £114,769. Loss for the 10 months to June 30, 1932, amounted to £30,760.

On June 30, 1932, current assets totaled £658,787 and current liabilities were £304,661.

Funded debt aggregated £1,403,308.

Nothing has been paid on the ordinary shares to date. Earnings are dependent on world price for copper and tariff barriers and, for the American depositary receipts, on the rate of exchange between the British pound and the American dollar.

The American depositary receipts are quite speculative at present.

LARD PRICES MOVE UP TO 75 CENT LIMIT

Lard traders acted independently of grains, cotton and hogs yesterday. They absorbed the offerings and advanced prices 75 cents, which gain was held at the close. Selling pressure was less active and the market had a better tone. Cash lots were up 75 cents on regular to $6.55, with loose and leaf $5.75. Bellies were picked up readily at 10 to 25 cents advance, with cash lots at $7.50.

WOOL MARKETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOSTON, Mass., July 25.—Business in the wool market was less active on the whole today, though not slow enough to be called quiet. Some medium grades of wool were sufficiently scarce to limit offerings. Such lots were firmly held.

The following quotations are on grease basis for Ohio and similar wool [cents]:

CUTTEN PRAISES MINIMUM PRICE PLAN FOR GRAIN

"Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade have taken a wise stand in adopting minimum and maximum prices for grain," says Arthur W. Cutten. "With minimum prices, the public will know what to expect in the way of market fluctuations and there should be relatively little trouble in keeping the markets in more liquid condition. We have short crops of wheat and in the northwest there is the smallest spring wheat production in many years."

Mr. Cutten referred to Nat C. Murray's estimate of 417,000,000 bushels, or a deficit of 272,000,000 bushels in states east of the Mississippi river. In the central states, from the Mississippi to the Rocky Mountains, production is 215,000,000 bushels, compared with 171,000,000 last year, or a surplus of only 141,000,000 bushels in states that are normally the largest producers.

Corn and other feed crops are the smallest in years and right now corn is in its critical period.

MINIMUM PRICES ON BARLEY ARE FIXED BY BOARD OF TRADE

Minimum prices at which sales of barley for future delivery can be made on the Chicago Board of Trade were established by the board of directors at their meeting yesterday. Effective tomorrow and until further notice, no sales of the July delivery can be made below 58 cents per bushel, while the minimum level for the September option was set at 60 cents, and for December delivery 65 cents.

Owing to the advance yesterday in all grain futures except barley, a maximum price range of nearly 10 cents per bushel will be permitted in wheat today, while corn may have a range of 5¾ to 8⅝ cents and oats 6½ to 8 cents. There was no change in the minimum prices on wheat, corn, oats, rye, and provisions. Limits on price fluctuations for today were established as follow:

DONNE APPOINTS THREE MORE AIDS FOR HOME LOAN

All Offices to Be Open Between Aug. 1 and 10.

BY AL CHASE.

At an all day meeting of William G. Donne, Illinois state manager of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, with six of the seven branch managers throughout the state, held at the Hotel Sherman yesterday, several more appointments were announced.

Carl J. Werner, mortgage dealer and real estate broker, of Champaign, was made manager of the office in that city. Lucien Field of Galesburg was made district attorney for the Moline office. Oliver Alden of Anna will be the district appraiser for the Harrisburg office.

Offices to Open Aug. 1 to 10.

Mr. Donne at the close of the Sherman session announced that all state offices will be functioning between Aug. 1 and 10. The Chicago office, he said, might possibly get under way by the latter part of this week.

It is now understood that the local office of the Home Owners' Loan corporation will not be in the Federal Reserve Bank building, at La Salle and Jackson, as was first contemplated. It was hoped by Mr. Donne to get rent free quarters in that structure. This was not possible, and paid offices somewhere on La Salle street will be obtained and their location announced in a day or two.

No Fees for Filing Aid.

Mr. Donne again called attention yesterday to the warning he made several days ago. He cautioned all prospective seekers for federal aid not to pay any fees of any sort to firms or individuals who offer to assist in negotiations for a small compensation. He stated that any one who charges for making or filing an application for a loan will at once be prosecuted by the federal government.

He also repeated the statement printed in THE TRIBUNE of July 20 that distress cases will receive first attention: "First come, first served" will not be the rule, he said.

LATE SELLING BRINGS DIP IN COTTON PRICES

Cotton traders attributed the strength during the early trading Tuesday to general buying, while the break in the afternoon was on profit taking. At the close prices were 11 to 19 points net lower on futures at Chicago, with the day's range between the high and the low, 41 points. The close was at intermediate figures, with New York only 3 to 15 points lower, with a loss of 5 points on spots to 11.50 cents; New Orleans, 6 to 22 points on futures, with spots off 10 points to 10.45 cents; Galveston was 10.30 cents, and Houston 10.35 cents. Liverpool closed 5 to 6 points net higher. Strength in the grain and stock markets had a good influence at times, but there was a sell-off toward the last. Prices follow:

SALE OF AUTOS IN MIDDLE WEST GAINS IN JUNE

Cars Distributed 102.5% Over Last Year.

The distribution of automobiles in the middle west, both at wholesale and retail, showed continued improvement during June, according to the monthly business conditions report of the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago.

The report also indicated gains during June in operations and shipments of furniture manufacturing firms of the district, though a slight recession occurred in new orders.

Cars Distributed Up 102 Per Cent.

The number of new cars distributed at wholesale in June increased 20.4 per cent over the number in May, 1933, and 102.5 per cent over that in June, 1932. Their dollar value increased 26.1 per cent and 52.7 per cent respectively. In the first half of 1933 the number of new cars distributed at wholesale rose 9.6 per cent, and the value 15.9 per cent, over the same date in the like period of 1932.

The proportions were somewhat less but still substantial, for new cars sold at retail. Their number increased in June 18.0 per cent over that in May, 1933, and 34.4 per cent over that in June, 1932. Advances of 6.1 per cent and 19.7 per cent were recorded for value of new cars sold at retail. In the first half of 1933 the number rose 3.5 per cent, but the value declined 9.5 per cent as a result of the lower price ranges this year.

Dealers' Stocks Low.

Stocks of new cars, which decreased a little in June following two months of slight expansion, have averaged much lower throughout the first six months of 1933 than of 1932.

The number of used cars sold also expanded over that in May and in June, 1932.

Shipments of furniture manufacturing firms in the seventh district were 4 per cent heavier during June than in May, but new orders receded 5 per cent from the volume in May. Gains in the year-to-year comparison were 115 per cent in new orders and 84 per cent in shipments. Operations averaged about 39 per cent of capacity, compared with 38 per cent in May and 34 per cent in June, 1932.

NORTH WESTERN ASKS R. F. C. LOAN FOR REFINANCING

Seeks Funds for Underlying Bond Issue.

The Chicago and North Western railway is seeking a loan of $3,862,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to assist in the refinancing of an underlying bond maturity. The road yesterday asked the interstate commerce commission for approval of the loan from the R. F. C. Granting of the loan will bring R. F. C. advances to the road to $35,000,000.

In the meantime earnings of the road continue to improve coincident with a sharp increase in car loadings. For June the road had a net operating income of more than $1,000,000—the largest since October, 1932. This figure compares with an operating deficit of $173,234 in June, 1932, and with an operating income of $173,424 in May, 1933.

Nearly Covers Fixed Charges.

After adding nonoperating income the road came close to covering its bond interest and other fixed charges in June. The road has trimmed its deficit for the first half of 1932 to about $7,500,000.

Gross income for June ran close to $7,000,000, it was reported yesterday, compared with $6,154,535 in May and $5,853,137 in June, 1932.

The Soo Line System yesterday reported a deficit of $329,006, compared with a deficit of $769,827 in June, 1932. Net railway revenues for the month totaled $640,195, compared with $153,964 in June, 1932. For the first six months of 1932 the system showed a deficit of $4,578,383, compared with a deficit of $5,309,566 in the like period in 1932. Net railway revenues for the first six months of 1933 totaled $991,065, compared with $191,555 in the like period of 1932.

A net operating income of $684,823 was reported by the Lehigh Valley for June, compared with a deficit of $10,293 in June, 1932.

Car Loadings on Rise.

Car loadings continued to hold steady, giving promise of further strengthening in the earning position of the roads later.

The Illinois Central's loadings for the week ended July 22 totaled 26,870 cars, compared with 26,412 in the preceding week and with 22,364 cars in the same week of 1932.

Rock Island loadings for the week totaled 23,017 cars, compared with 21,860 a year ago.

The Wabash reported loadings for the week of 13,103 cars, compared with 13,123 cars in the preceding week and with 11,355 cars in the like week of 1932. The Pere Marquette handled 4,906 cars last week, compared with 4,629 cars in the preceding week and with 3,522 cars in the parallel week of 1932.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet today and in absence of business prices were unchanged with spots quoted at 3.50c. Refiners would have paid this price for sugar in position to suit, but holders were asking 3.55c. There were several up and down movements in futures but in none did the market vary more than 3 points. Final prices were net unchanged to 2 points lower. Sales were 22,050 tons. Covering checked an early setback and the market rallied in the late forenoon but eased near the close in sympathy with stocks. Final prices were at or within a point of the lowest. Prices follow:

COTTON.

NEW YORK, July 25.—(AP)—Cotton goods were firm today with trading light and offerings from second hands irregular. Yarns were firm with few new sales being made. The wool goods trade is awaiting the result of the code hearing before proceeding with business. Silks are firm but in moderate call. Burlaps are steady with shipments full and new business light. Rayon production is being curtailed under the code and deliveries active. New business is quiet. While the general primary market trend in prices is upward buyers are not ready to pay advances freely.

ANOTHER GREAT STORE

now opening in the "LOOP, the third during the "DEPRESSION" to be added to our already huge institution. We have an opening for a few men who fit the requirements of a direct personal contact plan, with our prospective customers. It is this plan that has made possible our remarkable expansion, under otherwise trying conditions. Sales ability rather than a knowledge of our line is essential. Satisfactory financial arrangement on a drawing account basis to those who qualify. $30 per week or more according to ability. Apply from 10 to 12 a. m. only.

STRAUS & SCHRAM,

Wabash-av. and Monroe [115 S. Wabash]. Mr. Jacobs. Mr. Zuber.

A FAIR QUESTION

in the minds of many men is, HOW and WHERE can money be earned NOW?

The most reasonable answer is—WHERE other men are earning money NOW.

A remarkably simple but absolutely effective sales plan provides an opportunity TODAY unlike any that has existed during the past three years—Salesmen earning from $150 to $250 per month. Best expresses the possibilities for a man with direct sales ability.

Immediate employment will be given to men selected. Call at addresses given below: 9:30 to 11:30 A. M.

3636 Lincoln-av. Mr. Backstrom.
